Daniels to Enlarge the Fleet.

Will Draw Upon the Atlantic Squadrons for the First Supply.

Order Will Be Issued on the Completion of Panama Canal.

Calls Development of the Coast America's Greatest Problem.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "A considerable portion of the Atlantic fleet will be transferred to the Pacific Coast for permanent duty following close upon the heels of the opening of the Panama Canal."

This important information was given out by Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, during his twenty-minute stop in Portland yesterday, en route from Seattle to Los Angeles.

DANIELS QUOTED.

In conversation with representatives of the Commercial Club, naval attaches and local and Federal appointees at the Union depot, Secretary Daniels said:

"Following the opening of the Panama Canal it is my intention to accompany the Atlantic fleet through the canal. We are planning at present to leave a considerable portion of the fleet in Pacific waters for permanent duty. Plans to this effect are being made because we consider the Pacific Coast the great frontier of America, and the development of the Coast is one of the most important factors confronting the nation today.

"Facing the Pacific Coast is the Orient, with its millions of people and wonderful trade possibilities. There is more population facing the Pacific Coast than any other boundary of this nation. The importance of the Pacific Coast has long been underestimated."

THE ARRIVAL IN PORTLAND.

Accompanied by Mrs. Daniels and his aide, Lieutenant-Commander L. C. Fuller, Mr. Daniels, who is virtually commander-in-chief of the navy during this administration, arrived in Portland aboard the Shasta limited yesterday afternoon at 5:30 and departed for Los Angeles at 5:50.

During the Secretary's short stay arrangements were made with Lieutenant-Commander Fuller for the Secretary's entertainment a week from today, when he will return to Portland for a seven-hour visit. He will arrive from California next Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and leave for the Yellowstone Park via Spokane at 9 p.m. While in the city he will be the guest of the Commercial Club. It is probable that the dinner will be marked by launching a movement for a greater recognition of Portland as a naval base.

AS TO SEATTLE.

Secretary Daniels was emphatic in his denial that there was anything in his speech on the "American Flag," before the Rainier Club in Seattle Thursday night, which could be construed as having caused the riots of the following night, when United States sailors, aided by citizens, sacked the headquarters of the I.W.W. and Socialists and burned their furnishings and literature in the streets. He said he had made no references to any individual or Socialist, but had declared that the American flag stands for law and order and that there is room for only one flag in this country.

"I said it was the only flag we should have in our land and said that if an engineer saw a red flag ahead he would know it meant danger and that it was time to apply the brakes," stated the Secretary.

Regarding what action will be taken in connection with the sailors who participated in the rioting, Daniels was silent.

"I have had no report from the admiral of the fleet," said he.

In light of his declaration that the Pacific fleet is to be greatly augmented when the canal is opened, it is confidently predicted that the government either will establish additional yards or greatly enlarge those already existing. In this connection it is pointed out that the Columbia Basin is considered by naval authorities as one of the most important positions strategically, owing to the fact that the mouth of the Columbia is the gateway to the interior and the only one on the Coast not guarded by mountain ranges. For this and other reasons, it is said Portland will push her claims for greater recognition by the Navy Department.

Fathers of Prospective Bride and Groom Post Forfeits for Their Future Behavior.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROCHESTER (Minn.) July 21.—That the son will make a model husband and the daughter a faithful and obedient wife are the pledges of the fathers of Cassian Bart, aged 20, and Elizabeth Blodi, 17, members of well-known families living near here, who are soon to be wedded.

A bond was signed today by each father, the elder Bart promising that his son will not loaf, gamble, drink, play pool or dance with young women other than his wife, his pledge being a $700 farm. The father of the bride-elect deposited a cash bond of $700 that his daughter will make a model wife, will not gossip, run around with other men, and will cook to her husband's satisfaction.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Speaker Champ Clark who went to Wildwood, N. J., for the week-end following the recess of the House until Tuesday believes in staying upon terra firma at least he kept Mrs. Clark on the ground when the wife of the Speaker became fascinated with the thought of a flight in the flying boat of Marshall Earl Reid.

Speaker and Mrs. Clark, in company with a party of friends, went to Holly Beach Yacht Club yesterday to inspect the flying boat. Several members of the party took a flight with the aviator. "I'm going up, too," said Mrs. Clark, captivated by the graceful flight of the machine. "It's the most wonderful thing I ever saw. I'll take the next trip."

"No, you won't, sit down, I don't want you to go," said the Speaker who admires aviation as a science, but not for family use.

Mrs. Clark sat down much disappointed. The Speaker is understood finally to have convinced Mrs. Clark that the earth is a fine thing to stay upon.

MILLIONAIRE GATES ARRIVES AND STARTS FOR GOTHAM.

Comes in Private Car With His Wife and Toy Dog and After Display of Liberality Promises His Wife He Will Return in Three Weeks.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles G. Gates, the breezy young multi-millionaire and principal heir of the late "Bet-a-Million" John W. Gates, was in Portland over night and left today a number of souvenirs of his widely-heralded generosity behind him. He pulled in with Mrs. Gates, and their toy dog in a private Pullman drawing-room car from Vancouver, B. C.

He mixed freely with the help around the hotel, left a bunch of coin, slathering the tips with both hands without letting one know what the other was doing. He changed a wad of greenbacks into gold pieces so it would be easier to pass them around.

The best auto in the hotel was his. He made special arrangements for private quarters for the $5000 Boston terrier and the only complaint he had to offer was that he felt the dog showered more of its canine attentions upon Mrs. Gates than it did upon him.

Gates, apparently had not just made up his mind how far he was going when he got up to take the North Bank Limited, but he played safe by buying a ticket clear through to New York.

"But, my dear, we're not going to New York this time," protested his wife.

"Oh, yes, honey, just this once, and then we'll come back."

They talked it over and Mrs. Gates exacted a promise that Charles would return to Portland in three weeks.

CONGRESSMAN KNOWLAND ASKS PERTINENT QUESTION.

Declares British Law Is More Rigid Than that of California, Yet Island Empire Has Raised No Protest at Discrimination of Her English Ally.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Although Japan has made a grave international controversy out of the California alien land legislation, Representative Joseph B. Knowland of California today said that certain States and Territories of the Australian commonwealth far more directly discriminate against Japanese.

This prompts Californians to inquire why Japan is sharply objecting to alien land legislation in the United States and accepting it from a portion of the British Empire, her ally.

Mr. Knowland today gave the benefit of his research in the statutes of the various Australian States. He stated that in Queensland an alien cannot obtain free hold land unless he can write from dictation words from such language as the Minister of Lands may select. This test is said to be never applied to Europeans; moreover, it may be applied any time within three years after the application of the alien for the right to own lands. The law also provides that an alien in order to own land must become a naturalized subject of the commonwealth within three years. The naturalization laws forbid the naturalization of natives of Asia. Japan and China therefore are debarred from ownership of land in Queensland on the score of ineligibility to citizenship, which is precisely where the line is drawn in California.

Mr. Knowland also explained that in South Australia Asiatics are disqualified from holding land in the irrigation areas. In the northern territory the crown land law of 1899 forbids any Asiatics to acquire the fee simple of any land, while another act of 1903 forbids the granting of mining leases to an Asiatic.

BLOCK GERMAN INTRIGUES IN CENTRAL AMERICA.

Washington Has But One Interpretation of Bryan's Plan for Protectorate.

Borah Fears that the Logical Outcome of Move Will Be to Plant the American Flag All Along the Way from El Paso to the Panama Canal, but Few Senators Found Who Oppose Solution of Secretary of State.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Construction of a canal across Nicaragua as a rival to the Panama waterway by German interests backed by the German government, was the development responsible for the action of Secretary Bryan in arranging to establish a protectorate over the Central American republic.

This news has been guarded carefully in official circles in Washington and may be denied. Nevertheless it is regarded as authentic and was a prime factor in inducing the Wilson administration to embark upon an epoch-making policy in this hemisphere.

This development is regarded here as transcending in importance information received by President Wilson from "authentic sources" in Mexico that the Huerta government is tottering to its downfall.

Anticipating the ousting of Huerta, an intimation was made from the White House today that the President would not be averse to hearing more from the revolutionists comprising the Constitutionalist party under the leadership of Gen. Carranza, as to what they propose to do in the event of success in occupying the Mexican capital.

International experts say, in view of the Bryan policy, that Mexico has become of secondary importance, for if Huerta is overthrown, the chances are his successor will experience the same trouble he is now having. The new government of Mexico, realizing what has happened in Nicaragua, might well request the application of the Bryan plan to its territory.

THE DOOR OPENED.

In other words, the door has been opened to the establishment of the suzerainty of the United States over the entire stretch of territory between the Rio Grande and the southernmost boundary of the republic of Panama.

In fact, the definite statement was made at the White House today that it is hoped that in the not distant future relations with all Central American republics will be placed on the same basis as is now the case with Cuba. Such relations will not be forced upon them, but a suggestion from them will be adopted promptly.

GERMAN RIVALRY.

The details of the plan to build a rival waterway to the Panama canal by German interests are guarded carefully in official circles.

Manifestly, the construction and operation of another interoceanic canal by the foreign interests, shielding the power back of them, is of serious concern to the American people. The Panama Canal was built primarily for strategic purposes. That is to say, it was intended to double the effectiveness of the fighting fleet of the United States through the rapidity with which the vessels could pass from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean and vice versa.

This waterway could not be utilized against us by the men of war of a power with which we were at war unless the American fleet were driven from the seas.

It is said to have been the intention, or at least the suspicion prevails, to make the Nicaraguan waterway available for the men of war of other nations in time of peace and war, just as the Suez Canal is open for such traffic.

In addition the Nicaraguan waterway would be commercially of greater value than the Panama route because of the steamship distance that would be saved.

These various considerations forced the United States to negotiate the original treaty with Nicaragua under which we obtained the right to build the Nicaraguan waterway.

In order that no other power might have anything whatever to say in Nic-

BRYAN'S NICARAGUA POLICY FINDING STRONG SUPPORT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Strong support has developed in the Senate for President Wilson's policy of protection and supervision over Nicaragua. An informal poll of the Committee on Foreign Relations today indicated that the treaty proposition Saturday by Secretary Bryan will be indorsed with a safe margin of votes and come into the Senate with the backing of influential members of both political parties.

It became known definitely today that the proposal does not bind the United States to any obligation for the outstanding debts of Nicaragua. The rehabilitation of the republic's finances is expected to come about through the stability that would be given to future operations through the control to be exercised by the United States.

Nicaragua would agree to make no debts in excess of her current resources, however, and the United States would be given the right to intervene with troops at any time to insure Nicaragua independence or to protect life and property. Nicaragua would agree to make no foreign treaties that would threaten her independence and the United States would pay Nicaragua $3,000,000 for an exclusive right to build a canal route and for a naval base in the Bay of Fonseca.

"The proposed control by the United States over the financial operation of Nicaragua is virtually an enforcement of the Monroe doctrine in advance," said one member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today. Senators Hitchcock, Sutherland, Mark Smith, O'Gorman and Stone expressed approval of the general principles of the proposal.

Chairman Bacon of the Foreign Relations Committee, who was strongly opposed to the original Nicaraguan treaty, said he believed the new proposal by Secretary Bryan greatly changed the situation and entitled the treaty "to most careful consideration."

The proposed treaty will be attacked in some quarters on the ground it would put a moral obligation on the United States to see that Nicaragua refunds and repays her old debts, even though the treaty does not make this country directly responsible for them.

Whatever the actual result may be, the underlying purpose of the administration in framing the agreement with Nicaragua was to secure the concession for a canal route and the extension of the Platt amendment was merely an incident in the minds of the negotiators.

This was developed in the course of a conversation between the President and the White House correspondents today. In the American view, the scope of the plan was not intended to be laid down as a general policy for all Central America, but the affairs of the little republics are to be dealt with separately as they may require attention.

The attitude of the administration, it was said, "is one of extreme friend-

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, July 21.—Atty.-Gen. Webb in an opinion furnished Secretary of State Jordan interpreting the initiative and referendum clause of the State Constitution, asserts that midnight August 9 is the day for filing referendum petitions in the Secretary of State's office, despite a rumor that forty days additional time is provided in the Constitution for the filing of supplemental petitions.

Webb points out the following sentence of the Constitution in support of his contention:

"Upon the presentation to the Secretary of State, within ninety days after the final adjournment of the Legislature of a petition certified as herein provided . . . the Secretary of State shall submit to the electors for their approval or rejection such act."

The Attorney-General's office admits that the entire section of the Constitution dealing with the referendum is rather vague and befogged, but contends that its intent is clear.

With reference to the forty days additional time Asst. Atty.-Gen. Glenn said:

"It is apparent that when the law becomes operative, ninety days after the adjournment of the Legislature, it is necessary to have the referendum petition filed before that time. The principle of the referendum is to hold up the operation of a law and it does not seem logical interpretation to admit that it may become effective for a certain length of time and then be made ineffective by the filing of a referendum petition."

Glenn also says that the clause which provides that the petitions must be filed with County Clerks twenty days previous to the last date they can be filed with the Secretary of State does not imply that they cannot be filed later if the County Clerk or registrar so elects.

"It's merely a protective provision for the County Clerks," says Glenn. "If a clerk thinks it will take twenty days to verify a petition he can insist it be filed so that he can have that much time. There is nothing in the Constitution, however, which prevents him from accepting a petition two days before it must be filed in the Secretary of State's office in verified form."

"Lobby—Gow."

POOR MULHALL GETS TWISTED.

Says One Thing, Denies It, Then Changes His Mind.

Senators Hardly Know Which End of It to Believe.

Two of Them, However, Are Sure He Is Guessing.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Two Senators, Nelson and Clapp, of Minnesota, took the stand tonight before the committee of their colleagues investigating the "lobby" and denied the truth of statements made by Martin M. Mulhall.

In letters read into the record today, Mulhall told of conversations with Senator Nelson—a member of the Lobby Committee—in relation to the rejection early in 1909 of a bill amending the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, by a Senate subcommittee on which Mr. Nelson was chairman. Mulhall wrote to F. C. Schwedtman, secretary to James W. Van Cleave, president of the National Manufacturers' Association, that he had seen Senator Nelson and that the Senator had told him what transpired in his subcommittee. He swore on direct examination by Senator Cummins that Mr. Nelson had suggested that the association send a copy of the subcommittee's adverse report on the bill to the President, "Mr. Roosevelt." In one letter Mulhall spoke of being introduced to Senator Clapp by Mr. Nelson and of talking with both men about a recent decision under the Sherman act.

Questioned closely by Senator Cummins Mulhall first swore he had been told by Mr. Nelson what had occurred in the committee-room, even to how its members voted on the proposed amendment; pursued further, he agreed that possibly he had not received such information and then switched again and declared that if he had reported that he had received such information it must be correct.

NELSON'S STATEMENT.

"I have no recollection of seeing Mr. Mulhall or talking to him about this bill and I certainly would not have talked to him about what transpired before the Judiciary Committee," said Senator Nelson tonight. "It is possible that he may have stepped inside of my office and gotten them from my clerk. Mr. Hicks, my clerk, says that he cannot recollect ever having seen Mulhall in our room. So far as the report is concerned, you all know that Mr. Mulhall could get these reports from the document-room. I have no recollection of ever meeting Mr. Mulhall or talking to him on these subjects or anything else. Ever since Mr. Mulhall appeared here before the committee I have been racking my brain to think or recall if I ever saw him or had a talk with him. There is a possibility that I may be mistaken. I understand that Mr. Mulhall had a mustache then and perhaps that may account for the fact that I do not recognise him now."

CLAPP'S DENIAL.

"I have not the slightest recollection of ever seeing Mulhall and certainly I have no recollection that Senator Nelson introduced me to him in his room," swore Senator Clapp. "It is very clear in my mind that if I had I would have recollected it."

HOW IT AROSE.

The Nelson matter came up when Senator Reed introduced a letter dated January 29, 1909, from Mulhall to Schwedtman. "I sent in my card to Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota, who made the adverse report as chairman, to the Senate upon the amendment of the Sherman law," read the letter. "The Senator came out and took me to his room and gave me a complete statement of what took place in the Judiciary Committee before they made their adverse report."

Senator Nelson was not in the room at the time and Senator Cummins declared that he had been requested to ask that all letters bearing Mr. Nelson's name be read at once. Two letters were put in the record, one referring to the same bill, the other to an anti-injunction bill which did not figure in the later testimony.

Upon direct examination Mulhall said he became acquainted with Senator Nelson at the time he wrote the first letter.

"I was sent there by Mr. Emery, the chief lobbyist for the association," he said.

"Senator's Nelson's report on this bill was made three days before your call; you do not mean to say that you influenced him?" asked Senator Cummins.

"No, sir, not at all."

MULHALL HARD-PRESSED.

Senator Cummins pressed the witness as to the statement that Senator Nelson had given him information about what occurred before the bill was reported adversely. Mulhall was certain that he had secured such information, then "was not clear on that," and later showed signs of anger.

"You don't expect me to remember details of conversations which occurred so long ago?" he asked.

"I would be very much surprised if you did," said Senator Cummins, dryly.

Senator Nelson reviewed the history of efforts to amend the Sherman act and said that he always had opposed such a proposal, believing that it was desired by the great interests and the trusts. He told of President Roosevelt's message urging an amendment to this act, and said that his report had been prepared with an idea of forestalling an administration bill on the subject. He told of his opposition in 1910 to the bill from the "Department of Justice" amending the Hepburn act, which, he said, in its original form would have relieved railroads of the penalties of the anti-trust act.

HARLAN QUOTED.

The Senator quoted from the opinion of the late Justice Harlan of the Supreme Court in the Standard Oil case, showing that he had referred to the Nelson report on the proposed Sherman law amendment.

Aside from Senator Nelson, Mulhall's letters dealt today largely with what the National Association of Manufacturers was going to do for former Congressman James E. Watson of Indiana, toward getting him a place in President Taft's Cabinet and of how the association began work for a tariff commission. According to the letters, Mulhall, Schwedtman and eventually President Van Cleave and others high in the councils of the association wanted Watson in the post of Secretary of Commerce and Labor, after he had been defeated for Governor of Indiana. In one letter Mulhall wrote: "If Mr. Watson is selected for the appointment of Secretary of Commerce and Labor he will be much more powerful in the Cabinet of President Taft than he would be as Governor of the great State of Indiana."

ANOTHER LETTER.

In another letter he said:

"If he (Mr. Watson) was Secretary of Commerce and Labor it would be to upbuild our splendid organization and would give us the greatest ratin gthroughout the country that any manufacturer has ever had in the history of the nation."

On January 25, 1909, D. M. Parry, one-time president of the association, wrote to Mr. Mulhall.

"I personally would feel just as safe with Mr. Watson in that job (Secretary of Commerce and Labor) as for Mr. Van Cleave or myself to have the chair."

The letter showed that Mulhall thought at least that Vice-President Sherman, Speaker Cannon and many prominent Republicans were interested in Watson and that while at first he had regarded the Cabinet job as one which the President should be allowed to fill as he pleased, Watson eventually had become a more or less open candidate. Mr. Sherman was quoted by Mulhall as being particularly desirous of helping Watson and promised to use all his influence with Mr. Taft to get the job. Senator Knox, who became Secretary of State under Taft, was to be talked to about Watson by manufacturers and they were to make every effort to urge the appointment through committees and through members of the Senate and House.

All through the day the letters told of the interest of Mulhall in a tariff commission. He swore that he was instructed to find out the views of every member of the House and most Senators on this matter and letters were read giving the standing of scores of men. He finally mixed Watson up with the commission.

"I believe that Mr. Watson was employed by the committee of 100 of the Tariff Commission when it was created," he swore, "and paid a certain amount of money per week for his services while he was here in Washington for that committee.

"I know that at a meeting here this arrangement was made, they set a price on Mr. Watson of $500, for a retainer. Mr. Emery set that price by appealing to Mr. Kirby and the rest and $250 a week for Mr. Watson while he was here engaged in that work and $10,000 if he got the bill through at the end of the campaign."

"Mr. Watson at that time was not a member?" asked Mr. Reed.

"Yes, he was a member of Congress."

Seventeen-Year-Old Wagon Driver Confesses He Stole Twenty-two Thousand Dollars.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LAKE CHARLES (La.) July 21.—Herschel Pierce, a 17-year-old express wagon driver, confessed today that he stole $22,000 in currency from a Wells-Fargo chest in a railroad station here last November, according to the police. His arrest followed the apprehension of his uncle, A. E. Amy, on Saturday.

The police said Pierce told them he had no assistance in planning or executing the robbery and that voluntarily he divided the currency with his uncle. It was Amy's lavish spending that first directed suspicion to him. Pierce appeared to have spent almost nothing of his share.

He led the officers today to a cache of $7000, and $5000 was found in Amy's garage at Eunice, La.

Enormous Sum Is Still Needed to Carry Out Provisions of the Land Purchase Act.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, July 21.—Three hundred million dollars in addition to the $625,000,000 already expended was the estimate given today by Augustine Birrell, Chief Secretary of Ireland, of the sum necessary to complete the operation of land purchase in Ireland in accordance with the provisions of the land purchase acts of 1903 and 1909. These acts make it compulsory for a landlord to permit tenant to purchase the land he cultivates.

Of the $300,000,000 Mr. Birrell said it would be necessary to borrow only $120,000,000 through the public issue of land stocks. The rest will be financed by the national debt commissioners under a new bill which will give compulsory powers to the government to make the vendors receive half the purchase price in 3 per cent. stock.

is to let well enough alone. The mental attitude that impels men to move in the path of the least resistance is responsible for the majority of the world's failures.

Strength comes not from floating with the tide, but from buffeting the billows; and progress and prosperity are the result of constantly striving to improve existing conditions.

If you are drifting into a rut, don't delay but read Times "Liners" now. These little ads awaken interest, arouse ambition and point the way to success.

They put you in touch with people who have what you want, and want what you have, and at small cost and practically no trouble, they enable you to buy, sell and exchange every thinkable thing, procure help, employment, or tenants, and engage in various money-making activities.

The Times "Want Ad." habit is a good one to form, and unless you make a practice of reading these little messengers of prosperity you are overlooking many wealth-creating opportunities.

QUEEN OF LITTLE ITALY AFTER BATH-HOUSE JOHN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is among the possibilities that one of the first great achievements of woman suffrage in Illinois will be the ousting of "Bath-house" John Coughlin as Alderman from the First Ward.

"The Bath" has served for twenty years or more continuously in the Council, most of the time as the colleague of "Hinky Dink" Kenna. Again and again reformers have gone into the field to get the scalp of Coughlin. Each has failed.

Now Mrs. Annie Carlo Blasi, sometimes known as the Queen of Little Italy, newly enfranchised, has announced her intention to be a candidate for Alderwoman and to make a campaign that shall set the First Ward afire with enthusiasm for her.

Mrs. Blasi is no novice in politics. She has a powerful influence among the Italians of the ward, the Bohemians and the Germans as well.

liness and there is no disposition to force on them any such plan unless it is thoroughly acceptable."

The administration knows nothing of the attitudes of the governments of Costa Rica and Salvador, as no representations have yet been made.

"This is not dollar diplomacy; it is good sense," said Senator Lodge, in general support of the plan.

BORAH KICKS AGAIN.

Senator Borah, also a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, attacked the policy of the plan.

"This means the going up of the American flag all the way to the Panama Canal," he declared in a statement. "It is the beginning of that policy whose irrefutable logic is complete dominance and control and ownership by the United States from here to the Panama Canal. It is not exactly in accord with either the conceptions of those who formed the republic or our own present professions of what it ought to be."

APPROVAL.

Senators Bacon, Lodge, Hitchcock, O'Gorman, Stone, Smith of Arizona, Sutherland, Burton and other members of the Foreign Relations Committee expressed, in varying degree, their approval of the general principle advocated by the administration. Many of these Senators insisted, however, that the proposed plan would have to be worked out with great care, to insure the full independence and freedom of action in Nicaragua.

LODGE'S VIEW.

In a statement expressing general approval of the Bryan-Wilson policy, Senator Lodge said it would be an effective method of satisfying the world that the United States intended to enforce the Monroe doctrine.

"If we are going to maintain the Monroe doctrine," he said, "as we always have, and as we always shall, it is absolutely necessary that we should see to it that order is maintained in the republics bordering on the Caribbean Sea, so not only that our own citizens and interests, but that citizens and interests of other countries may be protected."

RICHMOND (Va.) July 21.—Marching progress has laid hands upon the last landmark in Richmond of Edgar Allan Poe. His boyhood home, the house of the Allans, long ago gave place to commercial buildings, the Swan Tavern and the Bird-in-Hand have passed away, and today the city began razing the old-fashioned brick building in which the poet edited the Southern Literary Messenger. Approaches to a new concrete bridge over the James River will take its place.

aragua it was deemed expedient to incorporate in the treaty the provisions of the Platt amendment, which apply to Cuba.

When Secretary Bryan appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Saturday he mystified Senators by reticence as to the reasons underlying his act in adopting a policy toward Nicaragua which goes far beyond the Monroe doctrine.

The Secretary, it is said, did not deem it advisable to state even under seal of confidence that a foreign government had sought to build a rival to the Panama Canal. Such an announcement would have given rise to ill-feeling toward the offending nation, and the administration has no desire to strain relations by giving currency to information which enabled this government to register a checkmate.

SENATE WILL RATIFY IT.

There is no doubt the Senate will promptly ratify the Bryan Nicaraguan treaty. It is to be expected that such American States as Chile, Argentina, and possibly Brazil, may object to the action of the United States, because in their view it will show a grasping purpose to acquire Latin-American territory.

In reply to any objections on this score it will be pointed out that Cuba has been under an American protectorate for practically ten years, and that it is still free and independent.

AS TO MEXICO.

President Wilson would not reveal today the source of his information in reference to the precarious situation of the Huerta government. It is certain it did not come from the American embassy. It is believed to have been sent from one of the several unofficial representatives of the President, who have been investigating conditions in the neighboring republics. The fact that the administration made public this information as well as its desire to hear from the revolutionists as to what they proposed to do in case of victory caused a great deal of astonishment in diplomatic circles.

The effect undoubtedly will be to weaken Huerta among his own followers and to encourage the revolutionists.

There is not the slightest question that the United States will decline to recognise Huerta, no matter how strong may be the recommendation which Ambassador Wilson will make to the President and Secretary Bryan upon his arrival in Washington.

Promptly upon the submission of the Nicaraguan treaty to the Senate it will be ratified.

Republicans approve it as not only what they have been seeking, but much more than they ever hoped to get.

The Democrats, headed by Senator Bacon, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, likewise approve the proposal. The only opponents to it at this time are Senators Clarke of Arkansas and Borah of Idaho, both members of the committee.

worthy seem to indicate that the strife between the Huerta regime and the revolutionary elements is nearing a point where some definite conclusion is to be reached.

Information of this situation when permitted to become known today was coupled with the authoritative statement that the United States was making no additional naval or military preparations. Reports of impending collapse of the Huerta regime are being talked over freely in official circles, though no official of the administration will permit his name to be coupled with them. All information made public was with the exact stipulation that it should not be represented as reflecting the views of the administration. Meanwhile President Wilson is awaiting the coming of Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson, hurrying north from Mexico City, to make a first hand report of conditions. Secretary Bryan, who has canceled some of his lecture dates, will participate in the conferences.

Ambassador Wilson was at Havana today.

While the first intimation of the administration's apprehensive regard for the latest development came early today, there was no additional information to supplement the semi-official announcement from high quarters that this government considered the situation a very grave one for the Huerta regime, and looked forward to the developments of the next two weeks with the deepest interest.

SIGNS OF DELICACY.

So delicate is the Mexican situation considered in official circles that the White House issued the following statement tonight to clear up misrepresentations:

"On his attention being called to the following statements, appearing in afternoon newspapers: (1) That the President had stated that he would not recognize the Huerta administration, and that it would not last a year; (2) that the President had stated that this country would establish a protectorate over all Central American countries to guard the Panama Canal. Secretary Tumulty stated that there was absolutely no foundation in truth for either of the above statements, and emphatically denied that the President had expressed any opinion today or at any other time regarding the Huerta administration or its stability, or stated any intention as to its recognition."

Calls President an Ordinary Schoolmaster and Declares Great Crisis Is Impending and Little Spark May Cause a Great Explosion.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HAVANA (Cuba) July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Special Mexican Ambassador Garza, who was sent to Washington to try and induce President Wilson to recognize President Huerta, arrived in Havana today on his way back to Mexico, discouraged and in an ugly mood. He did not think very much of Americans or America.

"Americans, generally, are bluffers," he declared. "They are assuming a hostile attitude toward Mexico and seem to be courting war.

"Washington is lending its moral aid, which just now seems to be very effective, to the rebels.

"President Wilson, to my mind, is just an ordinary schoolmaster, with not knowledge of the world except what he has read in books. Secretary Bryan, who says he is unable to live on his salary, is creating a scandal in political life by gaining money on a lecture platform, at the same time neglecting his duties as Secretary of State.

"Mexico, however, fears nothing. She will not provoke war with the United States, neither will she refuse to fight if war comes. Why should she when America has shown her weakness by being unable to subjugate the Philippines?

"As for the recall of Ambassador Wilson, it may not be amiss for me at this time to state that President Huerta had already made out the Ambassador's passports and was ready to hand them to him when the order for his recall came from Washington.

"In short," declared Senor Garza, "a crisis is impending, and a little spark may cause a great explosion."

Ambassador Wilson is in Havana today on his way to Washington. He had nothing to say to anyone, being as uncommunicative as a Mexican refugee.

FAITH IN TREVINO.

Few Persons Across the Border Believe He Is Aiming at a Coalition With Felix Diaz.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NOGALES, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Persons who know Gen. Jeronimo Trevino, retired, of the Mexican army now in Los Angeles ridicule and deny the published reports that the general plans in conjunction with Felix Diaz to unite with the Constitutionalist in a counter revolution against Gen. Huerta, ascribing such reports to rebel machiavelianism. They state that the general has had too long and brilliant a record of faithful service to the government of Mexico to have it sullied with any act of disloyalty; that a most mistaken idea exists that there can be any defection whatsoever on the part of an officer of the army or navy with a military man at the helm; that revolts in the army or navy only take place against a civil President and not then unless there has been a studied disdain and injustice from the Executive to the military and marine.

Rebel Gen. Alvaro Obregon is still in Nogales, Sonora, at the Hotel Escobosa, his condition being somewhat serious though not dangerous and his ailment now pronounced an abscess which causes him great pain. He has given out very little in the way of interviews due to his illness. He is reported to have caused a telegram to be sent to Gen. Hugh L. Scott, at Ft. Bliss, asking if permission would be granted for him to cross the line to have the operation performed in St. Joseph's Hospital, Nogales, Ariz., with affirmative answer under the proviso that a ratifying permission come from the State Department and further permission be obtained from the State Department for his return. This action is said to be in continuation of the Washington policy taken with regard to the Federal soldiers now held on this side of the line on the frontier. It is understood that Obregon will cross over.

Reports come in that nearly all the rebel forces have reconcentrated in Hermosillo and that two trainloads of troops will arrive from the north today.

It is rumored with insistence that the rebellion is fast breaking through defeats suffered from Gen. Ojeda's hands.

Minister of War Garrison is expected here July 26 on his tour of inspection. Gen. Ojeda and his large Federal column are reported to be moving north toward Hermosillo unresisted and this more speedily than before in his previous advance when dearth of water, together with unexpected strategic advantages, made it the best policy to withdraw to Guaymas, where he trapped 1000 rebels. Heavy reinforcements and the recent copious rains have made his advance an easy matter.

Military authorities yesterday had given Obregon permission to be treated in a hospital here, explaining that his return into Mexico would come under the jurisdiction of the State Department.

Pascual Orozco is due to reach Chihuahua tomorrow from the south and that a detachment will be sent to reinforce the guard on the work train moving north from Moctezuma repairing the track.

Mexican rebels of Maximo Castillo's command, who are not affiliated with Federals or Constitutionalists, shot and killed Wong Chew, a Chinese restaurant-keeper, in the lumber town of Pearson, Chihuahua, last Friday, because the Chinese failed to pay them 500 pesos, according to American employees of the Madera company, who reached here from Pearson today. After killing the Chinaman, rebels looted the restaurant.

Smoot Calls the Tariff Bill a Sectional Measure.

Outcome of Secret Caucus, Utah Senator Says.

Declares the Sugar Schedule Is Monstrous Thing.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—[Special Dispatch.] Republican Senators continued their criticism of the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill, Senator Burton of Ohio expressing the assurances that it would fail in its purpose to lower the cost of living, and Senator Smoot of Utah in an address to be continued tomorrow, branded it as "the most indefensible tariff measure ever taken up for consideration by Congress."

"This bill," said Senator Smoot, "is a partisan and sectional measure, the outcome of secret caucus meetings such as never ruled before in the affairs of the United States. In the name of 'Our New Freedom,' President Wilson says that there is no secret caucusing in Congress, and in a speech in Indiana preceding his election he emphasized that point by saying that there was no necessity for secrecy in Congressional proceedings. Was not in the history of Congress there been anything equal to the record in the way of darkness and secrecy in the preparation of a tariff bill.

"Gov. Foss of Massachusetts, who has been elected three times to the present office by the Democratic party, and who was supported as a candidate for President at the last Democratic National Convention, denounces the bill as a sacrifice of the interests of the nation. He has pointed out that in Canada for his large manufacturing establishment in Massachusetts, which says that he will remove his business there if this bill becomes a law. William R. Hearst, a prominent Democrat mentioned as a candidate for President, agrees with Gov. Foss. In all know what Democratic Louisiana, Colorado, Montana and other States vitally interested in the fate of this measure. A former Democratic United States Senator from Colorado has denounced it in unmeasured terms. How could he do otherwise when it sacrifices practically every important industry of that State, and also of every other Rocky Mountain State, as well as other States containing possibly some in the South?

"Manufacturing is developing rapidly over the South, crops are more diversified and there is every reason to believe that if left alone and the present protective tariff its prosperity will continue to increase with great rapidity. But this bill will hurt, instead of helping the South, as the framers pretend to think will be the case.

Analyzing the bill from one of Senator Smoot declared that it had many monstrous provisions, one of the worst of which was the tariff law, perhaps the worst, was one designed to annihilate the production of sugar in this country.

"It seems almost incredible that any party should make itself responsible for such a great calamity as putting sugar on the free list to benefit a few refiners on the Atlantic coast," the Senator continued. "The per capita consumption of sugar is over eight-one pounds annually, and 46 per cent. of that is used in the manufacture of confections, the remainder of forty-eight pounds. No one anticipates the slightest reduction in confectionery prices as a result of the removal of the duty on sugar. On the contrary, the consumption free sugar would make an annual per capita saving of 84 cents, but when the refining of sugar industry is extinguished sugar refiners will control the market and the consumer will not benefit, as experience has shown."

Predicting dire results when the bill becomes a law, and that the industries of the country will be paralyzed by its passage "would not be true of the trusts and powerful corporations, the thousands of people engaged in small capital," Senator Smoot said.

"I have been proud of my country's development, but I declare that I never felt so tired of hearing praises, nor cases thanking that I was born as American, interested in maintaining for the people the highest standard of living and paying possible her working people can afford to pay, in direct competition with the cheap and unfortunate working people of foreign countries. There is no way to prevent it and the only protective tariff and therefore I have been and still am a protectionist without qualification."

Chautauqua Lecture Habit a Patronage Issue.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] New phases of the Bryan Chautauqua lecture incident are developing every day. Just now the Democratic politicians are speculating upon the effect it will have upon the matter of patronage pending in the State Department.

It has been noticed that the Senator who defended Bryan so valorously in the Senate last Friday, have been conspicuous callers at the State Department in reference to political matters since that time. They accompanied the Secretary's appreciation of his efforts to defend him while at the same time bringing to his attention the desirability of appointments to deserving party followers to diplomatic positions.

The speech in the Senate in defense of Bryan which attracted most attention was delivered by Senator Lewis of Illinois, the Democratic whip. Early next day Senator Lewis appeared at the State Department and was greeted by Representatives Sabath and McAndrews and Charles J. Peterson of Chicago, who wants to be appointed to the Balkan States.

PSYCHOLOGICAL MOMENT.

The Senator evidently regarded the time as the psychological moment for pressing the claims of Mr. Vopicka upon Mr. Bryan. Up to that time Mr. Bryan, in the case of Mr. Vopicka had been encountered. Mr. Bryan was described as adhering to the belief that Mr. Vopicka's brewing business could not be harmonized with the principles of diplomacy.

Representative Sabath, however, had arranged to have Mr. Vopicka introduced to Secretary Bryan on Saturday, and had invited Senator Lewis to be present. The Senator, fresh from his defense of Bryan, took care of the maneuvers with zest and assurance. Secretary Bryan met the Senator warmly, almost effusively, and wrung his hand gratefully while he expressed his thanks for the manner in which Mr. Lewis had rallied him up in the Senate. Senator Lewis responded that he had only defended Mr. Bryan not wholly on personal grounds, but because he knew both Democrats and that it was the obligations of a party. He intimated that it was up to Mr. Bryan to recognize the party by appointing deserving Democrats to office, particularly when ex-Senators recommended by Senators who had fulfilled their own party obligations.

Then he proceeded to urge Mr. Vopicka and urge the President to select him for the Balkan States without delay.

Mr. Bryan is reported to have replied upon Mr. Vopicka and Senator Lewis spent a most enjoyable ten minutes in conversation with their friends. While the Secretary would not commit himself, Senator Lewis and Representative Sabath departed with the firm conviction that Mr. Vopicka will receive the appointment.

LEWIS MEETS BREWER.

Senator Lewis and the two Congressmen presented Mr. Vopicka to President Wilson. The President was cordial to the candidacy of the Chicago brewer, and Mr. Wilson and Mr. Vopicka discussed the affairs of the United States briefly. Mr. Vopicka returned to Chicago this afternoon.

The champions of Mr. Bryan are jubilant on the Secretary of the Senate. The defense in the Senate, by Senators Kern and Shively, was strong, and they were accorded the plaudits of the country at large. Senator Lewis, with a view to its passage "would not be for the trusts and powerful corporations, but for the thousands of people engaged in small capital." Senator Shively said:

"I have been proud of my country's development, but I declare that I never felt so tired of hearing praises, nor cases thanking that I was born as American, interested in maintaining for the people the highest standard of living and paying possible her working people can afford to pay, in direct competition with the cheap and unfortunate working people of foreign countries. There is no way to prevent it and the only protective tariff and therefore I have been and still am a protectionist without qualification."

BRISTOW SLIGHTED.

Senator Bristow was the author of the amendment incorporated in the bill, but he was the only leader of the insurgent elections movement who failed to be invited by Mr. Bryan to witness the signing of the proclamation. Senator Borah, the author of the Borah amendment which was defeated in the Senate, was invited. In addition to the fact that the victory of the insurgent elections fight was due to the leadership of Bristow, his friends claim that he had been intentionally slighted by Secretary Bryan. Senator Bristow, however, indignantly denies the aspersions of the Bryan friends. He regards such charges with contempt.

John A. Logan, owner of the Sunset, who for which Mr. Bryan pays $3000 a year, came to the defense of the Secretary today.

"Many of our public men receive very low salaries," she said. "Mr. Bryan, who was selected for his position to fill the office of Secretary of State, ought to be credited with a desire to discharge his duties in his own way. He is an exceptionally conscientious man and has displayed a majestic side to his office. The average of the modern American to his home shown recently in the number of investigations of the affairs of public men. Nothing has been done even if the investigations have proved the worst. What do foreign nations think of a country that conducts the smallest act of its people? The only mistake by Mr. Bryan is in replying to criticism."

CHINESE SAILORS START A MUTINY.

DEFY OFFICERS ON STEAMER, ONE IS SHOT.

Refuse to Obey Order to Go Into the Hold and Attempt to Throw First Mate Overboard—Bravery of Stewardess Saves His Life from Infuriated Orientals.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, July 21.—Mutiny of twenty-five Chinese on the steamship Comus, arriving today from New York, resulted in a panic among the passengers, the probable fatal shooting of one of the mutineers, the wounding of three others and slight injuries of First Officer M. L. Proctor of the Comus. The general fight occurred on the forward deck of the steamer today.

Proctor probably owes his life to the bravery of Mrs. Florence Shaw, a stewardess, who saved him from being thrown over the rail by the infuriated Chinese.

The officer had ordered all the Chinese to the hold when the vessel was about forty miles from New Orleans.

The orientals protested that the heat was too intense. When Proctor insisted, six of them rushed him to the rail. Then Mrs. Shaw appeared and battled her way among the Chinese, preventing them from throwing Proctor overboard.

Proctor drew his weapon and began firing. Other members of the crew and several passengers rushed into the melee. Finally the orientals were cowed by the superior force and were sent to the hold. The most seriously injured man is shot through the lungs, probably fatally. The Chinese were being brought here to work for the United Fruit Company, whose seamen recently walked out. Each is under $500 bond. Fearing some might try to escape as the Comus was coming up the river, the Chinese were ordered to the hold.

When the boat docked the orientals were ordered to come on deck one at a time. With drawn weapons police took the man in charge. Their disposition has not yet been determined.

Folger, Jr., of New York, Standard Oil men, who are majority stockholders in the Magnolia Petroleum Company of Corsicana, Tex., another defendant, agree that their stock is to be held by a trustee to be selected by Atty.-Gen. B. F. Looney. It is further agreed that the Magnolia and the Corsicana Petroleum Company, the other Texas oil concern which is a defendant, shall be operated wholly independent of the Standard Oil interests.

Paris Audience Cheers Negro Pugilist When He Does Turkey Trot With His White Wife.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jack Johnson appeared in Revue at Folies Bergere tonight to fill the gap caused by the absence of Anna Held, the star who was injured in an automobile accident in England. Johnson threw a medicine ball about and boxed four exhibition rounds. The fighter announced that $5000 had been deposited at the box office for the man who would stand up against him for ten rounds. Johnson got a hearty welcome. He is to receive $1200 a night. His white wife joined the fighter on the stage in the final scene, when the couple did the turkey trot for a few minutes, and the audience seemed to enjoy this more than Johnson's previous exhibitions. The success of the performance seemed to be greatest with the women in the audience.

TURNS DURANGO OVER TO MOBS.

Urbina Lets the Lawless Run Riot in the City.

Avenges Himself on Consuls Who Had Spurned Him.

Transportation Routes Are Entirely Demoralized.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Refusal of foreign consular representatives to hold a parley with Gen. Urbina, the Mexican revolutionary leader, before his attack on Durango, is given as the reason for the outrages against residents, irrespective of nationality, following the recent rebel occupancy of the city, according to State Department advices received today.

Gen. Urbina sent the Consuls word of his intention to besiege Durango and sought a conference with them. As a retaliation for their refusal to meet him, it is said, the city virtually was given over to soldiery and the mob, who fired and plundered property indiscriminately. Money was demanded from the banks and from wealthy citizens. Prices now are very high and Consul Hamm fears that there may be a famine, although all Americans remaining in the place are reported well. The State Department has been advised that the government at Mexico City has expressed its intention of preventing a demonstration upon the arrival of the new Japanese Minister, which might be considered anti-American in character.

Transportation facilities in Mexico are in a state of demoralization. More than 200 bridges have been destroyed between Monterey and Torreon.

From Guaymas, Admiral Cowles, commanding the Pacific squadron, reported today to the Navy Department that the city was quiet. Federal reinforcements having arrived.

State Department reports say that all communication with interior Mexico was cut off yesterday.

The revolutionists have taken the principal towns to the west of Tuxpam, and fighting is expected at that place. Consul Canada has reported that the battleship Louisiana probably will go from Vera Cruz to Tuxpam to guard American interests when the clash comes.

Marauders near that port have attacked in a search for arms and provisions. Two Vera Cruz newspapers have been suspended by President Huerta. The wrecking of an iron bridge of the National Railroad near Monterey has interrupted transportation to the northward.

Kasai's oration dealt with the Japanese question in California and was an appeal for fairness on both sides and the continuance of peaceful relations with Japan. His tour will take him as far east as New York and will last two months.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

ROME, July 21.—Fifteen thousand members of the Parish of Rome had gathered yesterday afternoon in the courtyard of San Damaso to await the appearance of the Pope, when, from the central arcade, the cadets from the American training ship Ranger marched in and were greeted with great applause. The papal soldiers rendered military honors.

The Pope, from the balcony, delivered a short address, urging all to be firm in following a Christian life and recommending the cadets to serve God and their fatherland. The Pontiff imparted the apostolic benediction.

RIVERSIDE COUPLE WED.

Take a Run Down to El Paso, Tex., and Are Married in Midst of Thunder and Lightning.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In a cute little Cupid's bower which had just been built in a cosy nook of the county Courthouse, A. C. Barry Cannan and Miss Laura Cordelia Bordwell, both of Riverside, Cal., were married Monday afternoon while the rain played a wedding march on the roof and thunder and lightning offering congratulations at frequent intervals. The bride and groom arrived from Los Angeles on the Golden State limited, found County Clerk Park Pitman at work in his office, called in Judge E. B. McLintock, and were married and on their way to their home in Riverside before dark. No reason for the substitution of a Texas for a California marriage was given by the blushing groom.

INVENTS SUPER EXPLOSIVE.

Mostly Deadly Combustible Known Is Now Property of United States Government.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The safest high-power explosive the world has yet seen, an explosive equal to the strongest dynamite made, the "80 per cent. dynamite," has been perfected by a lieutenant of the New York National Guard after three years' work.

He will give it to the United States government although a half-dozen nations would pay from $500,000 up for the secret formula. It is more than probable that in a year or two the United States army will be using no other explosive and that guncotton, the standard for ten years, will be forever in second place.

Lieut. Harold Chase Woodward of the Twenty-second Engineers, National Guard, New York, is the inventor of trotol, the newest and most deadly combustible.

Trotol can be exploded only by fulminate of mercury, the substance used to explode dynamite. It cannot be set off by any shock, however great. In a test at Ft. Wadsworth, trotol was packed into a twelve-inch shell and the shell was fired at armor plate 1000 yards away. The shell struck the armor plate while going at a rate of 2750 feet a second, but the trotol inside remained unexploded in spite of the terrific concussion.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—Prof. Zephaniah Hopper, the grand old man of the Philadelphia schools, for sixty-nine years a teacher in the Philadelphia High School, and who is believed to have taught more boys than any other person in the United States, died at his home today. Although 88 years old, Prof. Hopper attended to his work at the school until the end of the last term in June. Death was due to old age and the heat.

LOCK TWO IN ICE BOX.

OGDEN (Utah) July 21.—Two holdups in the business section of this city took place shortly after 1 o'clock today. The robberies were followed by a street battle and the arrest of a trio of robbers. The robbers first held up a butcher shop. After locking the proprietor and an employee in the ice box they robbed the till, then proceeded to the business center, where they held up a saloon and ten men. None was seriously injured.

Spectacular Career of Cardenio F. King, Once Known as a Financier, Is Ended.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BRIDGEWATER (Mass.) July 21.—A spectacular career was ended under pathetic circumstances today, when Cardenio F. King, once widely known as a financier and newspaper publisher of Boston, died a convict at the State farm here in the very hour that friends, aware of the approach of death, were making desperate efforts to obtain his pardon.

Only a legal technicality prevented his last hours being those of a free man. Word that his condition was hopeless was sent to Gov. Foss at Boston this morning. The Governor canvassed the members of his council by telephone, and seven of the eight consented to immediate clemency, but Atty.-Gen. Swift rendered an opinion that a pardon could not be granted by telephone. A telegram was sent to King giving the assurance that a pardon would be granted tomorrow, when the Council convened. Dr. Emerson, medical head of the State farm, hurried with the news to the hospital, but returned to report that King was dead.

King was convicted of obtaining $22,000 under false pretenses from persons who had entrusted him with funds for investment, and was sentenced to from ten to fourteen years.

PARK BOSS OUSTED.

Active Under Instructions From Washington Arant Is Removed From the Crater Lake Reserve.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KLAMATH FALLS (Or.) July 21.—W. Frank Arant has been ejected from the superintendency of Crater Lake National Park by United States Marshal Scott of Portland, acting upon instructions from Washington. Will G. Steel of Portland, whose appointment as Arant's successor was led to a controversy over the right of Secretary Lane to remove the superintendent, who is a civil service man, is now in charge of the park.

When Arant was first notified last spring to vacate the position in favor of Steel, he refused to comply on the ground that he was subject to civil service regulations.

Recently the question was taken before the Civil Service Commission at Washington, that body holding that Arant is under its jurisdiction. The commission, however, has no authority to enjoin the Interior Department from seeking Arant's removal.

No official statement as to the reason for Arant's removal has been given out.

Up to a short time before his appointment as park superintendent, Steel was manager of the Crater Lake Company, which controls the hotel, stage, and other privileges in the national park.

"The House of Musical Quality"

Music is an accomplishment, unusually valuable as a home enjoyment. We know of no more interesting spectacle than of brothers and sisters playing and singing together those old favorite songs, which gratify the taste, and purify the heart. Parents should not fail to consider the great value of music in the home. Teach your family to play and sing, that they can produce sufficient music at home among themselves so that they will never wish to go elsewhere for their entertainment.

The Chickering Ampico

will provide the piano accompaniment to solos, duets, quartettes and chorus. It will give you these accompaniments in three distinct ways: First—played by hand by a practiced pianist. Second—as a player piano played by music-rolls and personally operated. Third—By music-rolls that require absolutely no attention, so that all the family may be at liberty to join in the singing. This last feature sets the CHICKERING AMPICO apart from all other instruments—it's a feature you should investigate thoroughly.

Come today for a demonstration.

SEES DELUSION IN FREE TRADE.

Ohio Senator Voices Belief in Democratic Failure.

Says Policy Is Destined to Drive Out Capital.

Smoot Declares Financial Ruin Will Follow.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Denunciation of free trade as a timely policy for the United States, a prediction of failure in its purposes for the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill and an attack on an ad valorem tariff system, were voiced by Senator Burton of Ohio today when tariff discussion was resumed in the Senate. Senator Burton declared he was no worshipper of protection as a "fetish," but that he approached the subject of the tariff "rather with the conviction that whenever there shall be an era of comity and mutual concession in trade among nations and our country shall have reached a point when its productive capacity has been developed fully, free trade might be a rational policy." Such, he said, was not the case, the disposition "to restrict trade among nations and to grant access to markets only on rendering concessions in return," being on the increase.

BURTON'S DECLARATION.

Asserting that a free-trade policy only is tenable on the theory that it universally can be applied, the Ohio Senator declared:

"The attempt on the part of a free-trade nation to apply the theory in practice without the concert of other nations reveals the serious disadvantage of such a position. She can have recourse to no other means of protecting her interests except to persuade the statesmen of other countries that they, with herself, would be better off under a regime of freedom in commerce, while they, on the other hand, can bargain between themselves to her disadvantage and at the same time profit by access to her open markets."

Senator Burton further declared that the Democrats had framed a bill which literally tears to pieces the fiscal policy of the nation in order to satisfy the cravings for the lowering of the cost of living and to justify the declaration of their party platform that the chief cause of the high cost of living was "the existing protective tariff enacted by the Republican party."

"This," said Senator Burton, "was your campaign argument; this was the promise on which you regard yourselves as delegates to tear to pieces the fiscal policy which has been the sheet anchor of nearly two decades of unprecedented prosperity and which is the only guarantee of its continuance. You have erected a tariff policy blind to every consideration except the consumer. The bill was frankly not framed to encourage capital to enter new fields of industry or to extend those already established; it was not devised for the purpose of inviting our farmers to reclaim new acres for cultivation; it is certainly not calculated to enlarge the opportunities for labor to find profitable employment. Its sole justification is a reduced cost of living. If it fails in this, it fails utterly."

The belief of many persons that a protective tariff is responsible for the high cost of living is a delusion, the Senator said.

DENOUNCES AD VALOREM.

Denouncing the ad valorem system adopted in the bill as a substitute for specific duties, Senator Burton declared that it was objectionable because it meant a heavier burden upon the consumer in the periods when prices are highest, and a similar burden when prices are low; that it affords temptation for undervaluation and fraud, and that it works to the disadvantage of the American manufacturer, who must buy raw material abroad.

That the pending bill could not possibly fulfill its mission, Senator Burton declared, "is now admitted by some of its original sponsors."

He named Secretary Redfield in this connection.

"Mr. Redfield," he added, "who was selected for his responsible position in the President's Cabinet because he was regarded by the President an expert on tariff matters, was evidently smoothing the way for the descent of Democratic hopes when he gave out a signed interview from which I quote. After mentioning several of the causes of the high cost of living, the Secretary says:

"I mention these things to show that tariff is no cure-all. It is a step toward removing obstacles which prevent the freer exchange of products of the farm, the mill and the mine, but no intelligent man expects it to be more than a step. What then, is the principal benefit arising from the tariff bill? To my thinking it is a moral and a mental benefit."

Burdened.

WANTS A LABEL ON ALL WINES.

CONTENTS MUST BE PLAINLY MARKED ON BOTTLE.

Houston Tells Congressman Kent Department of Agriculture Will Insist on Rigid Enforcement of the Law Relating to the Products. Fight on Brandy Tax Keeps Up.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Labeling of all "doctored" or adulterated sweet wines will be rigidly required by the Department of Agriculture, Secretary Houston stated today in a letter to Congressman Kent of California, who protests against the proposed tax in the Democratic tariff bill upon brandy used to fortify California wines. Wines which are fortified with alcohol or contain benzoate of soda must state that fact on the bottle labels, Secretary Houston declared, as a protection to California wine growers burdened with increased manufacturing costs because of the new tariff provision.

The Californians are keeping up their fight against the amendment to the tariff bill putting a tariff on grape brandy used in fortifying sweet wines, but are making no appreciable headway. Theodore Bell, representing Napa; N. F. Tarpey, representing Fresno, and State Senator L. W. Jullard, representing Santa Rosa, are due here tomorrow to join others already here in making another attempt to have the amendment modified.

SMOOT PICTURES RUIN.

Utah Senator Declares Free Trade Will Bring About General Industrial Depression.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Asserting that foreign "lobbying" had influenced the Democrats in the framing of the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill, Senator Smoot, Republican member of the Finance Committee, today delivered a vigorous attack on the measure. He painted a picture of mills shut down, workmen unemployed, investors ruined and an era of general financial and industrial depression as the result of the leveling of tariff walls.

"There has been a lobby here in behalf of foreign manufacturers," he charged, "such as was never before witnessed in the history of the nation, and they have got even more than they asked for. The Italian Chamber of Commerce of New York asked for certain reductions and the Democrats in nearly every case have given more than was asked."

The Senator assailed the increase in the free list, especially with reference to sugar, wool, pig iron and textiles. He charged that the sugar industry of Hawaii and Porto Rico would be ruined, with consequent benefits to the so-called "sugar trust," and that China, with its great steel plants, would capture the steel business of the Western Hemisphere.

Referring to the Walker tariff bill of 1846, on which he contended the present bill was largely modeled, Mr. Smoot said that the Walker law provided for the admission free of only about 9 per cent. of imports, while the Underwood-Simmons measure allowed 55 per cent. of the greatly increased volume of incoming trade to enter untaxed.

"All the world knows how this country suffered as a result of the Wilson tariff law in 1896," he continued, "but the average rate of duty now is over 2 per cent. lower than was the case under the last Democratic tariff, when the business of the nation was paralyzed and 3,000,000 persons were thrown out of employment.

"China and Japan," he said, "with their ever-increasing mills, would prove disastrous competitors in the home market, especially in the steel industry."

He concluded:

"The question of the future will be competition with the starvation wages of Asia, instead of with the low wages of Europe."

HIS HEART SET ON GLASS BILL.

Wilson Sure Currency Measure Will Become Law.

Owen Insists on Uncle Sam Supervising Banks.

And All Objections Will Fall, the Senator Says.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—There are to be no changes in the administration plans for the enactment of a currency law at the present session of congress. This was indicated plainly today by President Wilson and Senator Owen, chairman of the Senate committee on Banking and Currency after they had held a long conference at the White House.

The President said he was pleased with the speed with which the administration currency bill was being handled at the Capitol and expressed his confidence in the speedy passage of it. Glass bill, with changes proposed by the Senate committee. With these changes he was in perfect accord.

The most important change recommended would permit national banks to continue to use the 2 per cent government bonds for circulation. Other amendments are of minor importance, Senator Owen said.

The Senator positively pointed out the objections to the government control of the Federal reserve banks have no effect and in the present form the bill would be passed by both houses in this form.

Continuing their rather strenuous consideration of the administration currency bill, the Democrats of the House Banking and Currency committee agreed on several important changes of importance. This was done at an afternoon session of the committee which lasted until Ragsdale of South Carolina left the committee, declining to take further part in the day's deliberations.

Representative Ragsdale announced his dissatisfaction with the proceedings of the committee Democrats after they had found it impracticable to make copies of all of the various amendments offered to the bill. He asked Friday that Chairman Glass furnish him with copies of the various amendments. Today the gentleman said a complete list of these was not obtainable. After a somewhat heated controversy, however, Ragsdale left the room. It was said last night that he had decided to accept features of the bill made by the committee and that he would attend tomorrow's session prepared to take part in the consideration of the measure. Chairman Glass announced tonight the text of a proposed federal note issue section of the bill, which he said he had made for the benefit of the committee. This tentative draft would provide that Federal reserve banks must carry in their vaults a 40 per cent reserve gold or gold certificates against the amount of $3 1-5 per cent. of United States Treasury notes over and above the bank's capital.

The bill originally called for a 35 per cent reserve "in gold or lawful money." After some discussion it was decided to change it in order to prevent the accumulation of greenbacks and silver dollars in the reserve.

The conference refused to change the rediscount section of the bill, which reconsider its action of last week when the maturity was changed from countable notes was changed from forty-five to sixty days. It is expected to retain the forty-five-day limit after a proposal by Representative Wingo to extend the time to six months had been rejected.

An amendment to the section of operations section of the bill to allow the Federal reserve banks to invest their funds in United States bonds and the bonds issued by any state, county or municipality therein.

STATESMAN IS HALF-SHAVED.

Senator Clarke Makes Hasty Exit From Barber's Chair to Vote Over August Body.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Senator Clarke, president pro tem of the senate, faced that august body today with half a shave. The Senator from Marshall was out of town when the roll bells were ringing the call for the assembly. Senator Clarke, however, was in a chair in the barber shop when he was warned by pages dashing into the shop in squads that the Senate was in session and the presiding officer. The Senator from Marshall hurriedly wiped the lather from his face and bolted for the chamber.

The Republican side of the chamber was clean shaven; the Democratic side was not today's whiskers.

TRIPLE TIE IN GOLF TOURNEY.

Hunter, Wood and Phelps, All of Chicago, Score.

Present Champ Evans Only One Behind.

Armstrong Has Hard Luck at Eighteen and Sixteen.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Competition in the elimination round of the fourteenth annual amateur championship of the Western Golf Association at the Homewood Country Club today resulted in a triple tie for the premier honors by Paul Hunter, Warren K. Wood and Mason Phelps, all of Chicago, who had cards of 77. Charles "Chick" Evans, Jr., the present champion, was close up on the trio of leaders with a score of 78. Three other golfers went around in better than 80, Jerry Magee of the Omaha Country Club, John Simpson of the Central Illinois Country Club and Donald Douglas, one of the local club stars, having cards of 79.

CONDITIONS UNFAVORABLE.

The conditions which prevailed on the links today were not favorable for record-breaking golf. There was a high wind from the south. As a result no remarkable scores were registered. The sixty-four players who qualified included those with cards of 83, a higher figure than has prevailed in former years. The breeze was particularly a handicap on the second nine holes of the course, the players asserted.

Warren Wood was among the first of the stars to go out, getting away early in the morning with Jack Lemist of Denver. He covered the first nine holes in par 37 and took a 40 coming in, losing a stroke on the tenth and eighth on the greens. Mason Phelps had 39 and 38 for the route, doing several of the par 4 holes in five. A six for the 453-yard sixth hole and a 7 on the home green held Paul Hunter, the University of Chicago golfer, to 37 out and 40 in. Their cards were:

Wood, out 4-5-5-4-4-4-3-5-3—37.
In, 4-6-4-4-3-5-4-4-6-40—77.

Phelps, out 4-5-5-5-5-5-3-4-3—39.
In, 4-5-5-3-4-5-4-3-5-38—77.

Hunter, out 5-4-5-4-4-6-3-5-3—37.
In 4-5-4-5-3-4-5-3-7-40—77.

"Chick" Evans played brilliantly in the early stages of his round with Mason Phelps, taking a 3 on the first green with a perfect approach. The pride of Edgewater continued to win the admiration of the large gallery following until the seventh green was reached. He was on the green, a distance of 138 yards, with his drive, and ran down along approach putt, which overran the cup a few feet, the return putt just rimmed the hole, and reaching over he tapped the ball with the back of his putter. It again evaded the cup. The 5 gave "Chick" a 40 at the turn and eliminated him from the race as far as honors of the day were concerned.

ARMSTRONG OUT OF LUCK.

E. S. Armstrong of the Los Angeles Country Club negotiated the eighteen holes in 84, luck deserting him at the eighth and sixteenth holes, where he took sevens for totals of 41 and 44.

Howard Lee of Detroit, who won the medal and was runner up in the Michigan championship tournament of last year, was off his game today, because of a carbuncle on his neck. He turned in a 44 for his first nine, but struck a better stride on the home journey for 39, totaling 83.

The large gallery at the home green was given a real sensation when Jerry Magee, the Big Nebraskan, came in. His third shot fell into the difficult cross ditch, eighty-five yards from the eighteenth green. He lofted squarely out and on to the green, sinking a six-foot putt for par 5.

Two of the eastern invaders in training.

How About Him.

BALDWIN LOOKS LIKE FIGHTER TO VAN COURT.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

MATTY BALDWIN, the great lightweight of the Boston lightweight, is working hard at the St. Ingatius Club rounding himself into condition for his coming twenty-round fight with Leach Cross, which takes place next Tuesday night at the Vernon Arena.

Baldwin is one of the most sensational fighters in his class today notwithstanding the fact that he has been boxing longer than any man in his class at the present time outside of Battling Nelson, if we can consider Bat still a contender.

Matty has met all the great lightweights for the past ten years and is still only 27 years old his next birthday, coming in February.

He has had 289 fights and has never been knocked off his feet once and has never yet heard a referee count over him.

Yesterday he went three rounds each with the light and heavy bags and boxed four rounds each with Hobo and Johnny Schiff.

He is easy on his boxing partners, but shows a lot of knowledge of all the tricks of the game.

Looks a Fighter.

One look at Matty would convince you that he is a fighter. He also is not only a fighter, but a fine boxer. As soon as he raised his hands with Hobo Dougherty, he at once reminded me of Johnny Kilbane; his boxing position is much the same. But he is a hard-hitter, using either hand, very fast on his feet and in his defense reminds me greatly of our old friend, Jack Twin Sullivan. He uses his arm in the same manner and is a fine judge of distance and time, and is one of the best body punchers that ever came to the Coast.

Another pleasing feature of Baldwin's boxing was the fact that he never clinches or holds on. He is great at blocking at close quarters and is a dangerous boy in the breaks.

High Class Boxer.

As a whole, he shows himself to be a boxer of the highest type of today. Eddy Murphy, his manager, said, "There was some kick over the weight at which the boys are to box. Leach Cross is holding out for catchweights, while Murphy wants 133 ringside.

"Matty can easily make 128 pounds," said Murphy, "so why should we meet Cross at catchweights. He met Cross at catchweights before, but since then Leach insisted on Bud Anderson making 133 ringside for him, and later agreed to 133 at the noon hour the day of the fight.

"We are after that lightweight title and if Cross is after it he must make 133 at least a reasonable hour before the fight, or there will be none.

"It will cost us about $700 to make the trip out here and back, counting our loss of time from business, etc., and we will get little even if we win."

Want Limit Weight.

"I would have been willing to have Matty meet Willie Ritchie, Joe Rivers or Leach Cross for nothing provided they made 133 pounds ringside, just to get a chance at that title. Baldwin has a decision over both Ritchie and Cross and can beat either of them again at that weight, and that is all we ask.

"When we met Cross before at catchweights, we did not consider him a contender for the title, but since he has made good on the Coast, we see our mistake in not holding him to the lightweight limit, also our mistake in not coming to the Coast a long time ago, as we might have had that title now.

"Baldwin's record stands for itself and he, if any one, is entitled to a chance to try for the title."

"Jack Britton, Willie Ritchie, Bud Anderson and Leach Cross each claim that they are lightweights, but when it comes to the showdown they are not there on the weight question.

Will Show 'Em Up.

"If they are welterweights, why don't they come right out and say so, but Matty is a lightweight and we will show them up if they try to pull anything off on us."

Eddy Murphy puts up a good argument and from Baldwin's record he is entitled to a fair chance. There is too much haggling over the lightweight limit and time of weighing in.

If McCarey is offering lightweight championship to the public, he should make them knuckle down to that weight, or drop them for good.

Convalescent.

BUD ANDERSON IS UNDAUNTED.

WANTS TO MEET LEACH CROSS FIRST OF ALL.

Medford Lightweight Getting Stronger—Will Leave for Home in Ten Days—After Four Months' Rest Will Fight Again—Doctors Say He Will Be Stronger.

"Discouraged? Not me. Leach Cross never beat me. Here's what beat me on the Fourth," said Bud Anderson, exhibiting his appendix, preserved in alcohol, with all the pride of the owner of a prize-winning dog.

The pride of Medford may have had his first and worst licking of his career at the hands of Leach Cross at Vernon, but Bud is about as far from being discouraged as anyone could possibly be.

"I felt sick before the fight," said Bud, "but not bad enough to get a doctor. After the third round I couldn't see anything, and didn't know whether I was standing up or laying down. I kept telling Dick that I didn't feel right, and I sure didn't, but I wasn't going to quit because nobody else knew that there was anything the matter with me.

"Leach Cross isn't as good as I thought he was before the fight. I had to laugh to myself at the end of each round to think that I had lasted the period out. I was expecting to get it in every round after the third and I know that if I'd been right I'd have beaten him long before the twelfth round.

"I'm not trying to make excuses. Every fighter makes excuses after he gets beat, but that's enough excuse for me," said Bud, pointing an accusing finger at the wriggly thing in the bottle. "All I want is another chance to get in the ring again as soon as possible. I don't care where I fight or who I fight, but I'd rather fight Cross here again than anything I know."

Bud is going to take life easy down here for a few days and then will go up to his little ranch at Vancouver, Wash., where he will rusticate until he is well enough to fight again. The doctors say that in four months he won't know that he ever had been operated upon.

The most important thing about the operation is the fact that the doctors claim that Bud will not only be in better physical condition than ever before, but that he will be able to make the weight much more easily. Through some process entirely too deep for the average mind to understand, the doctors say that the removal of the offending portion of Bud's interior anatomy will result in his being able to make the weight with ease.

Bud considers that he has not suffered any set-back through his defeat, but that he merely has been shelved for a few months by nature and that he will be able to come back and continue his clean-up of the lightweight situation within the next few months.

POLO STAR KILLED.

LONDON, July 21.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Although polo is popularly regarded as a dangerous game to play, the first fatality in connection with the game here, where it has been played regularly since 1871, is just recorded. Lieut. Harmon died yesterday from injuries received when his pony threw him in a match at Ranelagh on Thursday. There have been only three other polo fatalities in the entire history of the game in England.

DODGERS BUY SCHMUTZ.

NEW YORK, July 21.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Officers of the Brooklyn baseball club today announced the purchase of Pitcher Schmutz from the Vancouver Club of the Northwestern League. He will report in September.

TANNHEUDD DET OUT.

ST. JOSEPH (Mo.) July 21.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Pitcher Jess Tannheuil, ex-major leaguer, has been unconditionally released by Manager Holland of the local Western League club. Tannheuil has been a member of the St. Joseph team since the season opened, but has pitched in only six games.

BIG WEEK ON IN BASEBALL.

Wolves and Beavers to Meet at Sacramento.

Angels to Play Seals Here in Seven Games.

Maggert and Lober at Top of League Batsmen.

SEALS DELAYED BY WASHOUT.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—A washout on the Southern Pacific Railroad has delayed the San Francisco Coast League baseball team, en route from Portland to Los Angeles, to open the next series in the south tomorrow. Al Baum, president of the league, said tonight the Seals should be in the southern city by 2:45 o'clock and the game would be called at 3:30.

BY GREY OLIVER.

There will be barrels of tears flowing out at Washington Park this week, for the Angels and Seals are to clash for seven games, and the losers are bound to cry to think they are dropping further into the hole. Both these aggregations have been going bad for the past two weeks, and the games this week may decide which of the two will be pumped out of consideration.

The Angels are far from being in condition for a hard series with any team, for Metzger and Boles are out of the game and may not return for several weeks. Their absence will break the regular line-up and will cause a shifting that is bound to effect the playing of the other men to some extent.

SEALS ARE MAD.

The Seals were walloped to a frazzle by Portland last week, and think they are due to come back, and luckily for them, they will find two of the Angels out of the line-up. Whether or not Howard's men are to keep on sliding remains to be seen. There is no use guessing about what either team can do, for it would be guessing at best. What took place in the league last week was enough to prove that anything can happen in baseball.

Hap Hogan and his Venice team left last night for San Francisco, where they are to play this week against Oakland, and as Venice leads the Oaks by only eight points, it is a cinch that there should be some hot games in the series.

HOT DAYS COMING.

The big feature of the week will be the battle at Sacramento between the Beavers and the Wolves, and if they can break even the Angels will have a chance to get back into the lead again. It is lucky for the other teams that these two are to meet this week, for both teams are strong in all departments, and some tough contests are bound to result. McCredie is out for the pennant again this year, and stands a swell chance from the way his men are going now.

During the past week Portland jumped from the second division to the top, Los Angeles dropped from first to third place and the Seals from second place to last. These things means that any team has a chance, for but seven games separate the leaders and the tailenders.

The Portland club tops the list with the best club batting record, .262, with San Francisco second, .258, and Sacramento third, .257.

The Sacramento and Portland clubs are tied for first place in the fielding division, each with .940, and Los Angeles, in second place, is but one point behind them, .950.

MAGGERT LEADING.

Hari Maggert, Los Angeles, is still leading batter of the league, with .318; Ty Lober, the outfielder whom the Angels traded to Portland, jumped to second place among the batsmen, with a record of .317. Mundorff, San Francisco, is in third place.

Kiawitter, Sacramento, has won five out of seven games, and is leading pitcher, .714. Of the regulars who have been in the game all season, Jack Ryan, Los Angeles, is leader, with fourteen games won and seven lost. His percentage is .667. Jess Baker, San Francisco, has the same mark with six won and three lost, and Fanning, San Francisco, has a mark of .600, having won fourteen games and lost nine.

DODGERS ROUT PIRATES; TURN DEFEAT INTO VICTORY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BROOKLYN, July 21.—Errors of omission by Pittsburgh in the seventh inning today enabled Brooklyn to turn an apparent 5-to-3 defeat into a 13-to-6 victory. In the fifth Casey's homer with two on bases gave the visitors their three-run lead.

Failure of Pittsburgh players to take advantage of unusual situations gave Brooklyn five in the seventh, and similar mistakes gave them five more in the eighth. The score:

SEATON BEATS THE TINKERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—Seaton's twirling, backed up by splendid support, especially by Becker and Doolan, whose sensational work deprived the visitors of several hits, enabled Philadelphia to defeat Cincinnati 2 to 1 today. Lobert made three safeties, including a home run and a double, in four times at bat, and scored two of the home team's runs. The score:

Good baserunning gave the locals the lead in the early part of the game, but after the sixth inning Overall's curves were a puzzle which the Boston batsmen could not solve. The score:

JOHNSTON DEFEATS CRACK EASTERN TENNIS STAR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, July 21.—William Johnston, the 18-year-old San Francisco can who came out of the West with a reputation as another of the sensational California tennis stars, established his position in the East as a player of high rank today when he eliminated Gustave F. Touchard, the speedy New Yorker, in the second round of the Longwood Cricket Club's twenty-third annual tournament for the Longwood cup. The scores were 3-6, 11-9, 6-4.

It was not only the young Californian's first visit East of the Rocky Mountains, but his first important match on a grass court, as well. He was confused in the first set, but the stage fright passed off, and from the second set on, it was a contest of almost equal strength and skill.

Several times Touchard was within a few points of winning, but his opponent fought him off and won out in twenty games. Touchard established a lead of four games to one in the third set, only to have Johnston, playing the best game of the match, win out five successive games.

One of the surprises of the second round was the victory of Dean Mathey of New York, the intercollegiate champion, over Robert Leroy of New York, at 3-6, 6-2, 8-6.

DISGUISED BALL PLAYERS IN RIOT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—One policeman is in a hospital, two others are nursing bruises and awaiting new uniforms, and part of the Union League baseball park is a wreck today as the result of a riot at a Sunday baseball game when 4000 enthusiasts discovered that a team of "bloomer" girls were men in disguise. The team was taken to an east-bound train under police protection. A half hour before the storm the manager of the "girls" acquired the gate receipts and had disappeared.

The team was so successful here four weeks ago that it returned for a second appearance, the opposing team being an amateur organization from Laurel, Md. The trouble began when the "girls'" center-fielder, a husky young blonde, threw a ball from deep center to home plate, catching the runner. The spectators grew suspicious.

A moment later a boy slipped up behind the supposed divinity at third base and gave her golden locks a vigorous pull. They came away, revealing a chunky young man with an elaborate make-up ending just above his eyebrows. The team fled through a storm of bottles and bricks to the shelter of the clubhouse, where the police massed.

The crowd then stormed the ticket windows, demanding their money back, venting their ire on the park property.

Several persons were hurt and a number of arrests made.

WHO KNOWS WHY.

More new ideas are being advanced every day for the death of many fish in Bear Valley Lake. One sport says it is on account of the lake being lowered by the great demand for irrigation water in the Redlands section. Another one advances the idea that many fish are killed by being swept against the screen at the dam. In any event the Fish and Game Commission has been asked to investigate the cause.

UP TO CAMPI TO GET BUSY.

"If I don't hear something from Campi this week," said Manager Sam Harris yesterday, "I'm going to take Kid Williams and beat it back East. We can get lots of fights there.

"We're not going to chase after Campi, for we don't have to. If Campi wants to fight us here August 12, or any date, he will have to show me this week. We beat him once and if he wants a quick chance at the bantam title, he'll have to hurry."

Who should furnish some thrills in the Long Beach tennis tourney next week, when playing with his old side kick, Bill Bacon.

LANGFORD BOUT CALLED OFF.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There will be no Miller-Langford bout in this city on Friday night. The Supervisors put the crusher on the scheduled bout late this afternoon.

Resolutions calling for the prevention of the proposed four-round contest at Dreamland rink were offered at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors this afternoon. When forced to a vote, after a statement by Supervisor Hillmer that notification already had been given the club that the contest could not be held, the motion to adopt the resolution was lost, 10 to 4, several of these voting against the adoption stating that favorable action would be meaningless in view of the course already taken by the Police Committee.

G. E. Gallagher, who introduced the resolutions, insisted upon forcing them to a vote.

The resolutions declared that the proposed exhibition would not be a boxing contest, as one of the principals was known the world over as a prize fighter, and called upon the Chief of Police to prevent it and revoke the license of the club if an attempt was made to hold it in spite of the order.

ARBOGAST RELEASED.

OMAHA, July 21.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] President W. A. Rourke of the Omaha Western League baseball club today announced the release of Charles Arbogast, who has been manager for the Omaha team for the last two seasons. Rourke will manage the team himself. Arbogast goes to the Los Angeles team of the Pacific Coast League.

Many Entries.

LONG BEACH TOURNAMENT WINNERS HARD TO PICK.

BY W. M. HENRY.

ENTRIES are rolling in in large numbers for the Southern California tennis championships at Long Beach. Even a greater number of entrants than had been expected have signified their intention of entering the competition.

A large number of new teams, together with the best from among the older combinations, are to be found among the entries in the men's doubles. Nat Browne and Jim Duncan will defend their title in the doubles and if they play up to the form they showed last year when they defeated the Rogers brothers in the challenge round they should win the title for the third time.

Tom Bundy and Ward Dawson are going to take another try together. In the Pasadena tournament and the handicap tourney at the Los Angeles Country Club they did not show much brilliance except in spots, but it is rumored that they have found the combination and are playing a vastly-improved game.

OLD-TIMERS.

Sinsabaugh and Wayne, winners of the handicap doubles tournament at the Los Angeles Country Club; Will Bacon and Gerald Young, who represented the south in all the northern tournaments last year, and Lewis R. Freeman and Hal Gorham are all old-timers of considerable class.

Among the new combinations one of the most dangerous will be that of Cliff Herd and Herb Lockwood. These two young gentlemen are old-timers at the game in spite of their years and have been playing in the East for the past three years. Both of them are tall, rangy and brilliant players and form a right and left-handed combination like that of Willie Johnston and Ellis Fotrell.

Another good combination of youngsters is that of Marshall Ketchum and Emory Rogers. Ketchum needs no introduction to local tennis fans. His sensational work in all of the local tournaments during the past two years has won him a place in the first rank of the younger players.

Emory Rogers last year won the State interscholastic singles titles and also grabbed the doubles title with Joe Ball. He played a great game, being steady and yet brilliant. These two youngsters should make a great combination, as they fight for every point until the match is over.

COLLEGE MEN.

Warren and Huntington are the first and second men from the University of Southern California. Last year Huntington, representing Occidental College, defeated Charley Rogers of California in the open singles and this year has improved considerably.

HARD TO DOPE.

Kenneth Newell and Ralph Noble form another combination hard to dope. Newell is another sensational and erratic young man. Two years ago he was playing wonderful tennis at times and was getting fairly consistent, but of late has not been doing so well. If, however, he shows the form that he displayed in the last tournament at Long Beach he will cause a good deal of anxiety to his opponents.

The Pedley brothers of Riverside have been showing good form in the Venice tournament and may surprise the old-timers in the tourney. They have a good reputation in the Orange Belt and have a good chance to show what they can do in fast company.

The other events are drawing large numbers of well-known players. The ladies' singles will have the largest number of entries that ever appeared in an event of this kind. Mrs. Bruce will defend her title in the challenge round and will probably meet her sister, Florence Sutton.

The junior singles and special handicap singles will be sort of free-for-all affairs, as it is almost impossible to get a line on the abilities of the various entries. The handicap tournaments in the South during the past year have been a huge success and the Long Beach event will not be an exception to the rule.

Eugene Warren is the question mark of local tennis. He is the most brilliantly inconsistent player since the days of Winnie Mace. Though not as good as Mace he is capable of playing a great game at times and with Huntingdon's steadiness should make a good showing in the tournament.

JUNIOR CHAMPS.

If Roberts and Dedrick, the sentional northern junior team, come south for the tournament there is a likelihood of more reversal of the dope. These two youngsters have twice won the junior doubles championship of the Coast and have each held the singles title. In addition to this each of them has made a good showing in the open events so that when they get into action down here a new factor will enter the tournament.

Ellis Fotrell is almost certain to make the trip. He has no doubles partner at this time and will probably pick one up down here. There are several hanging around loose who would combine well with him. Allyn Barber of Los Angeles High hasn't yet found a partner and at the rate he is going to the present time Fotrell could do much worse than to take him.

Cate and Harnett will uphold the honor of Long Beach. Harnett has been playing in tournaments for some time, while Cate was formerly singles champion of Long Beach High and was first singles man for Pomona College this year. This team will bear watching.

GOOD SCORES IN RELIABILITY RUN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MINNEAPOLIS (Minn.) July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Final returns in the reliability automobile run from Minneapolis to Glacier Park, Mont., in reality the Glidden tour, under another title, show the following winners:

A.A.A. touring car prize—Locomobile, Dr. J. D. Park, Duluth, Minn.

Glidden trophy—Metz team of three cars, of Boston.

Perfect scores—Three Metz cars, No. 10, Krit; No. 20, Locomobile, Nos. 14 and 15, Hupmobiles.

The tour was begun under most adverse circumstances, heavy rains rendering the roads heavy and treacherous. Later stages of the journey were delightful, but a hard test for cars in traversing mountainous districts.

FOR LIPTON CUP.

SAN DIEGO (Cal.) July 21.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The annual race for the Lipton challenge cup now held by the Aeolus of the San Diego Yacht Club, will be sailed in the ocean, off Coronado, tomorrow. The entries: Aeolus, San Diego Yacht Club; Gretchen, Chula Vista Yacht Club, and Alert, Wasp, Mischief I, and Columbine of the South Coast Yacht Club of Los Angeles. The course will be twice around a six-mile triangle. The race must be finished within three hours.

TY COBB WOULD LIKE CHANGE.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, July 21.—Despite his $12,500 salary, Ty Cobb is dissatisfied. He would "welcome a change" which would make him a member of some team other than Detroit, he wrote to a friend in a letter which was received here today. Discussing the report that he was to be traded for Speaker of the Boston Red Sox, Cobb said he would like very much to play in Boston, but did not think Boston would part with Speaker.

"There are two other American League cities in which I would like to play," he added, but did not state which two he meant.

ATHLETICS BUNCH HITS; WIN WEIRD CONTEST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, July 21.—Philadelphia by bunching eight hits with a sacrifice in the sixth inning won a weird contest from St. Louis, 11 to 8. St. Louis started the scoring with a run in the second, and in the next inning Compton hit for a home run. The visitors made three in the fourth.

In the sixth inning, after three runs had been scored off Wellman, Stone was sent in to pitch, but he failed to stop the rally, and when the inning was over three more runs made victory certain for the leaders. The score:

Titus Wad Has Been Jumping at Conclusions Again! —By Gale.

Fight Gossip.

ATTY BALDWIN'S RECORD IS WONDERFUL TRIBUTE.

TY BALDWIN may not be a holder of the lightweight championship of the world, but he is any boxer in the business a better record than that of the champion he has yet to get his big hooks. Baldwin has met all comers of any renown at all during the last twelve years and has never been near the count of one.

Joe Rivers, the Bostonian has met and defeated such men as Willie Ritchie, Knockout Brown, Grover Jim Driscoll, Owen Moran and Young Sharkey. He fought Ad Wolgast and Joe Mandot once or twice at their best, and in each instance got a draw. Baldwin fights with all the top-notchers and never being down long enough for the referee to start counting over him is some record.

Ad's Last Chance.

Ad Wolgast doesn't come through with Jack White's proposition to put up $1000 at 3 o'clock, Uncle Sam will quit arguing with the ex-champ and give the fight to Tommy Houck or Johnny Kilbane, both of whom are very anxious to get a fight here. Abie's popularity is increasing as his ability is decreasing.

Fighters Work Out.

Baldwin and Cross felt amateurish yesterday afternoon and as a result sparring partners suffered at the same today. Baldwin and Jack Dougherty and Johnny Kilbane the seven rounds, while Cross went with Louis Reese and Jack Wilson, but, according to reports, not enough action into the bouts for seven ordinary scraps.

Fighting Evened Here.

Jack Dunfee, the hospital champ, has pointed out here to recuperate after a shock that if the bantam champion of the world and heard the complimentary things Kid McPartland and Sammy Harris are saying about him, he would rise from his bed of pain and slam them with a crutch or any other available weapon.

Baldwin Impresses.

Matty Baldwin is inspiring such confidence by his workouts that it is rumored that many people are willing to bet that he stops Cross before the limit. The rumor is all over town, but the willing gentlemen have so far failed to put in an appearance, as Sam Wallach is said to be laying for them with a wad as big as a barrel. If they don't show up pretty soon Sam will get after them with detectives, as he thinks it would be one really soft bet.

Frenzied Finance.

Hobo Daugherty and Kid Dalton have jumped on their own feet by demanding a mortgage on the Flatiron building and a half-interest in the Standard Oil Company for their end in the semi-windup to the Cross-Baldwin affair. As a result of their frenzied finance they have been left off the bill and two six and two four-round bouts substituted.

Dundee Gets Offers.

Scotty Monteith, manager of Johnny Dundee, the human flea, has received offers from New Orleans and Butte, Mont., for twenty-round fights with Charlie White. Scotty thinks that the offers look good, but is staving off an answer in the hopes of landing a match with Ad Wolgast here for Admission Day.

Weekly Doings.

Monday, July 14—Sammy Harris claims the bantam championship.

Tuesday, July 15—Manager of Kid Williams claims bantamweight title.

Wednesday, July 16—S. Harris says Kid Williams is the bantam champ.

Thursday, July 17—Kid Williams is bantam champion, according to his manager.

Friday, July 18—Bantamweight championship claimed by S. Harris.

How About This?

OUR SHOOTING MAY BE PREVENTED THIS YEAR.

BY GREY OLIVER.

Sportsmen and amateurs who are figuring on a long season of shooting ducks, will doubtless be disappointed to learn that the new regulations that go into effect August 11, will prevent all duck shooting.

It seems to be up to the hunters to prove that the dove is not a migratory bird and if they cannot, that toothsome little birdy will also be put in the five-year closed class. This is hardly likely, however, for it is not believed that the dove migrates to any adjoining State every year.

Dove hunters will apparently be benefited by the new law that is to go into effect August 11, for it will extend the open season to November 1, the closed season under the present or old law, beginning on October 15.

The steelhead trout season will be extended one month, or until December 1.

On the face of things, it would appear that there will be no duck shooting this year, unless the government backs down from the position it has taken. It is understood the Fish and Game Commission will announce the final decision of the government as soon as possible.

ANGLERS SHOULD BE CAREFUL.

One of the provisions of the new fish and game laws that go into effect August 11, may prove of great interest to those who fish for trout in Bear Valley Lake.

This is the little statement that "it is unlawful to take any trout within 300 feet of the mouth of any stream flowing into any lake." This will be interesting news to those that have been in the habit of fishing in Bear Valley Lake where any stream runs into it. The safe way would be to get a written opinion from the Fish Commission.

JOHNSTON BEST BASE STEALER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jimmy Johnston still leads the Coasters when it comes to stealing bases, and with a total of three last week against the Beaver lads holds his lead of twenty-three for the best. Maggert also "got by" with three steals. Leard stole four and is just one point behind Maggert.

It's the same story over again with the baseballers in the same relative places, none having shown enough form in bag-swiping to even worry the San Franciscan.

MIXED BOWLING REVERSES FORM.

PAIRS IN CONTEST BRING NEW FIGURES.

Mr. and Mrs. Ballard Capture First Prize in Double Event, While Mrs. Scott and Mackenzie Stop at Lower Rung—Turner and Wife Lower Than Usual.

Grover Ballard and his wife returned to form last night at the Orpheum Alleys, bowling over 1041 pins in three games of the mixed doubles tournament, and taking first prize by a margin of twelve pins.

Mrs. Pierce and Harris rolled 1029, and annexed second prize; the third was captured by Miss Palmer and Taylor, with 1023; Mrs. Todd and Stasch ran them close, taking fourth perquisite on 1014.

Mrs. Johnson and Meador made 965, Miss Scott and Strawn 946, Mr. and Mrs. Turner congratulated themselves on escaping the bottom with a total of 905, by reason of the mixed double champions. Mrs. Scott and Mackenzie, achieving only 853.

In explanation of the latter figures, Mack only remarked that it was "hard sledding."

Both Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Todd showed well in the prize winners, being comparatively new to the local alleys.

Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Ballard, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Pierce and Miss Palmer entered for a ladies' single tourney immediately following.

FIGHT PICTURE SUIT IS ON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Litigation over the right to show the moving pictures of the Ritchie-Rivers championship contest on July 4 in San Francisco, entered its second stage today with the filing of an answer to Ritchie's suit for an injunction to restrain William Kyne and Lawrence Meehan from exhibiting the pictures.

The defendants, proprietors of a house where the pictures are being shown, deny in their answer that Ritchie is a boxer, and declare that it is a notorious fact that he is a prize fighter and so-called lightweight champion of the world.

They deny that the contest was an exhibition of skill or science, and assert that it was a fight and not a sparring match.

Ritchie, admitting that defendants had a right to take the pictures under authorisation from Eddie Graney, promoter, denies that they have a right to exhibit them without arranging for his, Ritchie's, consent.

A settlement was made by the defendants with Joe Rivers.

THE CHAMP WINS.

LONDON, July 21.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Ernest Barry of London, champion professional sculler of the world, successfully defended his title today by defeating Harry Pearce, champion of Australia, by two lengths over the famous course from Putney to Mort Lake on the Thames. Stakes of $5000 accompanied the title. The Australian led during the first part of the race, but Barry took command at Hammersmith bridge, at the middle distance.

SPORT SLANTS.

UNCLE FRANK DILLON and Hank Berry are both of the opinion that this is by far the cruelest world they ever lived in. Talk about slumps and tabboggans and skidding on the turns, the Angels have every one of these stunts licked to a whisper. Now the great question that is being propounded from one end of the Rialto to the other, naturally is, what for?

Far be it from me or anyone else to sit in the shade of the grand stand and tell the old warriors how to play the national game, they know more about that in a minute than we do in a life time, but there seems to be one thing that is hurting the seraphic band and that is the sense of gloom that hovers over the team. The men go to and from the bench with their faces like thunder clouds, there is none of the joy army present, and without joy and happiness no man can do his work well. True the team is probably on a nervous strain and all frazzled out, but have you ever seen any exuberance of spirit on the Angel bench? If so please write.

Matty's Old Shirt.

Matty Baldwin caused a sensation in his Sunday's workout with Shiff and the Hobo, and all the fans are yelling that he is the greatest fighter that ever hit the West Coast. Fine, but one would hardly take the persons of Shiff and Hobo to form any definite line of comparison, or establish any criterion.

Matty has a new way of creating excitement. Ad Wolgast and others, too numerous to mention, always did their training in highly-colored wearing apparel, in fact their persons looked a great deal like a fashion show window. Not so with Mr. Baldwin, he blows into the center of the stage in an old woolen undershirt, moth-eaten tights and other worn apparatus. At once everybody says this is no stuck-up guy, he is a regular little fellow all for the work thing, and when he raised a lot of dust by side-stepping, the gang was with him.

We hate to say it, but I once heard Matty say that he did not believe in training for a fight either too long, or too much, or too hard, but he likes to create the impression that he is working like a little brown bear. Now to a person of an inquiring turn of mind, just where do we all get off?

Road Work in Bed.

Leach Cross is another who thinks that too much training is very bad for one's well being, well it may be, but it helps a lot in the last four rounds of a battle, as Mr. Cross would probably have found out had Bud Anderson not dropped a seed in his appendix prior to the battle.

In speaking of training the other day, one of the rail birds was unkind enough to suggest that Leach should not give up the road work, as it is about the only thing that really developes the wind.

Leach said that he did not feel the need of it as he was naturally fast on his feet, but maybe us guys didn't know it but he spent half an hour in bed every morning, stretching his muscles and taking exercises supposed to develop one's frame. Lovely and also very soft, but look out for the slats and the springs, something may break one of these days.

Backstops Getting Wise.

Why is it that we cannot find enough catchers for the baseball teams of the country? The managers are growing bald, worrying over the situation, the owners are fretting and fussing at the managers and altogether it is a nice state of affairs, a great herd of nannies have gone astray and nearly all the great diamond generals have worked up an aggrevated peeve.

Now I wonder if any of the wiseacres have stopped to figure out that perhaps these young and old men, who have been standing the battering behind the bat for years, have not been such terrible examples to the members of the rising generations, that the youth of our land would rather be big league pitchers, shortstops and outfielders, but not catchers, with warped thumbs, fingers and cracked shin bones. I know that they would have to pay more than is in the national treasury to get the author of Ham's Hammer out there and he is a willing young man at that.

While speaking of baseball it would be well to note that the injuries that have fallen to the lot of Metzger and Boles have put a crimp in the Angel corps. If two men drop out, should it incapacitate a class double A club? It would seem that the aggregation did not start with the proper amount of "fur lining," you can never tell when you will be misfortune's favored child and all the great generals in history always figured on a little of the reverse English stuff for a season's campaign.

Nix on This; Look Up.

It has been suggested that if the Seraphs cannot go on the field without looking down their several noses and croaking like the Raven, "never more," that the bunch be sent to the beach before the next game, forfeiting the battle to the enemy. They might just as well, this "melancholy day" stuff has 'em licked before the first inning. We all believe in the gospel of "another chance," but please don't work it over time.

The Slumpers Meet.

The next diamond struggle is to be between the Berry crew and the sliding Seals. It should be a great series and there are about a million angles to work from.

First, somebody has got to win the games and at the present gait of the two clubs, it don't look as though the win bug was in either system.

Second, the Angels think that the Seals will be a fine bunch to blow the "down brake" signal on.

Third, the Seals think the same way as the Angels.

Fourth, both teams are "allin" and full of grouches, so it will probably be a case of every man for himself and the devil take the hindermost and it looks as though there would be a good crop for his Satanic Majesty.

WESTERNERS ARE PICKED TO WIN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first day of play in the National Clay Court tennis tournament, which started on the courts at the Omaha Field Club this morning, gave Strachan and Griffith an excellent showing, and predictions are that Strachan and Merrill Hall of New York will meet in the finals in singles. In the doubles, which start tomorrow, Strachan and Griffith, with Jones and Hoerr of St. Louis, seem to be the favorites. Hoerr, who won the Missouri Valley championship at Kansas City last week, is also a formidable contender for the championship in singles.

VALUE OF MOTOR FREIGHT HAULAGE.

W. A. Lee of Troy, N. Y., the owner of a KisselKar truck that has been demonstrating convincingly the value of motor haulage, comments interestingly and with solid sense on the unjust assertion that motor trucks ruin the highways.

"Stand on any State road after a three or four days' rain and watch a farmer coming in with twenty-five barrels of potatoes and equipped with a one-and-one-half or two-inch tire worn round and see whether it will cut in or not. Then along comes a heavy touring car equipped with chains, running in the same rut, throwing cement, if there ever was any, in all directions. After that comes our KisselKar truck with its one-foot tire and packs down and smoothes out the rut. Watch the truck come up the road at ten or twelve miles an hour, for there is a governor which regulates our speed. We can't go faster. Then decide which vehicle injures the road the most."

CUB PITCHER SERIOUSLY ILL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charley Smith, the tall right-hander of the Cubs' pitching staff, did not accompany his team-mates to Philadelphia tonight, illness of a critical nature preventing the journey. During the final game between the Cubs and Boston here this afternoon, Smith complained to comrades on the bench of pains in the region of his heart.

He was carried to the clubhouse, where Dr. Hart, Cubs' trainer, examined him. Smith was stone cold and limp when he was assisted to the automobile and whirled to the Copely Square Hotel, where he was left in the care of a physician. One Boston doctor said his illness was due to stomach trouble, but Trainer Hart asserts it's a recurrence of the sickness Charley had when he was overcome by heat after a game at Cincinnati early this month.

NO SURPRISES IN OMAHA TENNIS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA (Neb.) July 21.—The preliminary, the first round, and part of the second were played off in the fourth national clay court tournament which opened at the Omaha Field Club today. Ninety-six players entered from all parts of the country. The play today was slow, with no surprises for the large gallery which witnessed the games. The weather was temperate for the racquet wielders and they had no difficulty in going into two or three games. Tonight they were the guests of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben.

Following are the scores:

In the first round, J. Strachan, San Francisco, beat J. H. Chandler, Kansas City, Mo., 6-3, 6-2. C. Griffin, San Francisco, beat J. M. Madden, Omaha, 6-3, 6-3.

In the second round J. Strachan, San Francisco, beat H. A. Oldham, Winner, S. D., 6-1, 6-0, and Clarence Griffin, San Francisco, beat George Riley, Omaha, 6-4, 6-4.

SPEAKING OF VETERANS.

It is authoritatively stated that the combined ages of the major league umpires amount to 429 years. Subtracting the 229 that must be divided among J. Sheridan, H. O'Day and B. Emslie, there is a balance of 200 to be cut up among Evans, Egan, Dineen, O'Loughlin, Hildebrand, Ferguson, Connolly, McGreevy, Quigley, Brennan, Eason, Klem, Orth, Rigler and Byron. The average of these latter is, therefore, a trifle more than thirteen years.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] King Harl Maggert is still reigning over the court of Coast League batsmen. The Angel is right on the increase in his batting average. Last week he improved a couple points as he also did the week prior. The southerner's total is now .317 per cent., and from the pace he has been setting for the Coasters, he evidently intends to remain at the top of the list:

GOOD SCORES AT GUN CLUB SHOOT.

The Los Angeles Gun Club had a very enjoyable shoot at the Venice grounds on Sunday and even though there were other attractions, about fifteen gunners were on hand. It was merely a practice shoot and what might be called the feature of the day, was the shooting at doubles, which almost everyone tried his hand at. C. E. Groat was high at this, with ten out of twelve doubles.

Some of those present shot from the sixteen-yard line on the yearly prize shoot, and others also took a chance from the twenty-one-yard line. The work from the longer distance was generally good.

The big shoot will be held next Sunday under the jack rabbit system, and a large crowd of shooters will be on hand.

BASEBALL TAKING WITH THE JAPS.

All Japan is showing a growing interest in baseball, which is fast becoming the national sport of the country. Count Okuma, the veteran statesman; Baron Sakatani, Mayor of Tokio, and others equally prominent have thrown the opening balls at a number of contests, including those between the nines from Leland Stanford University, California, and the nines from Keio and Meiji universities of Japan. When the Stanford boys were visiting Osaka, Toshitake Okubo, Governor of the Prefecture, personally opened the series.

Gov. Okubo is a brother of the present Foreign Minister, Baron Makino, and is a Yale man. He says he was one of the first players of baseball in Japan, which was played as early as 1885 in Tokio, introduced by Americans in the employ of the government. Mr. Okubo names a number of Prefectural Governors and Ministers of state as his old playmates. "At Yale," he declared, 'I was an enthusiastic fan."

Baseball is not confined to the universities of Japan. There is no professional league, but athletic organizations in various parts of the empire have formed nines and the public is enthusiastic in support.

The Stanford players were greatly impressed with the skill of the Japanese players and declared that baseball, although peculiarly an American game, is admirably adapted to the Japanese, who are quick in their movements and quick thinkers on the diamond.

SOUTH COAST YACHTS SURPRISE

White Wings Arrive Before Any Are Awake.

Early Arrival Gives Another Day for Regatta.

San Diego Sailors Entertain Visitors With Eclat.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sunday was indeed a day of rest for many of the sailor lads who made the fast run from San Pedro to San Diego in the race and cruise of the South Coast Yacht Club. Arriving at daybreak unattended and unannounced, the visitors hurried ashore without the customary work of putting the ship to rights. Many of the boys were worn out, after a hard night's sail with little sleep when off watch, and some good "sleeps" were indulged in at the dormitory of the Coronada Yacht Club and at Tent City.

Although taken completely by surprise and their plans for the reception of the visitors upset, the representatives of the San Diego and Coronado Yacht Clubs were soon on the job. Commodore Herman at the Hotel Del Coronado and Secretary Dort at Tent City looking out personally for the needs of the guests.

Sunday afternoon some rare sport was had in the inner bay on the cat boats and "one-designers," a large fleet of the white wings being out in the unusually brisk winds. A number of the visitors spent the day sightseeing while others were entertained by friends.

Secretary E. W. Dort and Mrs. Dort entertained at a dinner party Sunday noon, the guests being Commodore and Mrs. C. E. W. Hubbell, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Rhoades, Mr. and Mrs. Sumner of the Chula Vista Yacht Club, Miss Lila Hubbell and Rex Hubbell.

Secretary Dort was much chagrined because the fleet sneezed in so early, all of the boats making the run from San Pedro in less than seventeen hours. Captain Dort, who is an able seaman, returned from San Pedro with Mrs. Dort from their honeymoon trip in his fast sloop Viking a month ago, consuming just fifty-two long hours on the trip down, so he feels that seventeen hours is entirely too short a time to make the trip.

The fact that the boats did arrive so early really gives another day for the regatta and Commodore Hernan is endeavoring to arrange another race, his cup having no place on the programme on account of limited time. Should this race be sailed his handsome cup will go to the winner of a race of 12 miles twice around a triangle two miles to the leg, this course being the same as that used for the other races in this week's regatta. The same rules as that governing the Lipton Cup race will apply.

The Gretchen, owned by Ernest Shields of the San Diego Yacht Club, the defender of the Los Angeles Times cup and the Aeoleus, owned by Frank Wyatt, the defender of the Lipton and Panama-Pacific gold cup, came off the ways this morning spick and span and ready for the week's sailing. Needless to say these boats will be sailed to the limit to protect the cups already held by the San Diego Yacht Club and to annex the new cups offered.

An informal reception and dance given in honor of the visiting yachtmen will be given this evening at Hotel del Coronado. The list of guests include:

Mischief I—Commodore C. E. W. Hubbell, Mrs. Hubbell, Miss Lila Hubbell, Rex C. Hubbell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Rhoades, R. T. Smith, Fred Reinerd and L. Jones.

Columbine—Captain and Mrs. Albert G. Sepulveda, Carl Aspe, Carlos Dodson, Clarence M. Neuner and B. B. Bell.

Wasp—Paul Jeffers, skipper, Sterling Jeffers, Frank Olmstead and John Jeffers.

Clipper—Ben P. Weston, skipper; Wm. Bloeser and Kenneth Carey.

Alert—Captain H. N. Logan, W. W. Bailey, L. V. Brown, Dave Aizner and M. Jeffers.

Arrow—Captain J. Scott Sayre, E. D. Seward and W. R. McDowell.

The Los Angeles Motor Boat Club is represented by Captain Orin S. Weston and Mrs. Weston of the power cruiser Lillian C. and Roy L. DeCamp of the regatta committee.

F. W. Taylor and his daughter Miss Barbara Taylor of the Yawl Trojan are guests at Hotel del Coronado.

ORPHEUM BOWLING TOURNEY SCORES.

Darrow and Steele won the first prize in the doubles tournament at the Orpheum Sunday, their total for three games being 1157. Second prize was taken by Durkin and Hartley, 1104; third by Shay and Kaufman, 1103, and fourth by Ballard and Taylor, 1102.

Competing pairs scored as follows: Young-Stasch, 1073; Graybeck-Phillips, 1070; Burke-Ward, 1065; Mackenzie-Brison, 1038; Harris-Davidson, 1004; Season-Gutting, 996; Turner-Hayes, 873; Blume-Milburn, 834; Grazier-Tetzlaff, 834.

In the single tournament the four prizes were taken, in order, by Taylor, 639; Ballard, 625; Turner, 609; Burke, 593.

Hayes scored 505; Oulette, 366; Milburn, 537; Stasch, 462; Darrow, 433; Steele, 534; Frazier, 438; Hartley, 515; Blume, 554; Ward, 509; Graycheck, 426; Harris, 525; Tetzlaff, 423; Gutting, 460; Young, 497; Shay, 879.

Cy Taylor made individual high score of 1797 for the three events, including the five-man team tourney, won by the Colton Cement Company.

WILLARD TO GIVE HIS HANDS A REST.

"Me fight soon?" queried Jess Willard yesterday, while holding up a Spring-street cigar store with his real beautiful fight suit.

"Not. I'm going to take a rest for awhile, for my hands are not in the best of shape and I see no reason why I should fight until they are in good condition. Too hot now, anyway."

LIMITS EVERY DAY.

W. W. de Camp, R. C. Garland and J. Lahigh returned Sunday from a two days' fishing trip at Bear Creek, and, of course, all of them got the limit every day. Their headquarters were at Clark's place.

SHERMAN INSTITUTE HAS BRIGHT ATHLETIC FUTURE.

IT WAS for football and football alone that the Indians became noted in the athletic world of Southern California, until little Philip Zeyouma, a Hopi from the "great painted desert," romped away an easy winner of The Times' first modified Marathon. His feat awakened the public to the fact that the big government school might possibly shelter real Olympic material.

The victory aroused the students of the institution to such a pitch of enthusiasm that they called a mass meeting and perfected a student organization, that is now known as the Sherman Institute Athletic Association. The membership fee is 50 cents and every student able to secure that amount promptly applies for a membership certificate. The money so raised was to be devoted to sending Sherman entrants to the various interscholastic meets held in Southern California.

The government allows about $300 annually for athletics. This amount is wholly insufficient to place the school sports upon a stable basis. Hurdles, vaulting poles and standards and other track equipment is badly needed by the organization, which despite its healthy development is only capable of raising enough money to defray the expenses of the girls' basketball and the boys' baseball teams.

When the American game was at the height of its popularity on the Coast, Sherman put a team in the field for six successive years, and the Indians proved to be formidable contenders for the Coast championship each season. The names of Neaphus, Boles, Galt, Magee, Lubo, Scholder, Amago and a number of others are still mentioned with veneration by the present crop of aboriginal Americans in their death chant for the grand old game and its departed glory.

Since the demise of football, athletics in competition with other institutions has been confined to the girls' basketball and the boys' baseball teams. Under the care of Joe Scholder they have made enviable records each year against the high schools of the south, in pre-season games. This year the baseball team was of such a high caliber that the Y.M.C.A. officials of Riverside selected them to oppose the Sox in the benefit game played for the local association by Comiskey's men.

The recent remarkable victory of the Sherman Marathon team in the annual Times race has caused such widespread comment in the world of amateur sport that our readers may deem it of interest to know something of the manner in which athletics are carried on at the school.

COMMUNAL ATHLETICS.

There are three or four track and field meets held during the year, the events in each being determined by the equipment. The contestants and teams entered are classified as shop, inter-class, tribe and State. The only training of the participants in most of the events is their natural ability. The showing they make under the circumstances is really nothing short of remarkable. At the Thanksgiving Day meet, Jesse Skye, a student from Oklahoma, ran the century in 10 flat in his bare feet. As equally good time is made in the other dashes considering the handicap of tennis shoes. The distance runs always call out such a large number of entrants that it is absolutely necessary to weed the smaller ones out. Contrary to the general conception that these races are grinds, one has but to witness a five or ten-mile race on the big half-mile track at the school. The big fields always string and the spectator enjoys the rare sport of watching the whole entry in twos and groups craftily maneuvering and battling for every inch of ground. As a general thing these races are won by dark horses, Roscoe Polyemtewa, another Hopi, carried off the honors on the Fourth of July.

FOOTBALL SITUATION.

Football, good old American style, furnishes the amusement during the fall holidays. The Band versus the Ranch, Easterners versus Californians and Pimas versus Navajoes, are the gridiron contingents. Rugby will be taken up by the school teams this fall and given a trial as to its merits.

The athletic association is contemplating a field and track meet this October for the purpose of establishing school records, if they can secure hurdles for the occasion. Albert Ray, the school's famous Marathoner, will try to lower the world's record for ten miles, and his student admirers are confident of his ability to do so. The girls are also desirous of holding a meet on the same day.

The school authorities are seriously considering the advisability of making application for membership in the Citrus Belt League. Such a step, if taken, would go a long way toward solving the problem of placing the institution's athletics on a self-supporting basis.

If the institutions of California would hold a meet at the exposition in 1915, and Sherman succeeds in getting track equipment, the public will be the recipient of another big surprise from the athletes of the government school.

CARS ENTER ROAD RACE.

The Santa Monica Road Race Committee reports receipt of five checks as advance entry fees for the big August 9 race of 445.258 miles, or fifty-three laps of the 8.4011-mile course. Entry blanks will be issued Tuesday, and further race particulars made public.

The cars entered are three Mercers, one Stutz, and one "un-named." The race will be run under Class "E," and more than three cars of one make will be allowed to enter, providing they are entered by private sportsmen.

Present arrangements meet the approval of both owners and drivers, and a big entry list may be looked for.

For the first time in the West it will be possible for the general public to witness a race of this character practically from start to finish. Commodious grand stands and unlimited parking space will afford every comfort. The thorough patrolling of the course will protect spectators and drivers and the Grand Prize record made on the Savannah course is sure to be bettered.

FIRST SQUARE DRY CELL.

The Halliwell Company has put on the market the first square dry cell. It is known as the Halco and an open claim is made for the new product that it will show 40 per cent. more life than any other. In making such a claim W. H. Halliwell, president of the company, makes an open challenge. He is willing to enter into a series of tests to prove that the Halco is the longest life battery. The advantages are the result, it is claimed, of better material and workmanship.

INDIANA TOURISTS ARRIVE AT ELY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ELY (Nev.) July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Indiana auto tourists en route to the Pacific Coast reached this little mountain town this evening after a fast run of 125 miles from Kearney's Ranch, where they experienced a distinct novelty at this ranch, being seventy-five miles from the nearest telegraph, telephone or railroad station.

Many of the party spread their blankets on top of an enormous stack of alfalfa where they spent the night. The roads through Nevada are very good, the nineteen cars traveling forty miles per hour in safety. For at least eighty miles, Sunday, the only person seen by the tourists was a ranchman who was selling gasoline, 60 cents per gallon. The run tomorrow will take the party to Goldfield.

AUSTRALIANS WANT CRICKET.

LOCAL CLUB APPEARS TO BE SOUND ASLEEP.

With No Weekly Practice Games, No Interest and Suffering from a General Debility, the Los Angeles Cricket Club Is Fast Dying, if Not Already Deceased.

The Australian cricket team, which is touring Canada and the United States, and which has beaten every team in this country to date, has sent a second challenge to the Los Angeles Cricket Club for a game in the second week of October. The Australians require a guarantee of $2000 for two games.

The local cricket club has never been in such a bad shape, not even when more than half its members deserted in a body and formed the Santa Monica Cricket Club, some two years ago. The players appear not only loath to turn out for practice, but take little or no interest in the game.

A strong team from San Francisco visited this city last week and arranged to play two matches. Without a single day's practice the local club put a team in the field. It was not a representative eleven and in consequence was badly beaten.

The second match against the northerners was a fizzle from start to finish. Four players turned up on schedule time, but as no lunch had been provided for the visiting team, these were dependent upon one of their team-mates for sustenance in the shape of a large watermelon, which one of their team-mates had purchased.

With the assistance of several spectators, the locals, after a delay of three hours, put a scrub team in the field composed of eight men. The San Franciscans simply smothered this bunch, although Cochrane, Megget, Palmer and Packman tried hard to stem the tide of defeat.

If the locals will only get together and do something in the way of putting the Los Angeles Cricket Club on a firm footing, some excellent cricket may be had, as there are many players who have done excellent service with bat and ball for their university, college, club and even county.

HOGAN NOT AFTER MORE NEW ONES.

"Not looking for any more new players just now," snapped Hap Hogan yesterday afternoon before his departure for San Francisco.

"I'm satisfied with the team and when we get Sterrett we should be in good condition. We've had a lot of hard luck with sickness and injuries, but I think things are improving. Why, up in Portland we lost three games by one run each, and you don't call that bad, do you?"

Artillery and Infantry Vie at Target Work.

Surprise Fire Excellent Test for Young Soldiers.

Crossman Leads in Score on Second Day.

Target work at the regimental camp of instruction, Eastlake Park range, proceeded smoothly yesterday under direction of Lieut.-Col. Saltmarsh and his range officers, the only adverse conditions being caused by fishtail winds, which played spasmodically over and about the 600-yard stretch, thus materially affecting the scores of many contestants in their first trial at that target.

The second and third trials at surprise fire were finished, and one trial at 600 yards, slow fire. Crossman making an unusually high score at both events—145 out of 150 at surprise, and 49 out of 50 at slow fire.

Private Grace, who made 49 at surprise on the first day, though a new man at the shooting game, made the excellent totals of 131 and 44 in the two events.

Scores of the various competitors, after three trials at surprise fire and one trial at 600 yards, slow fire, read in shooting order as follows:

Nelson, 129-25; Carithers, 102-35; Crum, 107-28; Otis, 86-23; Frost, 111-43; Knape, 91-32; Dial, 111-31; Stevens, 124-39; Stoner, 119-35; Miller, 130-34; Fitzgerald, 105-26; Schulte, 134-41; Fraser, 135-42; Webster, 137-42; Williams, 115-40; Burk, 115-23; Rowe, 109-27; Fisher, 98-13; Thomas, 114-37; Thompson, 103-23; Merwin, 123-40; Richards, 94-6; Crossman, 145-48; Demmitt, 122-36; Bayha, 111-23; Lutirell, 79-35; Kneeshaw, 126-42; Doran, 94-14; Denholm, 95-32; Mytton, 96-6; Horton, 112-16; Collinge, 78-7; Dehlin, 108-14; Felsenthal, 124-39; Rhein, 129-45; Cook, 122-32; Mettler, 101-31; Brown, 122-29; Stoner, 128-40; Grace, 131-44; Bush, 116-32; Thornton, 104-22; Erickson, 122-37; Bain, 99-37.

Today should complete the slow fire trials at both 600 and 1000 yards, tomorrow closing the competition with skirmish runs.

Col. Saltmarsh is especially pleased with the system of surprise fire at silhouette target, used this year for the first time, according to the following extract from the official orders for the competition:

SURPRISE FIRE—TARGET D.

"Procedure—At 200 yards, the competitors are assigned to targets in pairs as in slow fire. Before reporting at the firing point, the competitor may adjust his gun sling in any manner authorized in Bulletin No. 3, War Department, January 31, 1913, but the sling will not be passed around the arm or wrist previous to the upward movement of the target at which the competitor is to fire.

"The competitors having arrived upon the firing line, the officer in charge of the line will command, 'With ball cartridges, load.' Each competitor on the firing line will load with the full clip and turn his safety lock completely to the 'safe,' as prescribed in paragraph 139, Infantry Drill Regulations, 1911. He will then take the position of 'trail arms,' as prescribed in the second half of paragraph 91, Infantry Drill Regulations, 1911, the muzzle of rifle toward the target. The competitors having assumed the position of trail arms described above will be assumed to be ready, and the officer in charge of the line will notify the officer in charge of the pit that all is ready on the firing line, after which he will give no further signal until firing ceases.

"The targets will be run up, exposed in position for three seconds, and will then be withdrawn.

"At the first upward movement of his target, the competitor on the right at each firing point will unlock his piece, assume any position, and fire one shot, the use of the sling from the first upward movement of the target being optional with the competitor.

"The competitor will then load, lock his piece, and resume the position of trail as above described, and at the next exposure of the target the competitor on the left will fire as prescribed for the competitor on the right. In this manner the competitors in each pair will alternate in firing until opportunity has been given for firing ten shots by each.

"Each unfired cartridge will be counted a miss, unless the cartridge be defective, in which case for each defective cartridge the competitor will be permitted to fire one shot in accordance with the rules prescribed in Bulletin No. 3, War Department, January 31, 1913, for the conduct of this class of fire. A miss will be recorded for every shot not fired by the competitor when he has been given proper opportunity to fire."

ge Will Not Be Made Until Late in Fall.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
N FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As one of the direct results of changes in the administrative staff of the Western Pacific, in which Benjamin F. Bush succeeds Jeffery as president, and E. Schlacks succeeds Charles S. Schlacks as vice-president, it became known yesterday that C. M. Levey's resignation as second vice-president and general manager of the railway, to go into effect ey has learned from an authentic ce that Levey will terminate his ship as vice-president within a ek—just as soon as the new ship officials familiarize themselves with present conditions on the Western Pacific. It also was learned that Levey, for whose ability President Bush has a profound regard, will remain associated in an executive position with the Missouri Pacific or in some other part of the system, in which it was declared is anxious to find or make a place for him, either on the Missouri Pacific, or the Texas and Rio Grande. Levey is well known in railway circles as a man of special ability and experience. The change stated for him is indicated by a peculiar condition of affairs in the executive staff of the railway. President Bush is to take much of his personal attention from the Western Pacific. E. L. Brown, vice-president, in an operating way, and will devote practically all his time to the road.

Levey entered railway work with the Santa Fe, Burlington and Quincy as a telegraph operator when 15 years of age and was continuously with that road in the following various positions, such as assistant superintendent, superintendent and general superintendent, to January, 1902, when he was appointed general manager of the Missouri Pacific lines of the Burlington with headquarters at St. Louis. He held this position until February, 1903, when he went over to the Northern Pacific as assistant to the president, with office at Tacoma. In June, 1904, he was made third vice-president and May, 1907, his headquarters changed to St. Paul, where he served as vice-president in charge of operation until he came to the Western Pacific in 1909. It is expected that he will remain with the Western Pacific until fall.

DEADLOCK IN STRIKE.

Mediators Meet With Railroad Men in New York, but Reach no Agreement.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, July 21.—The first day of conferences between the Federal mediation board and the two parties to the controversy involving a threatened strike of 8000 trainmen and conductors against the eastern railroads closed with the official announcement tonight that there was no change in the situation.

Judge William L. Chambers, chairman of the conciliation body appointed by President Wilson, said the mediators were "more hopful," however. While both the men and the roads informed the board of their purpose to "stand pat" on the platform of grievances, they want submitted for arbitration under the Newlands act, the mediators say they believe that within a few days the roads may be induced to consent to have only the employees' wage demand arbitrated. Under this plan the roads' grievances would be arbitrated later, after the men have been given formal notice of thirty days. Both the mediators and the trainmen appear to see in this the only way of averting a strike.

The stand taken by the Erie road was discussed at the meeting between the board and the Trainmens' Committee, it was learned tonight. The Erie withdrew its representation in the conference committee of managers last week, declaring it could not afford to raise wages and would not abide by any agreement reached between the roads and the men.

W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, explained the Erie's position, and advised the mediators to confer with the Erie's officials, and induce them, if they could, to return to the managers' committee. A programme bearing on the Erie's case was adopted, as follows:

"The Federal board will ask the Erie officials to return to the conference. If they decline to do this the mediators will ask if they would agree to stand by whatever awards the arbitration board may make, if demands reach that board. If the Erie officials neither will return to the conference nor abide by awards, the mediators will report back to the Trainmen's Committee, with the result the employees made known to Judge Chambers, that the Erie will face a strike at once.

MUTINY AT THE VATICAN.

Swiss Guards Demand Increase in Force, Dismissal of Commander and Other Concessions.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]
ROME, July 21.—The mutinous Swiss guardsmen at the vatican presented today to Cardinal Merry del Val, papal secretary of state, a memorial relating their grievances and the conditions on which they are disposed to remain in the service. The conditions are:

(1.) The dismissal of the commander of the Swiss guards.

(2.) An increase in Swiss guards of eighty to 100.

(3.) The commander and all officers to be chosen from among themselves.

(4.) The abolition of the prohibition against the guards frequenting stores on the right bank of the Tiber and the granting of permission to frequent wine shops.

(5.) A return to the original system of military instruction with the abolition of bayonet drill, target shooting and the climbing of roofs to protect the vatican from imaginary assaults.

(6.) No punishments to be inflicted in connection with the present agitation.

Cardinal Merry del Val afterward conferred for a long time with the Pope in an endeavor to find a satisfactory solution of the incident.

The Swiss guard at the Vatican has existed since it was formed by Pope Julius II. The men are recruited from the Swiss cantons of Zurich and Lucerne and they enlist for a term of five years. They must be at least six feet in height and all of them belong to families in which it has become an hereditary custom to serve at the Vatican.

FIREBUG HAUNTS JOHN D.

Residents Near His Tarrytown Estate Say His Stables Were Burned by An Incendiary.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
TARRYTOWN (N. Y.) July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That a firebug is at work on John D. Rockefeller's estate is the belief of his neighbors. From Saturday until today two attempts were made to burn the home of his sculptor, Emil Selburn, and residents now believe that the Rockefeller stables were set on fire by a firebug three weeks ago.

It is a peculiar coincidence that while Rockefeller had deputies and Burns men guarding the estate he had no fires. Only a short time ago he allowed the last deputy to go, and immediately the fires began. After the Black Hand trouble last fall Rockefeller gave orders to weed out the Italians, and where he used to have 300 and 400 on the estate today he has less than twenty.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TOUR.

SPOKANE (Wash.) July 21.—Officers and directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States were guests at a luncheon of the local Chamber of Commerce today at which Harry A. Wheeler of Chicago and Homer H. Johnson of Cleveland spoke. The visitors spend the afternoon at Hayden Lake, Idaho. They departed for Missoula, Mont., tonight.

Can You Stop Drinking?

Have you drunk until you require just so many drinks each day to make you comfortable and enable you to transact business? If so drink has mastered you and will soon ruin you. You are poisoned with alcohol and will never be strictly sober again until you have proper medical treatment—the Neal Drink Habit Treatment, which is a safe, sure, vegetable treatment that removes the craving and necessity for drink in three days, without the use of hypodermic injections. Don't fool yourself with the belief you will stop drinking, some day, for you will not—you cannot—and you should go, at once, to the Los Angeles Neal Institute, 945 South Olive street, or, 160 Hill street, Ocean Park, Cal., take the Neal Treatment, and be freed from slavery to drink. Call and investigate, or, write or 'phone for book of information, proofs and references. 'Phones: Broadway 4602; A4072. Drug habit successfully treated.

Little Landers' Lecture This Afternoon

W. E. Smythe.

You miss something really worth while, if you do not attend the Smythe House of the Lectures at the Little Landers, 929 South Figueroa Street (opposite Woman's Club House), and hear the full and interesting story of the "Life of the Little Lander."

Come and hear about the men who are making a living with their own hands from little lands, and who are teaching new Little Landers how to do it. It is the teaching of Hard-headed practical men, not of theorists and dreamers, whose knowledge is merely academic.

Then hear about efficiency on the commercial side by means of co-operative buying at wholesale rates and co-operative selling direct to consumer.

You will also be interested in the refinement that goes with this form of life on its social and intellectual side, and of the early dedication of the new "Temple of the Little Lands" among the glorified mountains to the north of the city.

These lectures are free, but if you paid a dollar to hear them, you would get your money's worth.

Remember the dates—every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at 2:30; every Wednesday and Friday evening at 8:00.

Auto trips to Los Terrenitos ("the little lands") every day except Sunday at 1 o'clock; fare $1.00.

The Little Landers are working on the foundations of prosperity and happiness for the masses, and are rapidly creating a renewed and refined life of the soil.

Come and hear William E. Smythe tell the story in his entertaining and forceful way. Free—everybody welcome.

ROMAN CEMENT STILL HOLDS.

The Ancient Mixture Seems to Be Better Than the Modern Article and Never Deteriorates.

[Harper's Weekly:] Twenty square feet of the Roman Wall at Caerwent was demolished recently by a natural movement of the soil. An accident of this kind seems to be the only thing that, in the natural course of events, can really damage a Roman wall, of which there are several hundred miles still standing in England. The secret of their permanence is the cement. We do not know the method of its composition, but it is far sounder than any modern cement. Indeed, when some part of such a wall as that mentioned has to be dislodged it is necessary to use dynamite.

All that we know of Roman cement is that pounded tile forms a considerable element in it. For the rest, Roman walls were built with stone and tile from a cement bottom.

The finest specimen in England is the wall that crosses Northumberland from about Newcastle to Carlisle, keeping along the ridges of a series of small hills that fall sheer to the north. The facing of this wall is still in admirable preservation in most parts, and where the hewn stone has broken away one can see the interior mass of rubble and cement.

The Caerwent fall seems to have been the breaking away of a length of the facing. One may practically say that Roman walls are absolutely enduring, except for the slipping of the subsoil. Nothing touches the cement. It is harder than the stone itself as a rule. But when the subsoil becomes moist and loosens, disasters to the walls are natural accidents.

Production of Grindstones.

[Indianapolis Star:] The value of the grindstones and pulpstones produced in the United States in 1912 was the greatest in the history of the industry, being $916,329, an increase over the output for 1911 of $9023, according to Frank J. Katz of the United States Geological Survey. The increase appears in the value of pulpstones, the value of grindstones having declined slightly, compared with 1911. The grindstone industry, however, is in a normally healthy condition, and although the output for 1910 was slightly below that for 1909 the recent advance in value of production has been steady, barring, of course, the depression in the grindstone and all industries in 1908. The States producing grindstones in 1912 were Ohio, Michigan, West Virginia, Montana and Utah, the production of the first two States named being by far the most important. Ohio, as usual, maintained the leading position in the industry, the value of the grindstone production of Indiana's neighbor being between six and seven times that of Michigan. Ohio also produced pulpstones. The value of the imports of grindstones also increased in 1912, amounting to $131,080, compared with $123,727 in 1911. This is the greatest importation during the last five years.

Mike Dolan's Narrow Escape.

[New York Evening Post:] When workmen who are building an apartment-house at Sixty-sixth street and Park avenue left they took ordinary precautions against rain. They covered twenty-four barrels of lime with a sheet of canvas and fastened it down with planks. The rain came and ran through crevices.

Mike Dolan, the watchman, sat on one of the barrels in the early morning hours. He felt very warm and got off to investigate. The next minute there was a roar and the barrel jumped up. The rest of the barrels jumped up and exploded and the wooden containers caught fire.

When the firemen came all hands worked with shovels and threw sand on the lime until it resembled mortar. Then Dolan found another seat.

The Medical View.

[Manchester Guardian:] The company was mostly medical, and a little discussion arose about the conduct of another doctor, who always had afternoon tea served to patients who called between 2 and 5 o'clock. Some of the younger doctors were indignant, and asked if the next thing would be free lunch counters in the surgery. But the oldest doctor smiled cheerfully, "Don't you worry about him. Any man who encourages the public to eat or drink between meals is, consciously or unconsciously, a benefactor to our profession."

"MY WORK IS DONE," IS GEN. TREVINO'S DENIAL.

Gray Warrior Disclaims Candidacy for Mexico's Presidential Chair.

Aged and Feeble, Once Mighty Man of Arms Declares He Is Here Only to See His Son, About to Undergo a Dangerous Operation—Denied that Felix Diaz Will Come to Los Angeles for Conference.

PROCLAIMED as Mexico's deliverer; the Napoleon who might lead that war-cleft country into paths of peace; his advent into Los Angeles heralded as the beginning of a series of important conferences with high authorities on both sides, which may result in the speedy deposition of Huerta and the ascension of a new President, Gen. Geronimo Trevino, himself said to be a candidate for the office, stepped from the Golden State Limited at the Arcade Station yesterday afternoon.

A little group of countrymen headed by Mexican Consul Cuevas awaited the coming. Some expected to see a gold-laced son of Mars; breathing fire and holding the destinies of a republic in a mailed fist. When he came, assisted from the car by members of the party, Gen. Trevino turned out to be a feeble old man, over whose grizzled head nearly four score years have passed. Just from a bed of sickness, his gray eyes are keen and clear yet, and lines of strength remain in the sunken face, but—Trevino will never be President of Mexico, never again lead an army into battle.

He knows this, and although overcome with fatigue granted a brief interview just before seeking his room and needed rest at the Lakeview Hotel. The general does not speak English, but the Castilian shrug with which he disposed of the question, "are you a candidate for the Presidency?" was more expressive than words.

DENIES CANDIDACY.

"No," he replied with decisiveness. "No; I am not a candidate for the Presidency. I am too old. My work is done. I desire, of course, the best for my country. I will not discuss the political situation in Mexico. I have not been there for a month. My health precluded a rapid journey from Monterey, where I live, and we have been long on the road. I am here for no political purpose whatsoever, and do not expect to hold any conferences of a political character. I am here to see my son, who is ill."

Gen. Trevino was reminded that President Wilson yesterday predicted the early fall of the Huerta government. Again the expressive shrug. "That," he replied, "is a matter of opinion. I will not discuss it. I am tired. You must excuse me."

Gen. Trevino's last command was what is known as the Northern Division. He is one of the oldest and ablest officers in the Mexican army; has seen much service, and is the hero of many a battle. His relations with the various governments, including that of Diaz and those which have come after, has been close and personal, and in the present crisis there are many of his countrymen who instinctively look to him for the leadership of which they know he is capable. If he would but say the word; if his years and sickness had not laid their toll upon him, he would be today, in the opinion of prominent Mexicans, the man of the hour in that country.

FELIX DIAZ NOT COMING.

Col. E. O. C. Ord, U.S.A., retired, of Los Angeles, an old friend of Gen. Trevino's, stated that he did not expect to meet Felix Diaz in Los Angeles. Diaz is now on his way to Japan as special Ambassador to thank that country for its recent embassy to the Mexican centennial. Gen. Torres, also of the Mexican army, left Los Angeles a few days ago, after a visit

Two distinguished guests and their hosts.

From left to right, Col. E. O. C. Ord of Los Angeles, at whose invitation Gen. Geronimo Trevino, a noted Mexican warrior, is in the city; Col. Rafael Garcia Martinez, military aide to the general; Gen. Trevino, who denies that he has Presidential aspirations; Manuel Pena y Cuevas, local Mexican Consul to Los Angeles, who welcomed the distinguished Mexican.

Naming Names.

WARM COUNTER-CHARGES TO FORGERY ALLEGATION.

N. EMMETT MAY, manager of the American Disappearing Bed Company, who was recently arrested on a charge of forgery and the issuance of an alleged false statement concerning the affairs of the company, came back at his accusers yesterday with a sizzling statement, in which he charges them with the use of a catspaw, hiring lawyers to do "dirty work" and employing the machinery of justice to railroad a special ticket through a directorate election next week.

May asserts that Dora Holmes, who appears to be the chief witness against him, is not a stockholder, and is no relation to the Holmes family whose members are part of the company. "She was evidently used by the four or five parties who are plotting against me," he says.

May claims that he personally owns and controls twenty times as much stock in the company as the five or six men whom he accuses of an attempt to oust him in their own favor. He names the man to whom he says the alleged "clique" is paying $5 per day to do what he calls their "dirty work" and asserts that he can prove that the prosecution was not undertaken in good faith.

May maintains that the statement referred to was entirely true and correct and that the alleged falsity consists in the elimination therein of "all worthless assets." The charge of forgery he denies in toto.

"It's nothing but a stockholders' fight," said May yesterday. "When I have an opportunity to present my side I will show up the matter in its true light. In the meantime I ask my friends and the public to await the final outcome of the case."

MINISTER ACCEPTS CALL.

Boyle Heights Presbyterians Win a Successor to Dr. Kirkes, Who Was Called to Occidental Field Work.

Rev. Thomas H. Walker of Portland, who some time ago was extended a call by the Boyle Heights Presbyterian Church, signified his acceptance yesterday. Two weeks ago he came to Los Angeles and preached twice for the congregation and took occasion to look over the field. The people of the Boyle Heights Church were much pleased with him and that he was pleased with them is shown by the fact that he went back home and made his arrangements to move to Los Angeles. The pulpit he comes to occupy was made vacant some time since by the resignation of Rev. L. C. Kirkes, who was appointed field secretary for Occidental College.

GIRL A PUZZLE TO ALIENISTS.

ORDERED TO SANATORIUM FOR FURTHER OBSERVATION.

Superior Court Judge and Brain Specialists Thwarted by Demeanor of Young Woman, Who Says She Is Victim of Vicious Attacks by Revengeful Mexican.

Martha Walters, who says she is the victim of vicious and recurring assaults, but whose remarkable stories are openly discredited by the police, will be kept under surveillance in a private sanatorium for two weeks.

This order was made by Superior Judge McCormick yesterday, when the young woman appeared before the Lunacy Commission at the County Hospital. The court and members of the commission, although puzzled by her apparent frankness, refuse to believe her stories.

At the expiration of almost three hours of gruelling cross-examination, the young woman retained her composure and remained an enigma.

Illiterate, phlegmatic, the German girl matched her wits against the keen analytical minds of physicians and lawyers.

The sum total of the alienists' conclusions was expressed by Dr. C. H. Whitman of the Lunacy Commission when he wrote a large question mark on the official blank opposite the question as to what if anything is the matter with the patient.

The case is remarkable. Aided and abetted by relatives and a host of friends, who pin faith to her every utterance, the girl sticks to her stories.

That she herself believes the tales she tells is apparent. The physicians concede that. There is a compelling something about the way she talks, about the minute details into which she enters, that almost forces others to believe her. In the face of this apparent truthfulness are physical facts, which almost, if not quite, preclude the possibility of their truth.

Records show that the girl's stories of attacks date back to 1909, when she lived with her two brothers on a ranch near Lancaster. Later, she says, she was attacked by the same man in Bakersfield.

Interest here in the remarkable case was aroused early this month, when the girl was found apparently unconscious near Forest Lawn Cemetery, Tropico, where her two brothers are buried. When revived she told a weird story of having been attacked by a "giant Mexican," who accused her of having revealed some

War of Words, Wits and Wallops.

Mrs. Ruby Buckminster (left;) Mrs. Minnie Herbeck,

Who figured in a battle that covered five miles yesterday. It began on an interurban car and ended, after two or three encounters on the street that the police stopped, in the divorce court. The fight was over the possession of Mrs. Buckminster's two children.

Personal Encounters.

WOMEN FIGHT ON STREET FOR CHILDREN'S CUSTODY.

A HAND-to-hand battle between two women, in which figured words, wits, fists and other weapons that go to make a spectacular match, covered a distance of five miles on a flying Pasadena car, four blocks through the downtown section of Los Angeles and ended victoriously for Mrs. Ruby M. Buckminster in Judge Monroe's courtroom yesterday afternoon.

It was a fight for the custody of the Buckminster children, Edith, aged 8, and Ray, aged 6, who on July 4 were kidnaped by their father, Charles E. Buckminster, and were just on their way back to the city after passing the interim in San Diego. The father had given them to Mrs. Minnie Herbeck to bring from the Crown City here. It just happened that Mrs. Buckminster was coming to the city and boarded the same car.

When the little boy and girl saw mamma, they were overjoyed and started to join her, only to be detained by Mrs. Herbeck. The mother resented this interference and went after them, taking them by force from their custodian. While the passengers looked on and a few joined in the dispute, the car sped on. Mrs. Buckminster remained in forcible possession of the youngsters until she got off at First and Los Angeles streets.

Mrs. Herbeck called the husband, who was waiting for her to bring in the children and at the corner of First and Main streets the battle became vigorous. Mrs. Buckminster proved her supremacy in more ways than one and came out victorious when the police interfered and ordered the crowd to move on. It moved right along in the rear of the wife and her two children.

At Second and Spring streets, backed by legal talent and other reinforcements, the husband and his aide, Mrs. Herbeck, executed a flank movement and the fight was on again. Once more police interference brought about an armistice and Mrs. Buckminster hurried to the office of her attorney in the Merchants' Trust building. There the dove of peace was coaxed in, long enough to allow the contenders to go from there to court.

Judge Monroe, after hearing both sides of the evidence, declared that the mother had a perfect right to her children since no order from the court had been granted awarding their custody to the father. He reprimanded the latter for taking them from the home of Mrs. A. M. Smock of South Pasadena, mother of Mrs. Buckminster, and returned them to that place until further action in the divorce suit has been heard. He further reordered payment of money overdue for the maintenance of the children.

The fight yesterday was the outcome of a divorce action filed by Mrs. Buckminster last March, in which she charged her husband with desertion and other things. He filed a counter suit charging his wife with sale of their home and use of the money on a trip to New York.

Queer Tangle.

OIL BROKER ARRESTED; EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGED.

WILLIAM MOORE, real estate and oil broker, who was indicted among other directors of the Seaboard Oil and Transit Company nine months ago by the Federal grand jury, was arrested yesterday by officers of Justice Summerfield's court upon a complaint charging him with embezzlement of two promissory notes of an aggregate face value of $22,000. Moore was sitting in Department Nine at the time, listening to arguments in a civil case, involving similar transactions.

Moore, who occupies fine offices in the Van Nuys building, and lives in a beautiful home on Harvard boulevard, did not appear downcast over his arrest. He quickly produced the required $2500 bail and said he was ready for a hearing at once. Owing to a number of criminal cases pending in Justice Summerfield's court, he, as presiding justice, may assign the Moore hearing to some other department.

Moore explained that his arrest was due to a civil suit in which he is alleged to have converted to his own use the two promissory notes in question. He said they were taken by him in payment of an account, and had nothing to do with the various complicated transactions of the oil companies, with which he has been at one time and another connected.

"So far as I have looked into the matter I believe the complaint charging embezzlement amply justified," said Deputy District Attorney Joos. "The two notes did not belong to Moore, yet he converted them to his own use and has never offered to make a settlement."

Moore's arrest may be attributed to information furnished Deputy District Attorney Joos by S. W. Beatty, an oil broker and capitalist.

R. J. Hood, who is attorney for Beatty, furnished some of the particulars upon which the embezzlement complaint was predicated.

FOUR COMPANIES' FATHER.

"Moore several years ago incorporated four oil companies," said Attorney Hood. "They were called the California King, the Canadian Queen, the Great Western and the Canada West Oil companies. Beatty and other Canadian capitalists became interested. The Beatty Oil and Development Company, which has taken over the claims about fifteen miles from Santa Paula, is pronounced to be on a solid basis.

"Finally Moore conceived the idea of consolidating the four companies into the United Canadian Oil Company, with an enormous capital stock. About 1,400,000 shares were sold. Moore got about $140,000 for development work, salaries and other expenses.

"Finally the stockholders, headed by Beatty, employed L. K. Chase to investigate the method under which the company was conducted. There was an assessment of 3 cents a share, which some of the stockholders paid. Suit was brought in the Superior Court."

Hood asserted that Beatty advanced about $18,000 to the California King Oil Company and $2000 to the Canadian Queen Oil Company, for which promissory notes were given. These were made out to Moore and indorsed to Beatty, he said.

After the consolidation, Hood stated that Beatty turned back the promissory notes in order that the United Canadian could start with no outstanding indebtedness. This, he said, formed the basis for the present allegations of embezzlement.

QUEER TANGLE.

The whole affair appears a queer tangle in which the testimony of expert accountants will be needed. The conduct of the various oil companies will doubtless be aired in connection with the forthcoming preliminary examination.

The case against Moore in the United States District Court is set for December 16. In the indictment he is jointly charged with Horace Wilson, J. R. Riggins, Allen G. Nichols, and

FUTURE MELONS PROBLEMATICAL

Union's Financing Will Influence Dividends.

Money Conditions Are Important Issue.

Change in Time Grows in Significance.

Unless there should be a change in plans the next dividend of the Union Oil Company, following this month's disbursement, will undoubtedly be paid six months hence. As to the exact amount which will be distributed to stockholders at that time, that will remain problematical for the present, and dependent to a great degree on money conditions and their influence on the financing of the company. The outlook at present is good, on account of the large increase in the business of the Union, and it is a bare possibility, of course, that the disbursement, following the one for which checks were sent out last night, may be at a higher rate than heretofore. On the other hand the rate may be lower.

"There is at present no intention of cutting or reducing the rate of dividends," said Lyman Stewart, president of the company, last night. "The matter has not even been considered or suggested. Physically the company was never in more flourishing condition. Our profits are larger than ever this year. We are bringing in new wells steadily, and are extending our markets and developing and expanding in every way."

Stewart stated that he did not desire at present to go into the subject of the possible influence of the financing of the note issue on the future of dividends, because of the subject's problematical character. He said that the financing had been arranged for, and that everything appeared favorable for its success.

It may, of course, be decided to pay dividends quarterly later, but this is to be regarded as rather unlikely. There is reason to believe that the Union has made the change in time in order the better to be able to meet its maturing obligations. Indications are that money conditions will be much improved by the first of next year.

The payment of dividends quarterly or semi-annually is generally considered to be a good step for a company as large as Union Oil.

BARNESON'S TRIP.

Coincident with this light on the situation in the Union Oil Company, it was learned last night from a well-informed source that Captain John Barneson, general manager of the General Petroleum Company, was called to London by Andrew Weir, H. C. Hoover and other of the company's foreign interests to have an important conference on the subject of closing up the deal for Union Oil Despite tight money conditions it is said that the foreign interests of the company have succeeded in raising a large sum of money to help put through the deal.

This information would indicate that the General Petroleum may close up its negotiations for the control of the Union soon, provided of course Holligarter & Co.'s negative option on the local company can be purchased. Of course, the rights of the big Wall street concern expire in about a year, but there is good reason to believe that General Petroleum is desirous of establishing itself as ruler of the destinies of the Union before that time.

The General company is hampered at present in its operations by lack of tank steamers, it being reported yesterday that the plant at Vernon had been forced to close down for lack of facilities to take care of the surplus of residuum. However, the pipe line from Bakersfield to Mojave is now operating and the company has an outlet at that point for a large quantity of heavy oil and by-products. The Santa Fe railroad has a contract for all the fuel the petroleum company can furnish.

Beside the matter of tank steamers the General Petroleum would gain a great deal in many other respects by its acquisition of the Union at this time.

There is no doubt, however, that Wall street in so far as it is interested in the deal, is opposed to it, and will seek to prevent its consummation.

LAST DAY OF APPEALS.

County Supervisors Devote Entire Day to Their Duties as a Board of Equalization.

Yesterday was the last day for filing appeals from the County Assessor's rolls upon which the taxes of the current year will be levied, and practically the entire day was devoted by the County Supervisors to sitting as a Board of Equalization. The number of appeals from the assessment was 693, as against 611 last year. The two largest cases considered yesterday were the Mission Land Company and the Southwest Land Company.

The Mission Land Company, represented by its president, L. C. Brand, asked for no specific reduction on about 12,000 acres in the San Fernando Valley, upon which the assessment is $1,250,000. The general objection was made that the assessment is too high and it was claimed that in some instances it was worse than confiscatory. One piece, which was assessed at $100,000, Brand declared can be bought by anybody for $75,000.

"Here, I'll sell it to you right now for $75,000. Come through with some money and find out whether I mean business or not."

He also made specific objection to the assessment of $4000 on an old pipe-line, which has been in the ground for twenty-seven years.

The Southwest Land Company, which owns both the old and the new Vermont Avenue Square, asked a reduction of from $75 to $200 on each lot of their holdings, or about 25 per cent. reduction on their total assessment of $160,000. All cases were taken under advisement.

Consideration of the San Gabriel Protection District contract was postponed to next Monday at 2 o'clock p.m.

with his family here, but according to Col. Ord did not join the Trevino party and has no appointment with that general.

Gen. Trevino, who in addition to his army work has been Governor of Nuevo Leon, but who declares that he has given over all cares of state, is accompanied by his military aide, Col. Rafael Garcia Martinez, and Mrs. Martinez, his daughter, Mrs. Boucher, and Col. Ord.

Back of the visit to Los Angeles lies another story of greater interest and deeper significance to the old soldier than all the engagements of his long life, or even the fate of Mexico itself. Many years ago his son, Geronimo Trevino, Jr., was grievously injured in a railroad wreck. When he recovered his mind was apparently gone. Col. Ord brought the boy to Los Angeles, where he was cared for.

MEDICAL MIRACLE.

Last year a wonderful miracle of modern surgery was performed by three local physicians. The brain cleared and young Trevino, 30 years old now, began retracing his mental processes towards normality. Now the doctors advise another major operation. If it is successful health and mind will be fully restored. It is to decide this momentous question of perhaps life or death for his boy that Gen. Trevino has traveled towards the goal for a month, with many stops and rests. Young Trevino is now under medical care in Hollywood.

The patient is a son by Gen. Trevino's first wife, who was a sister of Col. Ord, a daughter of Maj.-Gen. Ord, commander of the Army of the James and witness of Lee's surrender at Appomattox. Col. Ord has had charge of the youth for many years, but would not assume the responsibility of authorizing the proposed operation. He laid the matter before the general, who decided to come to Los Angeles and see for himself.

The union was made much of at the time and was given international prominence for it united two families in two countries, who had won distinction as fighters. Always the Mexican general has maintained his admiration for his contemporaries of the States, and now he has no sympathy with anti-American demonstrations, but, and the question intruded itself into the interesting group as it awaited room selection at the hotel, what are Presidencies, and principalities, and powers, intrigue or war compared to the potentiality which may restore, in his later years, the son so long denied him? If this be brought about, and it is altogether probable, then, regardless of what may happen on the other side of the border line, the gray hairs of Gen. Geronimo Trevino will not go down in sorrow to the grave.

THOUSANDS PASS CORPSE.

Body Found at West Entrance to Third-street Tunnel — Indications Point to Suicide—Unidentified.

The body of an unidentified man, apparently a case of suicide, was found yesterday within a few feet of the west entrance to the Third-street tunnel. Examination of the body lead the police to believe that the man had been dead two or three days. A pistol beside the body was mute evidence of the manner of the victim's demise.

The discovery was reported by I. D. Kress, No. 711 West Second street, who said a street sweeper had found the body and told him about it. An old coat had been placed under the victim's head. The clothing, new, bore no marks of identification.

The place where the body was found is within a few feet of where thousands pass daily, but the body was hid from view by an embankment.

The man apparently was 40 years old and weighed 180 pounds. He had light brown hair and a heavy mustache of the same color. The police discredit the theory that the man might have been murdered.

HOUSE BLOWN UP.

Mysterious Explosion Shakes the Italian Colony — Family Away. Feudists Suspected.

Another mysterious fire occurred in the Italian colony last night. It was started with an explosion.

The occupants, A. Pateraggio and family, were absent from the little house at No. 605 Clover street when the community was suddenly shaken.

The building was blown into firebrands, causing a total loss. Feudists are accused of the crime.

HEMET PAVING BIDS.

HEMET, July 21.—The City Trustees at their meeting last night opened bids for the $50,000 paving job, which has been in prospect for some time. Six bids were put in as follows: White & Gaskell, Los Angeles, macadam, 10½ cents a square foot; gutters, 18 cents; 7x14 culverts, $1.43; 7x20 culverts, $1.75. Ernest Frenzell, Los Angeles, macadam, 10½ cents; gutters, 16 cents; culverts, $1.25 and $1.50. Rogers Bros., Los Angeles, macadam, 11 9-10 cents; gutters, 19 cents; culverts, $1.80 and $2.25. Conner Construction Company, Los Angeles, macadam, 10 4-10 cents; gutters, 14½ cents; culverts, $1.50 and $1.60. The Johnson-Shea Company, Riverside, macadam, 9 9-10 cents; gutters, 15 cents; culverts, $1.40 and $1.50. W. A. Dentonville, Redlands, macadam, 10¾ cents; gutters, 14½ cents; culverts, $1.50 and $1.60. Taken as a whole the bid of the Conner Construction Company of Los Angeles is the lowest. The Trustees will meet again soon to award the contract.

HEMET DAM WORK.

HEMET, July 21.—The preliminary work for raising the great Hemet dam was completed this week and M. A. Sharp of Los Angeles, who, with a force of men has been running a diamond drill day and night for three months, left yesterday with his outfit for Carson City, Nev., where he will do similar work. Soundings to bed-rock were made in several places, and the preliminary work demonstrated that it is possible to raise the dam forty feet with perfect safety. This will be a very expensive piece of work, but nothing in comparison with the original cost of the dam. Alger Fast, agent for the Ramona Power Company, in whose name the work was done, states that the work was done solely by the Ramona Power Company, which has option on all the Whittier interests in the valley, including the Hemet dam. There is a widespread belief that W. F. Whittier is doing the work, and that the rapid influx of people to the valley has caused him to develop more water. Others surmise that the Ramona Power Company did the preliminary work to determine how much water can be developed with a view of presenting the data to the English syndicate to whom the Ramona Power Company has been endeavoring to sell its bonds for the last year.

LARSON HELD; NO DEFENSE.

Agitatedly Hears Daughter's Damning Testimony.

Attorneys Battle to Prevent Acceptance of Story.

Barber Must Go on Trial on Uxoricide Charge.

Louis Larson, accused of having slain his wife in a lonely spot in the Glendale foothills, was held yesterday by Justice Summerfield to answer, without bail. No defense was introduced. Attorneys Domingues and Geisler confined their efforts to a long cross-examination of the witnesses for the State.

Larson showed great agitation and nervousness, though he would occasionally glance around the crowded courtroom with an air of bravado. From the first he has maintained that he left his wife on Main street on the fateful afternoon of June 22 and that he supposed she was then on her way to San Francisco. He has not advanced any theory of his own as to how the body happened to be found in the Glendale hills.

The courtroom was crowded. Many of the spectators were women who knew Mrs. Larson or who were drawn to the room by curiosity.

Deputy District Attorney Graham, who represented the State, said late in the afternoon that he is satisfied with the strength of the case for the prosecution and feels that conviction is assured in the Superior Court.

Much sympathy was expressed for Luella A. Larson, the 16-year-old daughter, who was obliged to take the witness stand to testify against her own father.

Strenuous objections were made by the defense attorneys to her testimony and after some discussion the Deputy District Attorney said he would let the matter be decided later. He wanted the girl to testify what she has already told several newspaper men—that before her mother left the house with Larson she impressed it on her daughter that if anything happened to her the husband was not to be allowed to go free.

N. B. Yale, conductor of a car that left Los Angeles at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 22, declared he recognized Larson as one of the passengers. He said Larson sat on a seat in the open part of the car with a woman. Yale could not be shaken by cross-examination.

Miss Lulu Carpenter, who supposed the barber was a single man, told of the defendant's visits to her home. She will be an important witness at the forthcoming trial. Larson's professed love for her, in the opinion of the officers, furnishes the motive for the alleged killing.

Other testimony included the identification of Larson and his wife as they strolled along in Glendale by persons living there.

Practically all the evidence is circumstantial, except as to the finding of the body, its identification and evidence along that line.

DENIES ACCUSATION.

Young Man Named by Reform School Superintendent Says He Doesn't Know Missing Girls.

The identity of two men who assisted Christine Neal, Dorothy Swentson and Madeline Hagan to escape from the State Reform School at Whittier early yesterday morning had not been established last night. Nor have the runaways been apprehended.

Superintendent Nelles said yesterday that he suspected Arthur Zellerbach, a salesman for the Zellerbach Paper Company, as being one of the two men who helped the young girls over the wall and had a motor car waiting.

"I had nothing to do with the escape of the young women," Zellerbach said yesterday. "I was not in Whittier at the time they escaped and can prove it. I am not acquainted with them."

A general alarm to the police of Los Angeles and near-by cities has been sent out. Miss Neal was a witness in a recent trial of a man accused of having contributed to her dependency.

Girl a Puzzle.

crime with which he was connected.

According to her story, repeated yesterday before the Lunacy Commission, the girl's alleged assailant was frightened away by an automobile passing.

Her clothing torn, her hair bedraggled with dirt, the young woman says she lay in a semi-conscious condition on the ground all night and the following day.

Police and the county officers failed to locate the mysterious Mexican, who was described minutely by the girl.

Excitement incident to the alleged attack had scarcely subsided when the police of the University Station were called to the residence of the girl's parents, at No. 8312 South Vermont avenue, on July 8, where the girl was reported to have again been attacked, bound and gagged and tied to a sewing machine by the same "giant Mexican," accompanied by a companion.

On July 18, the police, again called to the Walters home, found the young woman tied on the floor. A handkerchief near her had been saturated with liniment. A pillow by her head had been set on fire and a small hole was burned in the floor. A few minutes' delay and the house probably would have been in flames.

The police became suspicious. They searched the house. In the girl's trunk they found two purses and money she said had been stolen on the assailant's previous visit.

The officers who found the girl believe she could have tied herself. She was first taken to the Receiving Hospital, then to the County Hospital, where she has been under surveillance.

Dr. C. H. Whitman and Dr. W. L. Wills, in addition to Judge McCormick, examined the girl yesterday while half a dozen prominent physicians, attracted by the unusual features of the case, sat by.

Dressed in black, her hair coiled about her face, the young woman calmly faced the court and announced her willingness to proceed with the examination without the assistance of a lawyer.

Rev. M. H. Tutzen, the young woman's pastor, appeared in her behalf at the suggestion of the mother and friends.

In broken English, without hesitation, the girl answered every question. She found a ready explanation for every apparent contradiction in her testimony. Her memory of events, words and time was little short of marvelous. She scorned the suggestions that she needed treatment and when the judge suggested that there was something mentally wrong with her she flatly contradicted him.

The general opinion appears to be that the young woman is suffering from an exaggerated form of hysteria. Judge McCormick finally ordered her placed in the care of Probation Officer McCracken, who will see that the girl is kept in a private institution.

HIGHWAY RECEPTION.

East Side Association at Visalia Plans Rousing Good Time for Advisory Board.

VISALIA, July 21.—Preparations are being made by the East Side Highway Association for a rousing reception to the members of the advisory board of the State Highway Commission, who will arrive here this week, and in whose hands lies the final decision as to the route to be followed for the proposed State road through Tulare county. In the party, according to advices from Sacramento, will be J. J. Dwyer, State Harbor Commissioner; F. W. Hatch, superintendent of State hospitals, and W. F. McClure, State Engineer.

Two of the State Commissioners favor the routing of the road along the right of way of the Southern Pacific Railroad from the north to the south line of the county. One of the Commissioners favors locating the line through Hanford, Visalia, Exeter, Lindsay, Porterville and Terra Bella, at the foot of the hills and through the orange belt. As the final decision rests with the board of seven, the votes of the three who will be here this week will finally decide the matter.

Considerable community feeling has been engendered and several embassies have been sent to State officials from the East Side towns.

AUTO MOTORS LOCK WHEELS.

WOMAN INJURED BY COLLISION OF TWO SPEED CARS.

One Machine on Track, Another on Right of Way, Hook Up in Near-Tragedy—Youths Captured After Chase and Accused of Stealing. Ranch Assessments Equalized.

SANTA ANA, July 21.—A Southern Pacific motor car and W. D. Halladay's automobile emulated a three-legged race today when the two hooked together and ran side by side along the S. P. tracks of the Newport Beach line. Incidentally, Halladay's quick judgment and action probably prevented a serious wreck, and possibly saved his life and the lives of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Halladay, who were in the automobile with him.

Halladay was approaching the crossing. He is certain the wig-wag warning signal did not move. The first he knew of danger was when he was within fifteen feet of the track and could see northward past the old cannery building.

Halladay had to think and act at the same time. He turned to the south, expecting to be able to go between the tracks and the signal post. He cleared the post, but ripped off the signal box with his top and would have reached clear running beyond had not the motor car caught up with him and become entangled in the fender.

With the automobile securely hooked to the gasoline motor, the two machines ran together a distance of 110 feet from the street. Halladay thinks the motor car was going twenty miles an hour. The trainmen say it was eight. Halladay says he was going under ten miles an hour until he put on power to get out of the street. Mrs. Halladay's back was strained and she suffered from nervous shock. W. D. is the brother of the county highway engineer.

ACCUSED OF STEALING.

Ernest Marchbank, Robert Woods and William Pierce, all of Artesia, were arrested yesterday at Anaheim Landing on a charge of petty larceny. They are accused of having stolen a woman's $10 Panama hat from a buggy where it had been left by its owner. Deputy Sheriff Devinney had stopped the boys, when they whipped up their horses and tried to get away. Deputy Sheriff Stacey gave chase in an automobile, ran the machine into the side of the buggy and caught the trio. They are aged about 20 years each. They gave bail.

EQUALIZATION.

Before adjournment today the Board of Equalization granted a reduction of $25 an acre on 2600 acres of the assessment of the Bastanchury Ranch Company, north of Fullerton. This was done on the testimony of the Union Oil Company officials that the ranch had been prospected for oil and most of it had been proven to be non-producing. No reduction was made on 250 acres. A raise from $41 an acre to $100 was ordered on sixty-five acres belonging to the F. and W. Thum Company, in the Irvine subdivision.

WILD MOTOR CHASE.

Six Autos Chase Seventh Along Broadway After Man Is Knocked Down.

Six motor cars, dozing along Broadway last night, awoke and gave chase to a fugitive car that was fleeing after striking Robert Elofson at Mercantile place and Broadway.

Leading the pursuers was S. H. Patton, manager of the King Edward Hotel grill, who jumped into an idle car and after an exciting chase caught E. A. McKesson, No. 2116 Violet street, and James H. Blanton. He brought them to Central Police Station.

Elofson, a tourist from Calgary, Alberta, residing at No. 539 South Olive street, was struck down by the auto while crossing the street. After falling the man, the autoists fled up Broadway. Elofson had a scalp wound and torn ligiments in his shoulders.

When Patton commandeered a car to give chase five other motorists followed, the pursuit continuing for five blocks.

INDIFFERENT DESTINATION.

Juvenile Runaways Combine Assets and Start Somewhere, China or Bulgaria—Mother Busy.

Jack Powell, 12 years old, and Johnny Greenhouse, a year older, had $3 by combining assets Monday night and set forth on a triumphal tour. When they left, they were undecided whether to go to Bulgaria or China, each having its attractions.

Mrs. S. M. Powell, Jack's mother, No. 1863 Echo Park avenue, is trying to interrupt the travelers by sending her son's description to the police of all cities in the State. She thinks he is in Long Beach.

Young Powell wears a brown Norfolk coat and knickerbockers, a gray hat and blue soft shirt.

Oil Broker Arrested.

Frank D. McClure with fraudulent use of the mails.

This company of promoters was investigated last November. At the time Riggins, the president of the Seaboard Oil and Transit Company, attributed the digging of postoffice inspectors to fault-finding Canadian stockholders.

Curiously enough, Canadian stockholders are largely responsible for Moore's arrest yesterday, for it was strongly intimated that Beatty was very reluctant to take criminal steps against his former associate.

The Seaboard Oil and Transit Company has title to lands in Mexico which are said to contain oil. The company is incorporated for $10,000,000, shares being quoted at $1 each for outsiders.

Before the hearing of the defendants in the Federal court it is expected that Moore will be tried in the Superior Court if the committing magistrate considers the evidence sufficient to justify such a course. At that time many of the obscure transactions may be brought to light for the benefit of the investing stockholders.

GIRL VICTIM OF JOY RIDE DIES.

ONE OF THREE YOUNG WOMEN IN VENICE AUTO SMASHUP.

Complaints Charging Manslaughter May Be Issued Today Against Two Men Already Held at City Jail on Charges of Having Appropriated Machine—Others Hurt.

Bessie Carson, one of three young women injured in Saturday's spectacular culmination of a joy ride to Venice, died last night at the St. Catherine's Hospital, Santa Monica, of blood poisoning, complications having set in during the lapse of time between the hour of her injury and her arrival at the hospital.

Complaints charging manslaughter may be issued from the District Attorney's office today. Harold Spofford and K. R. Bell are already held at the City Jail on charges of having taken the auto from a beach garage without the owner's permission.

The dead girl sustained a broken leg and bruises and lacerations, but the injuries in themselves would not have caused death had much time not been lost in getting her to medical aid and cleaning her wounds.

Helen Diemel and Sadie Klein, who gave their addresses as Nos. 835 and 853 South Hill street, were cut and bruised in the smash-up.

The machine threw a tire near the Country Club at 1:30 o'clock Saturday morning, causing one of the wheels to break off. Ray Smith, a photoplayer, was also in the car.

A Psychological Rug.

[Case and Comment:] Psychologically woven rugs may be the product of a new industry if a sample rug now in the office of A. W. Harris, president of the Northwestern University, proves a success. In refitting his office in the university building he gave orders that decorations and furnishings be arranged for their psychological effect. Professors of the department of psychology suggested a color scheme.

President Harris said: "We'll prescribe a rug that, viewed from one direction, will make the visitor sad and hurry to get out of the room, while from the opposite side the caller will laugh, grow merry, and prolong his stay and make an endowment. Colors expected to have the 'merry effect' are pink, light blue and orange."

*Many Use Typewriters.

Business correspondence by hand is rapidly growing obsolete. Typewritten letters carry added weight by reason of their neatness and business-like appearance. If your business warrants the purchase of one, you will readily appreciate the great values offered in the "Typewriters" columns of The Times "Liner" section.

Mrs. Fluster—"Dear me, I haven't a quarter to put in the slot of my gas range, and here is my washing half done and no way to heat water nor boil the clothes."

Anty Drudge—"Well, I can't help you out with any change, because I haven't any. But I'll help you in a better way. Here's a cake of Fels-Naptha Soap. Now let's see how soon you can get through with this half of your washing. I guess you've got a surprise in store for you if you haven't used Fels-Naptha Soap."

Fels-Naptha Soap saves the expense of coal or gas to heat water or boil clothes. It saves your strength, and leaves you feeling strong and well, instead of tired to death, after a big washing or a spell of housecleaning, It does your work in half the time it used to take, in cool or lukewarm water, without boiling, hard-rubbing or scrubbing.

Follow the directions on the Red and Green Wrapper. Better buy Fels-Naptha by the box or carton.

Pasadena.

HOPE TO DECIDE ON LANDSCAPE.

Educators to Be Architects for a Day Today.

Eight Men Escape Unscathed in Auto Accident.

City Traffic Ordinance Is Jabbed by Offender.

PASADENA, July 22.—The Board of Education will today inspect the new Polytechnic High School grounds and definitely decide on what improvements are to be made in the way of a lawn and trees. The plans for these are included in the general scheme for the group of buildings, but there are several minor considerations on which the board has not yet made up its mind.

As soon as this inspection is made bids for the work will probably be advertised for, so that the grounds, exclusive of permanent walks, may be got ready by the opening of the fall term of school. Only temporary walks will now be put in, as the ground is soft and will settle considerably.

It is the intention of the Board of Education to make the grounds in front of the Administration Building and between the other two large buildings one of the show places of the city that they may be in keeping with the buildings themselves. There will be a sunken garden extending from a line about thirty feet from the street back almost to the Administration Building. Some trees will be set out but not a great many, and there will be suitable flower beds.

HAVE NARROW ESCAPE.

Eight men came practically unscathed from an accident early yesterday morning in which a heavy truck belonging to the Southern California Edison Company rolled 100 feet down an embankment near Devil's Gate. What is more, the car landed right side up with the engine still going.

Lewis J. Fitzsimmons, who was driving the car when the edge of the road sloughed away and let it go over, remained at the wheel until it came to a standstill. All that saved him from death or serious injury was the fact that he became entangled in such a mass of wire and other material, which at the start downward slid forward onto him, that he was in a sort of large snowball and immune from bumps.

The other men, L. P. Robbins, L. Belden, S. D. Anderson, A. R. Porter, J. S. Jiles, H. C. McClennehen and Elmer Wilson, all jumped when they saw what was about to happen. Only Robbins was hurt. He landed against a tree and was bruised about the chest, and his left leg was cut by the sharp spur of a pole-climber he wore on his right leg. The truck was not greatly damaged.

The Edison Company workmen were on their way to a job in La Canada when, while descending a makeshift road that has been built for use while the Devil's Gate bridge is in course of construction, they met a carriage. The road is narrow and in order to give the driver of the carriage plenty of room to pass them Fitzsimmons took the truck to the very edge of the road. The dirt under the off wheels was soft and almost immediately slid out from under them.

"Look out boys, she's going over," he called, and the others, who were sitting in the rear of the truck, jumped.

The chauffeur attempted to steer the truck around the stones in the course it had taken, but it got beyond his control and rolled over four times.

TEARS ORDINANCE UP.

Declaring that he would almost rather go to jail than pay what he termed an unjust fine of $1 which had been imposed on him by Police Judge McDonald, Benjamin Folsom of No. 727 South Orange Grove avenue, yesterday took a succession of jabs at the city traffic ordinance that left but a few shreds of the law.

"Your traffic ordinance is simply a species of cheap petty larceny," he said after he had been fined on conviction of a violation of the regulation as to where automobiles shall be left standing on the downtown streets, "petty larceny carried on by the city against the citizens. If you will detail an officer to accompany me I will guarantee to have a hundred violators of the ordinance in court tomorrow morning. Your officers enforce only a few sections of the law. Not even they can tell whether or not a citizen is on the right side of the 'dead line.'

"I am going to see the City Commissioners. I can give them absolute proof that the ordinance is being only half enforced. If they are no better than the old City Council we have indeed fallen on evil days. Your Chief of Police himself declares that the ordinance is a stench in the nostrils of your citizens. If the Commissioners heed the voice of the people and amend the ordinance in September, when they will be allowed to by the charter, I can give them valuable pointers on it.

"The stripes that are painted on the pavement cannot be distinguished five days after they are placed there. Signs are the only successful way out of the difficulty. Citizens now don't know, and cannot tell, whether they are violating the law or not. I don't want to be branded as a criminal, but I would rather go to jail than pay such an unjust fine if there were no prospects of relief."

Judge McDonald agreed with Folsom that signs should be put up so that automobilists may know how to treat to street crossings they may come.

SEARCH FOR SISTER.

Ensign Bagley, Camp No. 30, Spanish War Veterans, of this city, has started a systematic search for a sister of a late member of the camp, Frank Tallow, who was killed in the Vineyard Station wreck, who is believed to live in America. It was at first thought that Tallow, who came to the United States from Russia, had no relatives here, but later developments have satisfied the Spanish War Veterans that there is a sister, who is now heir to an estate left by the gardener.

Tallow was reticent concerning his life in Russia and the circumstances of his coming to this country, and for that reason it is difficult to obtain information regarding him. Ensign Bagley Camp has sent out circulars to the other camps of Spanish War Veterans and it hoped thus soon to learn the whereabouts of the woman who is sought.

CITY BRIEFS.

The rain that fell in the two or three sprinkles that occurred in the last two days has added one-hundredth of an inch to the annual precipitation record. It has rained ten times in July since 1886.

W. F. Knight, president of the Pasadena Board of Trade, has been appointed district representative for Los Angeles county of the California Celebration Committee, whose aim it is to gain for California a reputation as the playground of the world.

Superintendent of Schools Rhodes yesterday announced that this year Pasadena put in its order with the State for free text-books exceptionally early and that he hopes to see all of the books that have been asked for on hand in the city by September 1.

C. W. Henry of Los Angeles was fined $50 yesterday by Justice of the Peace McDonald after he had pleaded guilty to leaving a camp fire burning near Sturtevant's Camp in Santa Anita Canyon.

The Pasadena Realty Board held its July dinner at the Hotel Maryland last night. About thirty attended. Matters of interest to the organization were discussed.

Santa Monica.

MAYOR BALKED BY COUNCILMEN.

City Attorney Retained Over Executive's Head.

Charges Made and Denied by Legal Advisor.

Grand Jury Warns Against Dangers of Fire.

SANTA MONICA, July 21.—Following the reading of a remarkable denial of the charges of the Mayor, when that official called for his resignation, City Attorney Taft was retained by the City Council in session tonight. Taft declared in his written answer that the charges of the Mayor were "knowingly and maliciously false." The next move of Mayor Dow in his efforts to have Taft "fired" was not made public.

Mayor Dow stated in his letter to the Council last Monday that Taft was incompetent and cited instances of the preparation of the ordinances of intention to improve Fremont avenue by the attorney. Taft replies that the causes of the delay was not in the drawing of the ordinances but the mistakes in technical figures for widening the street and changing the grade furnished by the engineer.

Dow averred that the City Attorney should not be a member of a firm of lawyers which had for a client a public service corporation doing business here. Taft stated tonight that the only public service company that his firm was connected with was the Vawter Water Company, and this clientage did not in any way interfere with his duties as City Attorney.

Lastly, the Mayor charged that Taft refused to issue a complaint against J. E. Hackett, charged with arson, because he, Taft, could get a fee out of Hackett. Taft answers that the complaint was issued out of the office of Tanner, Taft & Odell.

The matter was threshed out in special session this afternoon, Councilmen Peasgood, Butler and Little voting against the retention of Taft, and Councilmen Berkley, Balsley, Brice and Brown, called the "Four Big B's," voting to turn down the request of the Mayor.

NOTE OF WARNING.

The Los Angeles county grand jury is hot on the trail of this city for not having better fire protection. The grand jurors think that there may be a repetition of the Ocean Park disaster and an "invitation" has been issued to the Mayor and City Council to appear before the jury and talk the matter over.

The letter from the grand jury, received tonight by Mayor Dow, is as follows:

"Hon. R. H. Dow, Dear Sir: It has been brought to the attention of the grand jury an intimation that your city is without adequate fire protection, and under present conditions there is likely to be a repitition of the Ocean Park disaster at any time. We will be pleased to have yourself and members of your honorable board meet with this jury next Friday morning at 10 o'clock, when we may go into the matter of fire protection in your city."

The Chamber of Commerce has asked the City Council to immediately purchase two fire engines, and lay such fire mains as necessary for the protection of the business and amusement district.

MALIBU LEMONS.

Four loads of lemons were brought to Santa Monica today from the Malibu ranch, sixteen miles up the Coast. It was stated by the ranchmen that the frost did little harm to the groves of the Rindge estate, and that an average of a half-dozen wagonloads of lemons would be hauled to market every day from the ranch for the next few weeks.

ANAHEIM SEEKS PLUM.

Would Secure Southern California Experiment Station of the State University—Other News.

ANAHEIM, July 20.—Anaheim is after the new experimental station which is to be located at some point in Southern California by the State Agricultural and Horticultural Department.

This is one of the principal things that the Anaheim Board of Trade has under consideration, and there seems to be an unanimous expression to secure the station if possible. The committee in charge is composed of Postmaster J. W. Duckworth, J. B. Neff, whose home is here, and who is connected with the State Agricultural Department, and Henry Adams. Their last report is that the chances are favorable for the location of the station at this point.

SUGAR FACTORY.

The wheels of the big sugar factory, just north of Anaheim, will be started the last of this week, and the sugar campaign will continue day and night until the end of November. The present plans of the local factory is to slice the first sugar beets for this year July 26. Deliveries of beets to the factory bins are expected to commence by the middle of the week and a few days thereafter the turning out of the granulated sugar will be begun. The warm weather that has been experienced for the past two weeks has ripened the sugar beet crop rapidly and it is anticipated that there will be no delay.

SUES WATER COMPANY.

The Anaheim Union Water Company is made defendant in a suit brought yesterday by E. Morlae for $592.

TULARE CANNERY OPENS.

Three Hundred Hands Packing Peaches—Sixty Thousand Cans to be Output First Season.

TULARE, July 21.—Three hundred hands are employed at the Tulare cannery, which opened for the season's run today. The pack for the few days will be exclusively on peaches. The crop is in excellent condition and a high-grade product will be maintained. From the present outlook the output of the Tulare institution will be 60,000 cases for the opening season.

Unseasonally hot weather has caused a serious dropping of the prunes and harvest of the French prunes will be begun this week in consequence. Ordinarily the picking starts from ten days to two weeks later. These prunes are used almost exclusively in this district in the production of brandy, and will be largely sold to distilleries and wineries.

SAYS ALL IS HAPPINESS.

Only The Chaffee Grants Believed to Be Peeved Over Father's Marriage Says Bride's Sister.

OCEAN PARK, July 21.—Mrs. Royal H. Wilson, wife of R. H. Wilson, jeweler at No. 151 Pier avenue, sister of Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant, Jr., who returned this morning from attendance at the wedding celebration and supper given by the son of the distinguished soldier and President and his wife, adds to the denial of family friction among the Grants as a result of the marriage. But Mrs. Wilson qualifies her denial.

"It is true that Chaffee Grant and his wife did not attend the wedding of wedding supper the week following," said Mrs. Grant, "but otherwise there was no unpleasantness. The stories that my sister was ignored by the relatives of her husband and that her own little boy was grieved over the wedding are absurd.

"There were only two members of the Grant family in San Diego, with their wives, at the time of the wedding. Ulysses S. Grant, III, who greatly esteems my sister, Mrs. Grant, was present at both wedding and following celebration. Chaffee Grant and Mrs. Chaffee Grant were not present. I understand that the trouble commenced with Mrs. Chaffee Grant. Anyway, one or the other of the couple, or both, think that their share of the Grant property will not be as great, now that U. S. Grant, Jr., is married. But all was harmony and felicitation at the wedding, and everything will be all right.

LYTLE CREEK GOLD STRIKE.

Mountaineer Causes Stir in Prospecting Circles.

Recall Election to Drive Out Anti-Caticker.

Miner Under Observation to Determine Sanity.

SAN BERNARDINO, July 21.—As a result of numerous rich samples of gold quartz being shown in the city today by W. W. Carlisle, for many years a resident of the Lytle Creek section, there is promise of a big gold rush to the south fork of Lytle Creek. Some of the samples displayed by Carlisle will run many hundreds of dollars a ton, but he persistently refuses to tell where they come from further than that his claims are in the south fork.

From the earliest days of settlers in this valley there have been extensive placer workings in the Lytle Creek section, some of the workings being immensely rich. A French company in the early days is reputed to have taken millions out of the workings.

Thousands of miners since those days sought the mother lode believed to exist in the upper waters of the canyons, but in all the fifty years none have succeeded in finding anything more than ordinary values.

The samples exhibited today by Carlisle, who is an eccentric character who lives at the forks of the canyon, have created much excitement and several old mining men are outfitting to go to the canyon in a search for the ledge Carlisle seems to have located.

RECALL ELECTION.

The first of the recall elections promoted by the goo-goo crowd backing Mayor J. W. Catlek in the effort to grab the entire city government, will be held tomorrow in the Third Ward when an effort will be made to lift the scalp of Councilman George Chambers, who refused to "take orders" from the bosses of the Catlek administration and so was promptly made the object of a recall fight.

Two weeks later a similar election will be held in the Fourth Ward in an attempt to lift the scalp of Councilman C. W. Smith, who also declined to swallow the dope handed out by Mayor Catlek and his followers. The fight has been a particularly bitter one.

UNDER OBSERVATION.

John Blake, an aged mining and business man of Kramer, has been brought to the County Hospital for observation, a complaint that he is insane having been made by E. R. Wells, a special Santa Fe officer.

Blake was twice tried for killing J. C. Steiner of Kramer, his defense being that he killed Steiner by mistake, having intended to kill J. W. Young. Blake was the central figure in a feud of many years' standing at Kramer, the killing resulting. After the trials he spent several months here in the city, but recently returned to Kramer and further trouble has ensued.

Blake is 80 years of age and a veteran of the Sepoy rebellion in India nearly sixty years ago.

NEWS NOTES.

Reports here this afternoon indicate that Jose Araiza, the leper who escaped several weeks ago from the county pesthouse while being detained for deportation to the Hawaiian Islands, has been captured at Cucamonga. He was first found at Chino and brought to the pesthouse, from where he escaped. He will be detained until arrangements for his deportation can be arranged.

Arthur Carlson, a newsboy, was seriously bitten this afternoon by a vicious bulldog which attacked him while he was riding his wheel. After a chase of several blocks the dog was captured and killed. Carlson is under the case of a physician.

BURNS ROAD AND TIRES.

Seventy Miles an Hour Registered on Speedometer—Heavy Fine Assessed at Covina.

COVINA, July 21.—Passing through the city like a bad dream, a motorcyclist who gave his name to City Recorder Wells as Harry Jones of Rialto, was chased almost to the Whittier line this morning, and brought back by the speed cop on a charge of speeding. Jones was traveling at the rate of seventy miles an hour over the San Bernardino boulevard.

When Jones struck the speed trap within the city limits he was traveling at the rate of a mile in forty-eight seconds. The speed trap is just one-sixteenth of a mile in length, and the speed cop's stop watch showed that Jones passed through in just three seconds.

A fierce race of motorcycles followed. Both machines traveled so fast on the boulevard between Covina and El Monte that the speedometers climbed above the registering mark. When the speed cop finally overhauled Jones, the tires on both machines were blistered and ruined.

When Jones was brought before Recorder Wells he made no defense. He was fined $150. The motorcyclist had $100 with him, which he paid, and his machine was held at the station as collateral for the remainder. Since Saturday there have been twenty arrests for speeding in Covina, with the nominal fines of $10 as the usual result.

MORE GIRLS WANTED.

DINUBA, July 21.—When canneries and packing plants of the Alta district started operations today there was an oversupply of workmen among the men and a distressing shortage of women and girls. The latter are depended upon for fruit cutting and much of the handling, and officials of the plants express a fear that owing to the shortage of labor this year among the women the season's work may be seriously hampered. Peaches, plums and Thompson grapes will be packed this week. There is an especial demand for young women who are experienced in putting up the best class of grape packages.

SOUTH PASADENA DIRECTORY.

Census of City Taken Soon to Be Made Public—Attorney Complains of Escape of Gas.

SOUTH PASADENA, July 21.—The new South Pasadena City Directory is now on the press, and will be ready for delivery within a few days. The present edition undoubtedly fills the long-felt want for a really reliable guide to the city. It contains 40 per cent. more names than any previous directory, has a strictly up-to-date list of streets compiled after a great deal of trouble to obtain the latest changes and additions, and in many ways will prove gratifying to citizens as a really first-class book. The book also contains a department of miscellaneous information, list of churches, lodges, clubs, city officials, etc.

An interesting item in connection with the compilation of the directory is that at the time the names were collected a census of the city was taken. The figures will soon be available and will be interesting as a conservative estimate of the actual number of persons living in South Pasadena.

The Chamber of Commerce has been back of this directory and the publisher has given the work his personal attention and supervision, endeavoring to make the edition a "booster" for South Pasadena.

PLENTY OF GAS.

"Nothing succeeds like making yourself heard," declares Attorney R. A. Moore, who presented a protest at the last Trustees' meeting regarding the escape of obnoxious gases from vent holes in the Pasadena farm main between Mission and Garfield streets, at the intersection of Elm. At that time Moore was incensed because no action had been taken by the Crown City Commissioners in response to his telephone message demanding instant relief from the offensive exhalations which were polluting the air in the neighborhood. Moore threatened to cement the holes if someone did not at once "get busy."

Pasadena has now heeded the "kick," for wooden plugs had been placed in all but one of the holes. The missing plug was supplied by Moore. It is claimed that at other points along the route of the sewer farm pipes vent holes are left open, allowing the escape of the unhealthful fumes.

Final arrangements are being made for the annual picnic of the Lincoln Park League, which will take place next Saturday, July 6, at Sycamore Park. The occasion bids fair to be one of the best of its kind. Even Billboards will take a back seat, for the Leaguers will be too busy enjoying themselves to bother about such obnoxious subjects. Dinner will be served at 2 o'clock. Following the picnic spread there will be informal addresses by prominent club members. A programme of fun and sports of a varied nature will be provided for the younger members of the picnic party.

The committee, which has been working for the success of the occasion, includes Fred W. Treen, chairman; Miss Anna Herron, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Penfield, Mrs. Caroline Adams, Mrs. W. T. Marvin, Mrs. F. W. Treen, Mrs. M. Aldridge, Mr. and Mrs. Mofit, H. D. Lanfair, Charles Cramer and C. W. Briggs, the league president.

Members of the Boys' Choir of the St. James Episcopal Church left today for Catalina Island on their annual outing, where accommodations have been engaged in Tent City for a ten days' vacation. Hikes, fishing, swimming and other diversions are planned. Rev. H. Wotten, rector of the parish; A. Scott Ormsby and Organist E. Tarbox are among the older heads who will direct activities.

SAILS FOR EUROPE.

Dr. W. Curtis Brigham, No. 1711 Monterey road, has gone to New York, from which city he will sail Wednesday on the steamship Amerika, arriving in London in time for the opening of the International Congress of Medicine, which sessions he will attend. After the congress the doctor will go to various European cities.

SUBMARINE INQUIRIES

Chilean Government Interested in New Cage Boat—Attorney to Hear Complaint.

LONG BEACH, July 21.—Manager John M. Chase of the submarine Boat Company today received a letter from Lieut. Jose Schroeders, naval attaché of the Chilean Legation, written on official stationery of the Chilean Commission, and on behalf of his government, asking for full information as to the new characteristics of the Cage submarine and whether it will be prepared to consider bidding upon new submarines for his government proposed to be built shortly.

Lieut. Schroeders is at present in charge of the first submarine ever built for Chili by the Lake Torpedo Company. He writes that he has followed with great interest all the newspaper articles of the local company, including the account of its world-breaking record of submergence.

Congressman Bell writes that he has submitted all the data in the Ashurst regarding the receipt of competitive bids on United States submarines in which the Cage people figured, underbidding two competitors by a million dollars, were not considered and that Secretary Daniels has taken the matter up with Admiral McReynolds.

Haldeman, president of the Iowa Society of Southern California, today announced that the annual picnic of the society has been postponed from the date Saturday in August to Saturday in August 23. This is done from the information given that because of the Catalina yacht race it will be impossible for the Pacific Electric to furnish cars from Long Beach for the picnic. PILING TO BE CUT.

The concrete piling for the new amusement pier at the foot of Golden avenue have all been driven by the Mercereau Construction company, but will be allowed to season thoroughly before work is begun. The Mercereau people also have a contract for cutting the piling off at a profit by their experience in driving at Long Beach and will not attempt to cut the piling until the piles have had time to swells and heavy tides and storms have experience taught them that the ocean is no respecter of men.

HOLLY SUGAR FACTORY.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21.—The operating season of the Holly sugar factory here will begin next Saturday with 400 men employed with an acreage which will furnish beets for a continuous run of four months, the factory being idle night or day. It is stated by the superintendent that about 1200 tons of beets will be sliced daily during much of the time. The factory has considered itself in a high-water mark during the seasons. The harvesting of the sugar beet crop of the district has begun and the neighboring towns are busy places. Thomas Hall, president of the sugar company of Oilcleth and Linoleum fame, announced at a special meeting of the Board of Trade last night that the company expects to be running here this fall and to employ forces of men as soon as the beets arrive.

CONFERENCE SETTLES DOWN TO BUSINESS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 21.—At the Methodist camp-meeting here today, all the headquarters of the various activities were open for work before noon.

Evangelist John Brown's afternoon discourse was the first of a series devoted to Bible prayers, today's being the prayer of the Syrophenician woman, as recorded in the fifteenth chapter of Matthew. The evangelist declared that the three essentials in all true prayers are: Confession, definiteness and perseverance.

Among the features of the camp ground are two large tents which serve as the headquarters of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary societies, respectively. At each a conference will be held at 4 o'clock each afternoon to instruct workers from local societies in missionary facts and methods.

The tents are gay with flags and pennants and the walls are covered with views taken on the various home and foreign fields, each representing some phase of work financed by missionary societies of the Methodist Episcopal church. Mrs. M. Libby Alles, president of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church United States, is in charge of the Home work here, and will direct children's meetings at her tent every afternoon at 3 o'clock. RETIRING PASTOR STIRS UP HEAT-LIGHTNING.

LONG BEACH, July 21. — The latent motives behind the exit of Rev. O. H. L. Mason from the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church bid fair to have the light of publicity peep in before the close of the week if the present temper of the elders and trustees continues at the same heat that was evident today when they were approached on the question of the commendatory resolutions adopted at yesterday morning's service, after being presented, without consulting the official board, by friends of the pastor.

Mason announced two weeks ago, in answer to rumors floating about, that he would not resign, then left town suddenly and from Berkeley mailed a formal note of resignation. The night the congregation considered it he appeared in person and dominated the session which accepted the resignation.

A note of appreciation, issued June 24 and signed by Clerk Johnson, was also given publicity, without the date, which drew from Johnson and Dr. A. T. Covert, a member of the Sessions Board, that the testimonial was issued at the time when Mason had decided to accept an advisory council's advice and leave the city, intimating that subsequent developments might have tempered the note.

These statements apparently aroused the pastor's friends and yesterday morning, during the regular church announcements, L. B. Palmer, a member of the church but not an officer, presented the resolutions of commendation and asked for a vote. It was "practically unanimous," say his friends, but members of the official board declare that only about one-third voted affirmatively and the rest remained seated save seven who stood when the negative vote was called.

These seven are said to have been Rev. James H. Mateer, C. F. Iredell, Albert Johnson, Dr. A. T. Covert, F. C. Yeomans, and John C. Forsythe, all of them prominent in the business and professional life of the city and old in harness in the church.

W. Patton Wilson, an elder who entered the auditorium just after the vote, said today that he would have been counted with the negative vote had he been present. "I think it is high time the officers of the church took some further definite action as a result of this out of the way procedure," said he today.

Another member, a trustee and one of the church leaders, said today, "I cannot predict what the official board will do now, but I know what I think they ought to do. It was a great mistake to bring that resolution up yesterday. Its adoption not only leaves the officers of the church in the wrong light, but leaves the church in what I consider a bad fix."

Any two members of the official board can call a meeting and it was hinted today that a called meeting will be held sometime this week, as Dr. Mason, it was announced last night, would officiate at the church services next Sunday. It is significant that the three members of the sessions, Messrs. Wilson, Iredell and Johnson, who are to present Mason's resignation, accepted by his congregation to the Los Angeles presbytery, are three of the seven who yesterday voted against the resolutions.

It was stated today that more information developed at the recent sessions meeting than has been given out officially for publication and that at the called meeting to be held a more complete report will be available in order to place the church officials in what they assert will be a proper light before the public and also the members of the congregation.

ILLEGAL FISHING.

AVALON, July 21.—Three San Pedro fishermen and 2400 feet of set net were taken this morning by Assistant State Fish and Game Commissioner Pritchard while cruising the island near Johnson's Landing early this morning in the launch Torqua. The nets were in three pieces and each length was anchored at both ends by heavy rocks and was not left to drift free with the tide. All three nets were taken out of the water within 200 yards from the shore line. The owners of the nets were allowed to go to San Pedro. Pritchard states that every market fisherman along the coast has been notified that set nets are not allowed, and that those using them are subject to fine and imprisonment.

Not So Easy.

FLAYS PETTED, PAMPERED BOY.

Judge Denies Ferris Writ of Habeas Corpus.

Jail Place for Juggernaut Driver, He Says.

Rich Young Speeder's Sent Sadly Back to Cell.

Judge Cabaniss, one of the most experienced jurists who ever comes to Los Angeles to hear criminal cases, yesterday excoriated Ralph Sterling Ferris, the speed maniac who has been chafing under the wholesome restraint of the County Jail because his friends have not come forward with necessary bail.

Lawyers retained by the young man who has a record breaking the State and city speeding laws appealed to Judge Cabaniss to reduce bail, using the well-worn writ of habeas corpus as a means to the desired end.

"I think it will not hurt this petted, pampered young man to remain in a quiet place until the time of his trial on a charge of speeding," said the judge, looking at the defendant who sat moodily beside his attorneys.

"When I sat on the police bench in San Francisco I was known as a magistrate who believed in low bail when I felt sure the defendant would be on hand for the trial. That is the purpose of bail. In this case I think it is well to keep the young man in seclusion for a time, where he cannot violate the law."

"I do not believe in letting young men race around with their juggernaut machines endangering life and limb. The public is entitled to protection."

The judge also remarked that if his own son were the defendant he would feel the same under the admitted facts. The writ was denied and Ferris remanded, with his silk stockings and gold monogram cigarettes, to the County Jail.

As the youngster has thousands of dollars back of him he will not lack for a skillful legal defense when he is tried for speeding tomorrow in Justice Young's court. Not desirous of depending upon the mercy of the court, the defendant's counsel have asked for a jury.

The District Attorney is determined to make an example of Ferris for he says that a boy of 21 who speeds through the county highways at forty miles an hour, kills a boy and imperils the lives of law-abiding citizens is not safe at large.

It is believed that the only way in which Ferris can make his peace with the county authorities is to agree to go back to the cattle range in Wyoming and take his racing car with him. Deputy District Attorney Doran is going to retry the manslaughter case first, however. If convicted the defendant is likely to get a penitentiary term because of his numerous escapades and his bad record as a reckless speeder.

Important.

TO GUARD THE LIVES OF TRAVELING PUBLIC.

Two inquiries of Great Significance Centering About Vineyard Junction Wreck Today—The State Railroad Commission to Investigate Pacific Electric's Operating Methods and Equipment—City Conference.

TWO investigations, both of which have as their object the elimination of such disasters as that which reaped its toll of death and injury at Vineyard Junction ten days ago, will be held here today, with the State Railroad Commission and Board of Public Utilities as the respective investigators.

Operating methods and equipment of the Pacific Electric are given as the precise points on which the State Railroad Commission, represented by President Eshleman and Commissioner Edgerton, will seek enlightenment. As a concomitant of these the Pacific Electric will be called on to show cause why the automatic blocking system should not be extended to all lines of the company. The Board of Public Utilities, on the other hand, will delve into the broad subject of throwing all possible safeguards around the public, both in its transit over the common carriers and in its passage on and across public highways.

The State Railroad Commission investigation will be held in the Supreme Court rooms in the Bullard building and will begin at 10 o'clock. The Board of Public Utilities hearing will be staged at 2:30 o'clock in the City Council chamber.

SEEKING RESULTS.

Unusual interest attaches to the State Railroad Commission's investigation for the double reason that it will not only be thorough, but is almost certain to be productive of far-reaching results in electric-line operation, both in Southern California and in other portions of the State. For instance, the commission may order the immediate placing of all Pacific Electric lines under block operation. According to Pacific Electric officials, this would call for the expenditure of between $500,000 and $750,000. It also is not beyond the range of possibilities that a complete change in train-handling methods may be recommended, with the best principles obtaining on steam lines as a fundamental. Steel equipment also is a possible order.

At present the Pacific Electric has a number of lines under block operation. Contracts also have been let for the installation of automatic blocks on the Venice Short Line from Windward avenue, Venice, to Vineyard Junction, nine miles, and on the Pasadena Short Line from the west approach to the Los Angeles River bridge to the Indian Village, three miles. There are a number of lines, however, that are operated under what is called the "street-car system" and for which no provisions otherwise have yet been made. There also are a number of junction places that are not protected by interlockers—Covina Junction is an instance.

No Pacific Electric officials have been directly subpoenaed to appear before the State Railroad Commission. President Shoup stated yesterday, however, that all department heads will be on hand ready to testify.

BY THE CITY.

President McReynolds of the Board of Public Utilities has asked the Mayor, the City Council, the County Board of Supervisors, President Shoup of the Pacific Electric, Vice-President Dunn of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation, General Manager Nutt of the Salt Lake, Acting General Manager Hibbard of the Santa Fe and General Superintendent Platt of the Southern Pacific to be present at the hearing before that board. One of the most important subjects to be discussed will be the elimination of grade crossings, though suggestions will be invited on a host of other subjects related to the safeguarding of life and limb.

With two such important investigations imminent, Pacific Electric officials were busy yesterday preparing tables covering the finances of the company, the receipts, expenditures, and the like, as well as maps showing interlocking and block-signal operation, existent and proposed. The more abstruse features of automatic-signal operation will be covered by drawings. In fact, Pacific Electric officials hope to appear before both inquisitorial bodies with the most ample information possible on train operation as it is practiced on that road.

STARTED BY "TIMES."

Peter Clarke MacFarland Says He Sold His First Story to This Journal Twenty Years Ago.

Peter Clark MacFarlane, the New York magazine writer, began his career as an author twenty years ago when he was a clerk in a railway office in Los Angeles. He told about it yesterday at the Lankershim, where he is a guest.

"I sold my first story to The Times along in the early '90s when I was in the employ of a railroad here," MacFarlane said, "but it was fifteen years after that before I gave all of my time to the writing game. I gave up my position with the railroad to become an actor. After a year on the stage I became a minister in the Christian Church and preached four miles from the place where I had died as King Lear."

MacFarlane said that he will gather information for some phase of the development of Los Angeles, probably the harbor. Mrs. MacFarlane and their children have taken a cottage at Santa Monica for several weeks.

CONFIRMATION OF MUTES.

BABIES SWAMP WOMEN AT BIG SHOW OPENING.

Flood of Gurgling Infants Inundates the Hamburger Roof Garden, Overflowing the Melting Pot and Filling Every Available Crib—Creditable Afternoon and Evening Programmes and Multifold Attractions.

THE Hamburger Roof Garden, where the "Melting Pot" fete is being held, swarmed with babies yesterday, and the managers of the affair, members of the Women's Million Club, were swamped by the infantile flood which poured in upon them on the opening day. Although the more than 600 babies who had been examined and "couponed" had been allotted to different days of the fete, some fear existed in many mothers' minds that their little tots would be overlooked in the shuffle and so over 150 tots were brought yesterday, which overtaxed the capacity for caring for them. The baby show was the main feature of the day, although a very pleasing programme was provided, both afternoon and evening.

Miss Josephine Doherty, a graduate nurse, but now active in club work, has charge of the baby show, and yesterday an educational demonstration for mothers was given by nurses from the County Hospital, in charge of Miss Susan Parrish, superintendent of nurses at that institution.

The instruction was along a general line of advice on the care of babies; a demonstration of the technique governing the preparation of modified milk; demonstration of a croup tent used in the modern treatment of croup in the home, which has proven very efficacious in battling that dread disease of children. It has been found that lack of knowledge on the part of mothers as to the preparation of modified milk is responsible for the high percentage of bottle-fed babies who do not thrive. The demonstration today will be in charge of nurses from the Clara Barton Hospital.

The demonstrations begin each day at 2 o'clock p.m., and babies, in order to be in the running for a prize, must be brought at least once, although attendance on only one demonstration is required of mothers.

"The Times" Scholarship.

AT TOP OF TALLY BOX, SEEM AFRAID TO MOVE

George Maurer's High Count of Day Sent Him Up Fourteen — Harold Tilton Next — Smart and Southard Have Thousand Each — George Brown's Count Puts Him Up, Too—Interesting Letters.

Freda Thomas

Of No. 249 North Fremont avenue, little girl who wants a musical scholarship.

IT REALLY begins to look as though the first eight places at the top of the tally box were a sort of scholarship equator, upon which those big ones were becalmed. Nothing can move them, apparently. There they stay, day after day, occasionally brushing by one another, but always with a weather eye open to the way back. Polly, Waller, Little Webb, Weller, Lovelady, Tilton, Wilkins, and probably Helen Woodworth will be as becalmed as any of them, and stay right there, from now on. It costs points to remain in that upper nine, but they all manage to muster the points, and there they stay.

Do you know what I wish would happen? I wish one of the 'way down lower ones would take a shoot right into the midst of that high-flying flock and just scatter them right and left! Just supposing that, tomorrow, or next day, someone down there at twenty-something would plump down at first, or even second or third—and would wedge those firm ones out of line! What do you say? Who shall we pick out to do that wondrous thing? I think Maurer is equal to it. He did some wonders yesterday. Or the other George—George Brown—he is a straight shot.

There is another thing which this same typewriter is longing to write about. That is about the ones who reach the 5000 column. There are ever so many who are near it, but there are more who should be nearer. There are at least sixteen who can easily reach the 5000 column this week if they try hard. Look over the list and see who they are, and if you are one of them, take yourself in hand directly with the determination to accomplish this.

There is an especial reason why the scholarship manager wants every one thus located to make the greatest possible effort to reach the 5000 place this week. No explanations are in order, but—who will be first to get there? Who will be second? Let us leave no stone unturned to accomplish this, and quickly. Friends! Take notice! If your favorite is below the 5000 point, please do everything that you can to assist him or her to reach that place before Saturday next. There's a reason.

Courtesy is the key which unlocks many a door! Nowhere is this fact more apparent than in the scholarship contest. It was remarked about one of the little girls who is working very hard, that it was quite as much her courtesy as her work which told in her favor. "She never forgets to thank people for what they have done," said a gentleman who had observed her. "If they give her but the smallest number of points, she thanks them as cordially as though they had given her an annual, and she makes friends at every turn by her unfailing good manners."

"One good way for a man to get ahead and stay ahead is to use a head!" This is a motto which is good to carry with one into a scholarship campaign. Use your head, as well as your heels. Plan out a route and follow it. Adopt a system and adhere to it. This is what counts in the long run. For instance, take a certain district and give your attention to it for a certain length of time, until you have thoroughly satisfied yourself that you have seen everyone who is at all likely to become interested in your cause. Then take up another district. Another thing which counts in this campaign, is having certain times to work. Do not allow yourself to temporize. "I don't believe I'll go out this morning. I feel more like reading, or like loafing." If you have planned to go out and work, keep your promise to yourself. There is as much in the development of character gained through the work, as much in the campaign itself as in the rewards which come through the scholarships and other prizes won.

An eight months' subscription came in from Arizona yesterday and with it a note saying that the subscriber wished the points credited to the first Arizona contestant. Who will that be? No one has enrolled from Arizona as yet. Will not some one try it from that enterprising new State? There are evidently, persons who are ambitious to have a representative for that locality in the campaign.

Sperry Von Blarcom is following in Jerome's footsteps and is spending his time among the big business men. He was given one subscription yesterday which made him proud. Several of the boys had been importuning Peter Haack for a subscription and after thinking the matter over, Mr. Haack gave his annual to Sperry. Another place which Sperry visited, the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance headquarters, had gone over bodily to Jerome. Sperry has some fine prospects, however, and not a few bona fide promises for the near future.

AN INTERESTING LETTER.

"July 21.

"Times-Mirror Company:

"Find enclosed check for nine dollars ($9) in payment for the Los Angeles Times to July 1, 1914. Any points in scholarship contest for this subscription, (a renewal), please apply to the score of Harold Tilton, Inglewood. Yours truly,

"W. L. RICKETSON.

"No. 738 Carondelet st., Los Angeles, Cal."

Another letter, this one from Edwin C. Kroock, of No. 123 East Sixty-fifth street, encloses a year's subscription and asks that Ruth Smart be credited with the scholarship points.

Every hour in the day, people call up scholarship headquarters and ask about crediting points to contestants and many who are out working, bring in points for others than themselves.

Hazel Riley brought in several for Harold Tilton yesterday and someone called up saying that he wished to send points which would be given to one of the Santa Monica boys. Not only are the contestants and their friends getting warmed up to the campaign, but many who have never even seen any of the young workers wish to help and are boosting for one and another, whatever favorite they may select from among the names of those on the tally list.

FROM SANTA ANA.

Word comes from Theona Lovelady which is most interesting and also most encouraging. Theona writes that the Chamber of Commerce of Santa Ana has indorsed her. "I am out for great things with this help," writes that lovely girl.

Good for Santa Ana. That enterprising city evidently appreciates her representative in the scholarship contest. It would be impossible to do too much for Theona. She is more than worthy of anything which could possibly be offered. It should be a pleasure for anyone to assist her in any possible way. She is, in every way, one of the most lovely girls in the contest.

LITTLE FREDA.

There are many sweet girls in the lists this year, and none is sweeter or more worthy of help than is little Freda Thomas.

Freda lives at No. 249 North Fremont avenue. She has studied music for three years and is anxious for a musical scholarship. Freda goes to the First M. E. Church and attends that Sunday School. She is a pupil in Custer Street school where her favorite study is French. This enterprising girl has been here but one year, having removed from Kansas City, Mo. So, friends, "you will have to show her"—new subscriptions, preferably, but old ones will do if you are already a subscriber. And Freda will "show us" a good tally score long before the close of the contest; for she is determined to have that Catalina vacation, as well as one of the musical scholarships. She is going to Ocean Park for two weeks, but it will not be two weeks of idleness by any means, for she means to work as hard while there as if she were at home, and hopes to secure enough points during her stay to make her safe as to the Catalina trip. After her return to the city she has several good promises, which those who made them are certain to fulfill.

WATER RELIEF LOOMS AHEAD.

ROSE HILL AND HERMON ARE ON ROAD TO SUPPLY.

Conference of City and Corporation Officers Results in Decision to Request Public Service Commission to Bind Contract for Laying of Necessary Mains.

Hermon and Rose Hill, after many tribulations, are at last in a fair way to secure an adequate water supply direct from the city's mains.

After exhausting all resources President McReynolds of the Board of Public Utilities appealed yesterday to the City Council, and a conference was called between the Council, the Public Service Commission, the Public Utilities Commission, Ralph Rogers and L. C. Brand of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, receiver for the Glendale Consolidated Water Company, which serves the Hermon and Rose Hill districts.

At this conference the entire situation was gone over and McReynolds declared:

"So far as the Board of Public Utilities is concerned, we have gone as far as we can go, but the people of these districts must get relief from conditions that are intolerable. The Public Service Commission acknowledges that it has water that it can turn into the pipes of this concern."

Rogers made the statement that by the laying of approximately 1400 feet of six-inch pipe there could be connection made between the city's mains and proper points of the private system.

It was decided to request the Public Service Commission to enter into contract to have the receiver of the Glendale Consolidated Water Company advance the money for the laying of the necessary mains under the supervision of the city water department, this cost to be paid later by the city. It also was decided that the commission immediately begin negotiations with the receiver for the operation of the plant by the city, without the city being obliged to continue such operation indefinitely. The purpose is to provide a water service for the present emergencies.

POLISH PLANS FOR BIG BALL.

COMPLETE ARRANGEMENTS FOR CHARITY AFFAIR.

One-fourth of Four Thousand Dollars Necessary to Lift Mortgage from Children's Refuge Already Raised and Total Seems Assured from Interest Being Taken.

Final arrangements for the Peter Pan ball at Shrine Auditorium Thursday night have been completed and the committee in charge of the programme announced yesterday the last selections which will be used to intersperse the dances.

The first feature of the evening will be a military drill. The Fraternal Brotherhood drill teams, men and women, 100 in all, will give an exhibition of maneuvering.

The "White Squadron" of Elks will follow with their drill. At the conclusion, the uniformed visitors will act as assistant floor managers in handling the crowd.

Hazel Allen, the pretty local dance artist, will portray several Greek classics of the muse of nimble toes. Diminutive Bernice Sibeck will appear in several similar numbers.

Then comes a little harmony of the vocal kind. The Ad Club quartette will be on hand to liven the evening with some of the latest songs. Then comes an event which is in itself a feature, the manufacture and portrayal of "canned drama."

Fred Mace and his company will perform before the moving-picture camera. When they have completed this, the screen will reproduce the film.

Another moving picture will be shown by W. H. Clune, who has promised one of the feature photo plays of the week for the occasion.

The sale of tickets continues heavy and a large number of business concerns are donating to the cause. The Security Trust & Savings Bank heads the list with a donation of $50, the total approximating at this time $1000, which will go a quarter of the way in removing the $4000 mortgage on the home.

Babies Swamp Women.

Every mother who brings her baby this week may have its picture taken free at the Hamburger Studio. The prize winners in the baby contest will be announced Friday.

The afternoon entertainment, which was in charge of Miss A. C. Otten, included some pleasing child performers. Little Jessie Kweren, aged 8, danced the "Spring Dance" very gracefully; Gladys Harrison, 6 years of age, whistled, and Thelma, her 8-year-old sister, played a piano solo creditably. Herta Im Hof, 9 years old, sang a comic selection, and Mrs. Frank Evans sang some pretty lullabys. The tents, where an infallibly true glimpse into the future was gained through the agency of astrology, palmistry, or tea grounds, according to the trend of one's faith, were well patronized, as were all the other booths.

Much pleasure was afforded the children by the antics of "Bessie" and "Brownie," two cinnamon bears which have been added to the attraction of the fete through the kindness of their owner, R. L. Pierce, of Pasadena.

Madame Nordis, a coloratura soprano, who formerly was soloist with Sir Brooke's Band concerts, in Chicago, donated her services for last evening and tonight. In her singing of the "Song of the Soul," by Briel, last night, she gave a finished production which was highly enjoyed by her audience. Lewis P. Curtis was accompanist. She will sing "Love's Confiding," one of her own compositions, tonight. Other numbers on the evening programme were: Italian dialect selections, by Miss Mabel Smith; Spanish dance, by Adelaide le Blon.

The programme this afternoon and evening will consist of vocal and piano solos, and negro dialect stories. Some of the latter will be told by Mrs. Rosa Miles Van Riper.

A grand piano has been placed at the disposal of the fete managers by Barker Brothers, who also loaned the nursery beds and cots in the baby department.

Look Out For Poison Ivy

Strolling through the woods or clearing brush, picnickers, hunters, fishermen—look out for poison ivy. And in the meantime keep your blood pure by using S. S. S. If your skin is rough with eczema, pimples or any other eruption, S. S. S. stimulates the fine network of blood vessels in the skin to dry up and heal all sore spots.

S. S. S. will do this positively. It dominates the principle of osmosis, stimulates the cells of the skin to select their own nutriment from the blood, made pure and healing by the wonderful medicinal ingredients of this famous blood purifier. It is a safe remedy, as it contains no minerals, and yet its action is a marvel.

You can get S. S. S. in any drug store, but insist upon having it. The Swift Laboratory in Atlanta, Ga., prepares this famous blood purifier, and you should take no chance by permitting anyone to recommend a substitute. And if your blood condition is such that you would like to consult a specialist freely, address the Medical Dept., The Swift Specific Company, 136 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

...ways that are gay, and tricks that are bright, The Times cook lady surely does excel. Yesterday was pie day, and she taught us such a clever little stunt to be worked off on these warm summer days when we are suddenly surprised with company about ten minutes before dinner and not a thing on hand for dessert—I mean she taught us how to be prepared for such emergencies, and never, never be caught in the lurch. She showed us just how we could make a pie and have it on the table in ten minutes. Sounds like magic, doesn't it?

The trick is to make up a lot of pie shells and keep them on hand—then all you have to do is to simply put in a filling of stewed fruit, or custard, or cream, and there you are. Now, most of us understand, I dare say, how to make the under crust of such a pie—but to make a double-crust shell—ah, there's the trick.

Use a Flour Filling.

This is the way Mrs. Haffner-Ginger did it. She covered the pie tin with the crust first and then filled it with flour—mounded it up in the middle just as you do the fruit filling—and then she put a top crust on as calmly as if that pie had a perfectly palatable filling. She crimped it rather gingerly round the edge—not quite so secure as if the top crust wasn't intended to come off neatly—slit it, to let the air out and prevent the crust from shrinking, and popped it in the oven. When it came out it looked for all the world like a sure-enough pie, but the cook lady dextrously slipped a knife around the edge, between the two crusts—and behold the top crust came off as neatly as you can imagine. Then she emptied the flour filling out—and there was your double shell all ready for your stewed fruit. She advised us to slip the pie, after it was filled, into the oven for a few minutes to crisp it up and suggested that, if we liked, we might brush the top crust over with milk, or white of egg to give it a glaze—or, if we wanted that rough, pebbled top, just brush it with melted butter and then lightly dust flour over it.

Prepared Pie Crust Four.

The cook lady experimented with a new brand of prepared pie crust flour yesterday—everything is in it, so all you have to do is to add the wetting. The printed rule on the package called for only one tablespoonful of water to a cupful of flour, but experience proved that this was not enough wetting for it required nearly three times as much to make the crust soft enough. Perhaps the cup the man used—if it is a man, who patented this preparation—was smaller, or the tablespoon was larger than those used by the cook lady. The crust looked lovely, but when we sampled it, a good many in the audience detected a tart taste that suggested some sort of acid in the preparation. It was very perceptible to me and I must say I prefer Mrs. Haffner-Ginger's own make of pie crust with her favorite pastry flour.

Peach Cobblers.

The cook lady also made some tempting peach cobblers—I said they looked like the old-fashioned turnovers my grandmother used to make, but I was sat upon very smartly for the mere suggestion, and the cooking expert scornfully assured me that a turnover was quite a different affair. This is the way she made them: First, she cut squares of the pastry, rolled moderately thin, put a dab of butter in the middle, then half of a peach which she covered liberally with sugar and then folded the blanket of pie crust snugly over it, and pinched the corners into artistic and smart-looking little turrets.

Pies and Peter Pans.

"How do you keep your apple pies from running over?" asked a distressed voice from the rear.

"Sometimes I don't," replied the cook lady, frankly, "they'll run over in spite of me. I always make them in a deep pan, as a matter of precaution—and I always pinch the edges securely together, and I always put a little flour in with the sugar to thicken the juice. Another thing to remember, ladies, in making a juicy pie," she went on, "is to make the bottom crust a little thicker than the top, and I always put butter on the bottom crust of an apple pie."

Several were present yesterday who were unable to come to the sandwich Peter Pan benefit, and handed to the cook lady half-dollars for the fund so that the original $10 has now reached a total of $12.75. Mrs. Haffner-Ginger will present the purse in person to Mrs. Brush at the earliest opportunity.

Tomorrow she announces with a mysterious smile that she will offer us some "molded" dishes, suitable for hot weather courses—whether these will be made of fish, flesh, fowl or crisp green things, imprisoned in gelatine, I have no idea—the only way to find out is to come—and we are sure it will be interesting and novel, whatever it is.

Fruits of Sand.

Growing out of sandy soil will be the fruits which are made at the seaside where the children use those delightful new sand molds which have this summer appeared. Great luscious pears, apples, peaches, nectarines are shown, in the natural colors of the fruits, and it does seem as though those who play with such pretty and artistic toys would enjoy the beach more than if ordinary playthings were used.

Crepe for Half.

At that oriental store where the annual pink banner sale is going on you can purchase during this week almost any color in crepe and in the very best quality of crepe, for nearly half the usual price. It is now to buy that frock which you have been thinking of having ever since the season opened.

Brown Baskets Everywhere.

If there is a home left in the vicinity of Los Angeles which does not have at least one brown basket, it will not be because that accommodating oriental store has not offered them cheap enough during its clearance sale. And judging by the crowds always buying there every one who has a home appreciates the opportunity of securing one of these decorative pieces for use or ornament.

Lord Byron Again.

His poetry may be neglected by the present generation, but Dame Fashion has resurrected his collars, and there is just now a craze for the Lord Byron collar. Of linen and eyelet or solid embroidery, these cool and summery "turn overs" are a natural sequence of the comfortable collars of various styles which have recently been used.

That Mill End Sale.

Everyone knows what that sale is, and many wait for it, and plan for it and make their household and personal want lists with reference to it. It takes place this week, as you will learn if you are anywhere in the vicinity of the big Broadway store which has made such a reputation for bargains during its mill end sales. It is better, bigger and extends into more departments, this season, than ever; so get out your lists of "wantables."

Fashion's Fore Glimpse.

Frocks of white crepe are trimmed with bands of flowered material.

Parasols and scarfs are edged with narrow pleatings of black taffeta.

Most afternoon dresses have their necks cut a little low, with no guimpes.

There are a few new skirts with a pointed belt in front, like a corselet.

Fringe will be allowed wherever its effects are demanded by the design.

Very smart are the stockings of real lace or silk embroidered with beads.

Streamers are seen on many hats, and they are very effective and becoming.

Little tailored belts are smartened with a plaid silk sash, fringed at the ends.

Larger hats are being designed, among which the all-white hat predominates.

Gowns and millinery are extensively trimmed with flights of tiny black bows.

The elaborate embroideries done with brilliant colors, continue to be smiled upon.

When choosing a sash, be sure to choose a style which will improve the wearer's figure.

MARICOPA FAIR GREAT SUCCESS.

Gov. Hunt Tells Needs of the Arizona Farmer.

National Guard Is in Camp at Fort Whipple.

Frontier Show Turns Out to Be a Great Success.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) July 19.—From every point of view the second annual Maricopa County Agricultural Fair, held on the Phoenix City Hall plaza, was a distinct success. The exhibits were three times as extensive as last year and the average quality was much higher. The fair lasted two days and some $600 was distributed in prizes to the exhibitors of the best pumpkins, watermelons, cantaloupes, alfalfa hay, alfalfa seed, grain and grain hay, peaches, grapes, plums, corn, apricots, berries, tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers, onions and other products. There were also prizes for home-cooked food and dairy products.

"Needs of Arizona Farmers," was the subject of an address delivered by Gov. George Hunt. Talks were made by W. P. Geary, chairman of the State Corporation Commission; J. C. Phillips, Superior Judge of Maricopa county; J. E. McClain, president of the Maricopa County Farmers' Institute; Prof. J. J. Thornber and Prof. A. M. McOmie, University of Arizona; Mrs. Eugene Brady O'Neill, a suffrage leader.

Farmers declare that the fair of 1912 did a great deal of good in enabling them to exchange ideas, and in stimulating interest in the production of better crops. It is expected that next year's fair will far eclipse that of 1913.

For the purpose of arriving at a more equitable equalization of values on all classes of property, the State Tax Commission has called a meeting of the fourteen County Assessors, the county Boards of Supervisors and clerks of the boards, to be held at the capital, July 28.

ARIZONA TROOPS IN CAMP.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) July 19.—Over 400 troops of the First Arizona Infantry are now camped at Ft. Whipple, on the outskirts of Prescott. It is the annual encampment of the National Guard of Arizona, and will last ten days. The citizen soldiers are quartered in tents, under actual field conditions, and the week will be devoted to field maneuvers and camp instruction. Col. A. M. Tuthill of Morenci, is in command. He is assisted by Maj. E. P. Grinstead of Phoenix, and Maj. H. H. Dinkersley of Yuma. Capt. A. C. Taylor of Phoenix is regimental commissary.

The committee which arranged the three-day frontier show, held in connection with the Fourth of July celebration, has reported a balance in the treasury, after all bills have been met, of $700. The money will be used as a nucleus for the fund that will be raised to hold a similar show next year.

It is evident that the rainy season is on in Yavapai. Reports from all sections of the county are that soaking rains have fallen and all danger of losing stock through shortage of water and feed is now past. Showers are falling in Prescott practically every afternoon.

B. H. Moon, a 17-year-old boy recently released from the reform school at Ione, Cal., is in the County Jail, charged with forgery. Because of his age, he will probably be sent to the State industrial school.

Moon secured $65 on a check signed with the name of N. H. Getchell, a local mining man. The forgery was excellent, Moon having studied Getchell's signature on a hotel register.

J. F. Johnson of Kingman has been taken in charge by the United States authorities, charged with sending improper matter through the mails. It is alleged that he wrote to a girl in Oklahoma proposals which, had they been accepted, would have made him a white slaver.

NEEDY BRITISH ARISTOCRATS.

Make a Living as Chaperons and as Society Touts and as Matrimonial Agents for Eligible Ladies.

[London Tit-Bits:] The frequent complaint regarding the decadence of society, in which, as it was recently put to the writer, "money now talks instead of manners," was strikingly manifested during a recent interview with a member of the smart set, who candidly confessed that she was willing to chaperon "any one presentable, for a consideration." As she racily put it, "If the parents of Millie Muggins or Joe Scroggs have a few thousand to spare, and are anxious to spend the money in getting their son or daughter into society, why should not I participate? If I did not relieve those with social ambitions of their spare cash, somebody else would, and probably give less value for the money."

As a matter of fact, there are scores of clever people in society today augmenting their incomes very considerably by acting as chaperons. The idea, of course, is not a new one, but a glance at the advertisement columns in the daily newspapers will provide a striking illustration of the increasing number of people who are anxious to make a profit out of what social prestige they may be able to boast of.

These advertisements, as any one who takes the trouble to examine the columns of prominent newspapers will find out, are worded to suit all requirements. There is the titled lady who will chaperon a girl for her living and traveling expenses, together with a fee of two or three thousand pounds, this fee to be increased by mutual agreement, according to the social position of the husband secured. Then there is the lady anxious to obtain a companion for her daughter, who is about to make a debut in society and to be presented at court, arrangements to be made also for the presentation of the companion if monetary matters are satisfactorily arranged.

Titled ladies who offer to take in others as paying guests and introduce them to their particular social circle, impecunious sons of families to be found in the peerage, who offer to introduce sons of wealthy magnates into their particular clubs and set, are also among these society advertisers.

The extent to which social agents will go was strikingly illustrated last year when the traffic in vouchers for the royal inclosure at Ascot was exposed. This was the climax of a scandal which had been agitating society for some time, it being an open secret that hundreds of thousands of pounds changed hands between those who wished to mix with royalty and society on the race course and who had no right of entre, and those who wished to sell this privilege.

There is, however, said my informant, a very serious side to this business. Unfortunately, there is a certain type of society trickster who takes advantage of this desire on the part of the newly rich to enter society by professing to be able to introduce them into certain circles. As a matter of fact, these tricksters have no right of entre into the circles they mention, and this their victims quickly find out as soon as they have parted with their money.

A short time ago a case which created a stir, but was hushed up because of the prominence of the parties concerned, occurred, in which a lady, advertising herself as the younger daughter of a well-known titled impoverished house, became acquainted with a wealthy German family, and offered to introduce the two daughters into English society. As a matter of fact, she did introduce them into a certain circle, which, however, they could easily have entered themselves, for it was of no social prominence; but a promise had been made to introduce them to titled personages. This lady received fees amounting altogether to something like £4000, and afterward got out of her predicament by laying the blame on the girls themselves, who, she said, had proved quite unpresentable.

In another case a man advertising himself as the Hon. ———, made the acquaintance of the son of a wealthy manufacturer, and fleeced him to the extent of nearly £6000 as fees and expenses for introducing him to certain people who, it was ultimately proved, refused to recognize him, for he was the black sheep of the family.

Search a Trout Secret.

[Washington Star:] Officials of the Federal Bureau of Fisheries are awaiting with interest the arrival of a trout taken by the Indians in Iceberg Lake in Glacier National Park, Mont., which never has been known to exist outside the icy waters of the Polar Sea. Geologists believe that subterranean channels may connect the frozen waters of the far north with the lake of Northern United States and they likewise are awaiting the verdict of the fish experts who will determine whether the trout belongs to the arctic finny family.

While there are several divisions of the trout family in Iceberg Lake and adjacent stretches of water, the species that has raised the conjecture is the first of its kind known to have been taken outside of Behring Sea. It is reported to be a splendid specimen, some two feet in length, and it has been preserved for the benefit of the naturalists.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

THE many friends of Miss Elsie Behymer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Behymer of Carondelet street, will be pleased to learn of her return yesterday from an extended European trip of travel and study. In her honor, a family reunion was held last evening. Miss Behymer left with her father a year ago last May, going directly to Berlin, where she took a special course in the university of that city.

She was the guest of Madam Schumann-Heink and was then motored through the interesting part of Germany by Mme. Johanna Gadski and her husband, Herr Traubser. Remaining in Berlin until Christmas she went to Paris and continued her studies until June. She sailed home from London, where she remained a short time.

In New York, Boston and Washington Miss Behymer was royally entertained by her father's business associates and the United States Marine Band, under Maj. Santleman, played a special programme in her honor, owing to the fact that she could not be present at the regular performance.

On her way West she visited relatives in Shelbyville, then in Chicago, Vancouver, Portland and San Francisco, where her father met her yesterday.

Dr. and Mrs. F. S. Hardin and Mr. and Mrs. H. The rooms were abloom with Maman Cochet roses.

In Review.

PRETTY GIRLS AT PANTAGES.

SINGLE AND ENSEMBLE, THEY ARE CLASS FROM A TO Z.

Only Two New Acts on Orpheum Bill—Norton and Nicholson Offer Quaint Sketch—Kathryn Osterman in "A Persian Garden" Continues to Delight Audiences.

There are exactly two new numbers on the Orpheum programme this week—not counting the motion pictures, which are, of course, always freshly minted.

But let not the paucity of new material discourage you from going, if so you happen to have the vaudeville habit, which is as persistent and persuasive as any other dope of dreams. For the bulk of the bill that lingers from last week, six offerings in all, are all good and all well worth seeing twice.

You'll like to hear and see that charming little musical comedy, "A Persian Garden," once more, without a doubt, for it contains lots of fun and lots of pretty girls as well as lots of good music. The comedy of Louis Simon and Kathryn Osterman is of the richest and raciest.

Also, you'll probably want to see Zelda Sears again in her farcical comedy of stage life, "The Wardrobe Woman," and Gordon Wilde in his clever animated shadow pictures, and G. S. Melvin dancing the hornpipe and singing his br-r-road and bur-r-r-ring Scotch songs, and the four athletic Rotters doing their daring stunts in midair, and, last but not least, Joe Jackson having trouble with a bicycle.

Which brings us to the new things, Miss Norton and Paul Nicholson in a sketch by Miss Norton herself, "A Dramtic Cartoon." It's a bright and humorous thing, a little study of life as it is sometimes lived in a big city. Miss Norton (deponent sayeth not what her first name is,) plays Mayme, a saleslady making $6 a week, and Nicholson takes the part of Mayme's new husband, a dry-goods clerk. There's human nature as well as farcical fun in "A Dramatic Cartoon," and now and again a touch of genuine pathos.

Frank Coombs and Ernest Aldwell have good voices which they handle well in songs new and old.

Pantages.

The charactistic features of the bill at Pantages are a good deal of music and a good many attractive girls. And the good-looking girls all furnish music.

The Girls from the Golden West, with Cora Youngblood Corson at their head, bring a pile of brassy instruments with them from their wild and woolly lair, and as there are six of them you can imagine the triumphant blare of sound that greets the audience when they step out, all decked out in the saucy accouterments of lady grenadiers. Later they assume one pretty gown after another, ending in a glittering, golden Brunhilde garment, in which they march and countermarch through the audience, playing their golden trumpets. Some noise and class—and some music—to the Girls from the Golden West, believe me.

Classy, too, are Adair and Hickey, both pretty girls, who produce ragtime with voice and piano. One of them has Titian hair and a bust like the Venus of Milo, and the other sings "Snookey Ookums" in a new and most effective way.

Music also comes from Gilbert Losee, a big man with a "triple voice"—that is, he can sing, and does sing, like a mezzo-soprano, a tenor and a basso.

"In Youthful Pranks" is the title of the melange of jokes, puns, songs and dances offered by Those Four Kids. Their dancing is the best part of their performance, which is lacking in punch. Harry Fisher and company handle bicycles cleverly.

But perhaps the brightest performer on the programme is Ed Vinton's dog Buster. Buster seems to have almost human intelligence, and the things he does at the friendly request of his master—whose frequent bribe is liverwurst—are varied, interesting and amusing. And the prettiest thing about it all is the intimate friendliness between the two, the air of camaraderie. A terrier of parts is Buster.

Century.

If you are looking for a rip-snorting, side-splitting kind of a show that causes you to laugh spasmodically for over an hour, then you can have your wish gratified by going to the Century Theater this week. We have seen funny shows at the Century, but this week caps the climax. "Heinz's Home, Sweet Home" is the title of this uproar of nonsense, and it depicts the thrilling circumstances that happen to Heinz after he got married.

The comedy situations are written so that the audience is kept on the quivive as to what will happen next. The rehearsal scene, which Heinz overhears, and in which he mistakes the conversation to apply to himself and believes that they are trying to kill him, is the funniest scene ever used in the house.

Jules Mendel plays his usual part of Pickle Heinz, and carries the comedy end of the show in a way that no one but he can do. His work is excellent at all times. Al Franks, as Michael Brady, continues to try to steal Heinz's wife, but he is not very lucky, as the plot discloses at the end. His comedy is of the kind that draws many laughs.

Earl Hall and Walter Spencer carry on their good work, not only in their acting, but each has a song number that carries the audience with them. Clara Howard is cast in a very good part, and her appearance last night was the signal for a great reception. Miss Howard bids fair to be the most popular soubrette that has ever appeared in this theater. Gale Henry, who is always good, plays the part of Mrs. Heinz and does it excellently. Miss Esther King, the new prima donna, carries out her end of the work very good, and her singing is of the highest order. At the matinees Wednesday and Saturday every lady holding a reserved-seat coupon will receive a handsome souvenir pennant and all children accompanied by their parents will be admitted free.

Mozart.

The programme at the Mozart this week is one of the best ever, and no one will make any mistake who takes advantage of the opportunity to see these wonderful educational travelogues.

Topping the bill is the films showing the lassoing of wild animals in Africa. There is a charm of variety in this picture that is refreshingly different from the average animal picture. Buffalo Jones, who was sent by the American Historical Society to make the captures, is featured largely. All the excitement of the hunt is vividly portrayed. The bewitching strength and endurance of the animals, as well as the dexterity of the hunter with his lasso, makes this an overwhelming, thrilling motion picture. The difficult and exciting capture of a full-grown lioness, the caging and getting ready to ship to the zoo in New York, is one of the many stirring scenes.

In the "Scenics" are giant mountains, huge waves, peaceful valleys and pretty waters, all rich in natural beauty. See these beauty spots of the world, for seeing is believing, and beyond the shadow of a doubt you will be charmed and entertained.

STORM DELAYS STEFANSSEN.

Arctic Explorer Is Waiting at Nome Until He Can Join Old Whaler Karluk.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NOME (Alaska) July 21.—A southwest storm which began late Saturday is delaying the departure of Vilhjalmar Stefanssen and several members of his Arctic exploration expedition who are waiting here to complete the landing of the gasoline schooner Mary Sachs, the third vessel of the expedition. If the storm had held off twelve hours longer, all the scientists would have joined the old whaler Karluk at Port Clarence yesterday. The Mary Sachs is riding out the storm off Nome and as soon as the seas subside, will come in to get supplies. Nothing has been heard of the Alaska, the second boat of the expedition, which sailed from Nome Saturday, but she is believed to have sought refuge from the storm behind Sledge Island, twenty-five miles north of Nome.

CONTRADICTS STANLEY.

La Crosse Business Man Denies That the Actor Was a Son of the Great Explorer.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LA CROSSE (Wis.) July 21.—C. W. Dow, a business man here, offered evidence today to contradict the story of Jack Stanley, a vaudeville actor, who, dying at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., last week, professed to be a son of Henry M. Stanley, the famous African explorer. Mr. Dow offered extracts from his diary tending to disprove the tale that "after an absence of nearly two years in Africa, Henry M. Stanley again appeared in England in April, 1874."

"Here is where the inconstancy of Jack Stanley's story appears," said Dow. "Stanley claimed he was 39 years old at the time of his death last Tuesday, so he must have been born prior to July 15, 1874. Henry M. Stanley arrived in Zanzibar, where I was representing a New York importing house, in August, 1874, and organized an expedition to find the source of the Nile, and in charge of the work Livingston had started. I was with Stanley for a month at one time and we became [illegible] quainted.

"He told me about his life and at that time admitted that he was engaged to be married to a young woman in New York and showed me her photograph. He appeared to be greatly infatuated and sent her many beautiful and costly presents. I am positive that Stanley did not have a family in England in the [illegible] he was a man of high ideals and pure morals. He left Zanzibar in 1875 or a year Stanley claims to have been born, and did not return until two years later. In 1890 he married Dorothy Tennant, in Westminster Abbey."

Trustee for Stockton Bankrupt Declares Deeds Were Wrongfully Passed to Mislead Creditors.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Allegations of deliberate fraud are made in a complaint filed against Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Douglas this morning by C. R. Guernsey, acting in his capacity as trustee for Douglas, who has been adjudicated a bankrupt. It is alleged that on February 28, last, three months before he filed his petition in bankruptcy, Douglas conveyed the Compodonico Tract to his wife, his purpose being to defraud certain creditors who were pressing him for settlement. It is alleged also that shortly after the deed was recorded Mrs. Douglas filed a declaration of homestead as an additional means of keeping the creditors from getting their money. The court is asked to nullify the deed and set aside the homestead.

PHOENIX STRIKE PETERS OUT.

FOURTEEN MEN RETURN AT INCREASED WAGES.

Motorman Whose Reinstatement Was One of Chief Demands of Employees Has Gone East and There's Nothing Left for the Disgruntled to Contend For.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The strike of the Phoenix street car employees came practically to its end today with the return to work of fourteen of the carmen at increased wages and with the promise of seniority preference on runs. Counting out those who have withdrawn from the strike previous to today, a scant two dozen men remain out of employment on account of the trouble.

Motorman Ward, whose case was the most aggravated, and who was early made an issue in the strike negotiations, has left for the East, leaving the way clear for the others to go back or not as they saw fit.

There now seems no principle at stake for which the carmen could possibly continue to fight. Yet the newly-organized Union of Street Car Employees is unrecognised both by the street car company and the majority of the city merchants.

TO DUPLICATE ARLINGTON.

Site for a High-Power Radio Station on Pacific Coast Quest of Board of Naval Officers.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VALLEJO, July 21.—The work of selecting a site on the Pacific Coast for a high-power radio station is being done by a board of officers appointed by the Navy Department. The station to be established will be similar to the one at Arlington, Va., and, it is stated, that a site near San Francisco will be recommended unless found that a station so located would be subject to too much interference from other wireless plants.

The board is composed of Lieutenant-Commander Edwin H. Dodd, commanding the torpedo flotilla, and for three years radio officer at Mare Island; Lieut. Arthur J. Hepburn and Carl A. Anderson, civil engineer.

TO APPOINT PRISON DENTIST.

New Official in Folsom Prison Will Care for the Teeth of Inmates of Penitentiary.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, July 21.—Upon the recommendation of Warden Johnston of Folsom prison, the State Board of Prison Directors has created the position of prison dentist for the penitentiary and the order takes effect on the first of next month.

Warden Johnston, in making his recommendation, declared a dentist is of as much importance to the health of the inmates as a physician. The dentist is to be named by the warden and will receive a salary of $1200 a year.

Many of the prisoners at Folsom, according to the warden, are in poor health on account of poor teeth.

DELAYS DIVORCE TOO LONG.

Man Who Waited Sixteen Years Before Filing Suit Is Turned Down by Judge.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A man who waits sixteen years after his cause of action accrues to file divorce complaint should remain in matrimonial bonds all his life, according to an opinion rendered this afternoon by Judge J. A. Plummer. The blow of the judicial decision falls upon Bert Geletta, a Linden farmer, who sought separation from Modalena Geletta on the grounds of desertion.

The couple were married eighteen years in Italy and when Geletta came to this country two years later his spouse refused to accompany him. The husband testified that he had endeavored for sixteen years to induce his wife to come to him and has failed.

The court held that he should have applied for a divorce sooner.

RUNAWAY MATCH AT RENO.

Bride's Mother Hurries from Oakland but Too Late to Head Off the Eloping Couple.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two long telegrams, and a hurried trip to Reno by the bride's mother, Mrs. L. Wilson, failed to stop the marriage here yesterday of Lawrence Bennett Potter of San Francisco, and Miss Daisy F. Brackett. The Rev. Harry Sheldon united the young couple at the Methodist parsonage at 3 o'clock yesterday after they had induced County Clerk Fogg to open his office and issue the license on Sunday. They gave their ages as 22 years. A telegram sent from Oakland signed "Ny Potter," asserted that Potter is under age. Mrs. Wilson also wired from Colfax. Young Potter gave his address as No. 502 Van Ness avenue.

"They are married now and that ends it," said Mrs. Wilson on arriving in Reno, and learning what had occurred.

"The boy's mother did not know they had left together until I telephoned her. I opposed the match, but now that they are married I wish I could find them."

MOVE TO OUST SEATTLE MAYOR.

Public Sentiment Demands Recall Be Invoked.

People Indignant at His Invitation to Anarchy.

Business Men and Others Circulating Petitions.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the announcement of a demand for the beginning of a recall campaign followed by a red-hot statement by Mayor George F. Cotterill making grave charges against the editor of his leading newspaper opponent, the people of Seattle got a few more thrills today, continuing the excitement begun Friday night when sailors from the Pacific reserve fleet and mobs of civilians burned and sacked the headquarters of the Industrial Workers of the World and the Socialists in the anti-red flag riots.

Declaring that he wanted something in the Council records to show his disapproval of the Mayor's action of Saturday in suspending the civil laws, attempting to suppress an edition of the Seattle Daily Times and in closing all saloons, City Councilman Austin E. Griffiths this afternoon introduced the following resolution in the City Council:

"Resolved, that in the opinion of the City Council the action of the Mayor last Saturday in suspending by force and fear the liberties of the people of this city, although taken with the best of motives, ought not, in the interests of orderly government, without regard to present personal or conflicting views upon any subject, be accepted as either a proper or a lawful precedent."

The resolution was sent to committee for consideration.

RECALL SENTIMENT GROWS.

Volunteers enough, organization enough, financial support adequate to defray expenses and a public sentiment sufficiently developed to permit circulators of recall petitions to sweep Mayor George F. Cotterill from office in a single day were claimed this morning by members of patriotic societies and business men, according to a news article in the Times.

There are extreme difficulties in the way of carrying out a recall fight. Only volunteer workers can be used in obtaining signatures to a recall petition and every signature must be that of a regularly-registered voter. Any unauthorized person signing a recall petition is liable to prosecution, and any person knowingly accepting a fraudulent signature can be convicted. Twenty-five per cent. of the number of votes cast at the last municipal election for all mayoralty candidates must be procured and with this year's meager registration this would mean that one-fourth of the total registered vote must be seen.

On the other hand it is asserted, there stands ready, hundreds of persons to take out recall petitions. Scores of persons announced today that they were anxious to contribute to the fund for necessary and legal expenses of recall headquarters, and so soon as an election is authorized willing campaign workers are ready to give their services and money.

COTTERILL'S STATEMENT.

Mayor Cotterill's statement, published in the Seattle Sun, in part is as follows:

"I was elected Mayor of Seattle in March, 1912, after a bitter campaign, made upon the distinctly moral issue of a clean city, enforcing the law requiring a suppressive, non-recognition attitude against commercialized vice. This campaign and election verdict was in continuance and confirmation of that rendered by the people in February, 1911, when Mayor Dilling was chosen by recall of Mayor Gill and a law enforcement policy against vice thereby directly ordered by the voters. My previous public services and life-time advocacy of this and other moral reforms were well known, and always plainly stated. When the people elected me in March, 1912, again defeating Mr. Gill, whose opposite opinions, record and policy upon the pending moral questions were equally well known and clearly stated, the majority thereby again indicated its clear demand for law enforcement and a clean city. Through sixteen months I have endeavored to be true to that trust.

"Through several campaigns involving these moral and economic reform questions, the Seattle Daily TIMES has stood and today stands as the newspaper advocate and apologist for vice and vicious interests, for crime and criminals, for public plunder and for various forms of personal and private monopoly, grafters, legalized and otherwise, who profit from public plunder.

"At the beginning of my term there was an ostentatious declaration that the Times, despite its previous career of vice interest championship, with its accompanying grand jury indictments of Alden J. Blethen and associates for participation in unlawful and vicious practices, and profits, would accept the twice-given verdict of the people and co-operate with the new administration for united civic advance under clean city conditions. Suppressing doubts, I accepted that assurance, as personally and publicly given shortly after my election. The almost immediate violation of that pledged co-operation was a disappointment, but not a surprise."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) July 21.—Litigation extending over a period of five years, and involving $10,000,000 mining property in Mexico, was practically settled in the District Court this morning in favor of Edward R. Tufts when District Judge W. H. Morris declined to accept the report of Referee O. F. Collins, awarding Dr. J. G. Forty Years With Railroad, Assistant Paymaster Passes Away in San Francisco.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles J. Robinson, who for many years was assistant paymaster of the Southern Pacific system, retiring in August, 1907, died at his home in San Mateo this morning after an illness of two months. The immediate cause of his death was asthma and heart failure.

Robinson had been in the service of the Southern Pacific Company a few months less than forty years. He was born in Aurora, Ill., December 14, 1845. In the early sixties, his father, Judge Robinson, was attorney for the Central Pacific. Charles Robinson was first employed in the Central Pacific shops at Sacramento in 1868. In September, 1872, he became auditor of the company; in July, 1890, he went into the general auditor's office, and in October, 1893, became assistant paymaster. In the last year of his service his pay car was in thirteen head-on collisions, in several of which Robinson narrowly escaped death.

Robinson is survived by his widow in San Mateo, and by six children, Paul D. Robinson, a retired engineer of Los Angeles; Mrs. T. N. Alexander, Charles Robinson, Mrs. H. Weidemann, William H. Robinson and Mrs. Charles Donatin.

MRS. U. S. GRANT ANSWERS CRITICS

DENIES HUSBAND'S SONS WILL LOSE FORTUNE.

Declares Reports of Pre-Nuptial Agreement Are Without Foundation and that Her Relations With His Relatives Are Most Cordial. Year and a Half on Honeymoon.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "We are going to New Zealand. From there we shall go to Australia. We shall make a tour of the world which will probably take us a year and a half. Candidly, I don't mind saying that I don't care if we never see the States again."

Mrs. U. S. Grant, who last week wedded the son and namesake of the famous Union general, summarized her honeymoon plans thus, when questioned this morning regarding the circumstances surrounding her marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Grant arrived here today from San Diego on the steamer Yale and registered at the Palace Hotel. In her husband's temporary absence, Mrs. Grant undertook to explain over the telephone what she thought of rumors that Grant's marriage had caused a family ruction.

It had been stated in newspaper reports from San Diego that Grant, who is more than 60 years old, had kept his wedding with his 35-year-old bride a secret for nearly a week, because he feared his son, Chaffee Grant, would bring legal proceedings to annul a pre-nuptial agreement, by which it is said the bride would get most of the Grant fortune. Reports had it that Mrs. Grant was to administer with her husband the Grant estate and to inherit most of it should she survive him.

This was all denied this morning by Mrs. Grant. "It's all a miserable lie," she declared. "It's making me almost sick. Mr. Grant's son knew perfectly well that his father and I were going to get married. We would have started on our honeymoon right away after the marriage if Mr. Grant's business would let him. You know, business men can't always get away when they want to. Mr. Grant's sons were very cordial to me.

"There's not a word of truth in the stories the newspapers have printed about us. No, Mr. Grant, has not made any agreement by which his sons lost their share of the fortune. It's all a lie."

Mrs. Grant discussed the plans for the wedding journey briefly, saying that she and her husband would make the journey by easy stages and would follow no fixed itinerary.

The Grants will sail Wednesday morning on the Union Line steamer Aorangi.

San Franciscan from Whom Husband Asks Fifty Thousand Dollars Damage Says Affair Is a Plot Between Arthur A. Beck and Wife to Acquire Large Sum of Money.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, July 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Phil K. Gordon, who has been made defendant in a $50,000 damage suit instituted by Arthur A. Beck, for the alienation of the affections of his wife, Lillian Beck, left town today on his vacation.

This was at the advice of his attorney, J. W. Dorsey of the firm of Dorsey & Henderson, which has attended to the legal business of the Gordon family for more than a quarter of a century.

"Gordon has anticipated this suit for some time," said Dorsey today, "for he has been receiving threatening letters from Beck and his attorney, Arthur Crane, and it is my opinion that if he had complied with the request for the cash balm, Beck and his wife would have been living together yet. In fact, they have separated only recently, and did not part after the husband learned of the alleged illicit relations between Mrs. Beck and Gordon.

"Whether or not those relations existed do not now enter into the merits of the case. The fact remains that Gordon has been made the victim of a hold-up, a blackmailing scheme, and that the couple are separated now for the sake of appearances only. If Mrs. Beck loved or now loves Gordon as much as she pretends, how could she so forget her great love as to "confess," or if the "confession" were forced from her after she had been followed or trapped by the husband, wouldn't it seem the part of a great love to warn the object of its adoration if that object were in danger? Instead of that, she made herself a party to a conspiracy to set a price upon her affections and her manifestations of such.

"Gordon first met Mrs. Beck when she was a practicing nurse, attending the wife of the overseer of his ranch at Grant's Pass, Or. The woman and he became friendly, and the friendship was resumed when they subsequently met in Sacramento and here. But there never was any promise of marriage made by Gordon, and the woman thoroughly understood on what basis she stood. She simply regarded Gordon as a means to gratify a taste for fine clothes and other luxuries her husband was unable to provide.

"What manner of husband is he who can regard the destruction of his wife's honor as a bargain and as something upon which he can realize $1000 or $1,000,000? If he really thought that she had been debauched by Gordon, why did he not seek out Gordon and thrash him or kill him, as other red-blooded men have done? Why did he not kill her, or at least leave her at once, divorce her, and then settle his score with Gordon? But he does none of these things. He learns, by what means I know not unless there was collusion between the two, of certain alleged clandestine meetings in certain restaurants, and straightway the two, husband and wife, begin to concoct a plot to acquire some of the means of which they are convinced Gordon is possessed. As a matter of fact they have greatly over-estimated his wealth.

"Friends who have known Gordon for years, and have respected and liked him know he could no more urge such a woman to marry him than he could forget the three lovely children to whom he is deeply devoted. They regard the whole affair as most unfortunate and feel that he is the victim of a vampire of a woman and a designing man."

Beck is a construction engineer in the employ of Haviland, Healy & Tibbets.

THE PASSING OF BULGARIA.

Bulgaria is paying the penalty of her bad faith, her arrogance and her insolence. The Roumanians have crossed the Danube and occupied Silistria and are still advancing, seizing Bulgarian territory as they march, with none to check their advance.

In Macedonia the Greeks and Servians have united their forces and are sweeping the Bulgarians before them towards the frontier. The Bulgarians, in their ignominious flight, have left wagons and guns behind them. The fatal mistake of Bulgaria was in attempting to gain her ends by a preconcerted and treacherous attack on her late allies. Monastir and Lake Ochrida, which would have been conceded to her, will now become part of Servia. She will not get Salonica. Her famous "wedge" will be wiped out and the frontiers of Servia and Greece in Macedonia will march continuously without the intervention of a Bulgarian zone. To cap the climax her soldiers are without food, her treasury is empty, her credit is gone and her cowardly King has run away.

COMING OF THE HYDROPLANE.

The hydroplane appears to be thus far the safest and most successful form of air traveling yet projected. It is peculiarly adapted for use in bays, harbors and inland lakes. It may be used also over quiet seas for a considerable distance. A boat capable of carrying ten, fifty, a hundred or, for that matter, a thousand persons can be constructed with air chambers and ballasted so as to make sinking or overturning impossible. It is fastened to a wharf the same as any boat. When the time for departure arrives it is paddled away from the wharf like any other boat for a hundred or a thousand yards. Then it unfolds its wings and rises into the air. It can ascend a mile, but twenty to fifty feet is sufficient for all practical purposes. Arrived at its destination it folds its wings, drops into the water and paddles up to the wharf.

A small hydroplane has been successfully operated at Gray's Harbor. One of larger size is now being constructed at San Francisco. The contractor promises to build a hydroplane that, with a load of passengers, will make the trip from the foot of Market street to Oakland wharf in four minutes. If the hydroplane can perform what is promised for it, ferry boats, except for the transportation of freight and animals, will be consigned to the junk pile.

OPPORTUNITIES IN CHINA.

The "opportunities" in China, concerning which many of the eastern newspapers are agitating, consist of chances to do missionary work, with which the field is already fairly well supplied, and "opportunities" to young men who bring their jobs with them. The Chinese prefer to be slain by their own doctors, and their law practice is peculiar. If a Chinaman is sued for a debt he did not contract he does not waste time disproving the alleged obligation. He produces a forged receipt for the amount claimed, and brings into court several witnesses who testify that they saw him pay the money. A Chinaman is so crude in his ideas concerning the obligations of employer and employed that he will pay a skillful and industrious workman more per hour or per day then he will to an unskillful or slothful one. There are no slangwhanging journalists in China. The tea farmers do not mix dried grass with their tea leaves. They hatch eggs in a manure heap, and when they wish to misconduct themselves they first obtain a license from a Chinese official.

As tailors, dressmakers, cooks and domestic servants, they can give points to Americans. They are dexterous and quick in the use of their fingers, and can supply all the labor needed for mechanical purposes. China is a good country for enterprising Americans to keep away from.

THE WORLD'S GOLD.

The London Statist, an authority, places the total of the world's holding of gold in June last at $4,687,000,000, against $4,430,000,000 at the same time last year, an increase in one year of $256,000,000. This shows that the increase in the output has continued.

It may alarm those who believe in the theory that the greater the supply of gold the less the purchasing power of the metal, and hence the increase in prices of commodities, says the Times of Troy, N. Y. The London Statist does not accept the theory, for that journal notes that there has been a scarcity of gold in some quarters, and there is still a greater demand than can at once be met. If more gold meant higher cost of living it is not likely there would be such a rush for the metal by the nations of Europe, most of which are interested in keeping down domestic expenses. But gold does furnish an excellent basis for monetary exchange, and the holding of large quantities is an assurance of sound credit.

So the United States is in good standing and position, for, according to the Statist, this country has something like $1,400,000,000 gold in the Federal treasury and in the national banks, while Russia, our nearest competitor, has $805,500,000. France, also a great gold country, has $683,000,000; Germany, $360,000,000; Italy and Austria each $352,000,000, and England $192,000,000. It is interesting to note that Argentina, a comparatively small nation, has $263,000,000, a much larger amount proportionately than that held by some of the big countries. Argentina on the gold basis is prospering amazingly.

WHY VOTE UNSALABLE BONDS?

While the eastern money market is in its present condition, with the United States government bonds selling at 2 per cent. less than par, what sense is there in the City Council of Los Angeles putting the already overloaded taxpayers to the expense of an election to vote bonds which cannot be sold if they are issued?

Already we have on hand $4,000,000 worth of unsold bonds which will never be sold at the rate of interest they bear, 4½ per cent., and which could not be sold now, with the bond and money market in the state it is, even if the interest was raised to 5 per cent. Bear in mind that the law forbids the sale of Los Angeles city bonds at less than par, and that at this time millions upon millions of dollars' worth of good municipal and State bonds—5 per cents. at that—are being hawked around New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other money centers for sale at par and even less without finding buyers. Some of these bonds are issues by cities larger and wealthier than Los Angeles. Naturally, those futile bond offerings are injuring the credit of the issuing States and municipalities, just as a business man's credit is injured if his note is hawked around the banks of his town for discount without any bank being willing or able to discount it. This makes a borrower's credit second-class where before it had been, and still ought to be, first-class. Why should the taxpayers of Los Angeles pay out thousands of dollars for another futile bond election, the only effect of which, if bonds are voted, will be to make the credit of their prosperous city (and indirectly their own credit) second-class? Why should any one of us pay more taxes for the purpose of injuring our own and the city's credit?

San Francisco is also facing this same difficulty. Authorization of $3,500,000 5 per cent. bonds is sought. Those bonds are for building municipal street car lines which San Francisco does not need any more than Los Angeles needs a duplicate power distribution system at a beginning cost of $6,500,000, the issuance of bonds for which Los Angeles taxpayers properly voted down on April 15 last. By extravagant and unnecessary issuance of bonds the tax rate of San Francisco has increased from $1.0762 in 1901 to $2.20 now. Los Angeles is well on the road ($1.54 last year and doubtless more this year) towards the same condition. Why make us pay in taxes the interest on $6,500,000 more bonds to construct a duplicate power distribution system when the present satisfactory distribution systems can be utilized by the city on favorable terms and $6,500,000 further debt not be incurred? By leasing the present systems the city can get into the retail power business and do its own distributing just the same as if it owned the distributing system.

Such being the case, and it is the case, why shoulder the useless expense of voting $6,500,000 bonds, which cannot be sold, even at a discount, for a long time to come, if at all? And, if sold, the proceeds will be wasted—literally thrown away—in the building of a distributing system in duplication of one already built which fully answers the purpose.

That is a straight business proposition which all taxpayers, male and female alike, can easily understand. The reverse is as silly as if a man put another heating system in his house while the one already in keeps the house comfortably warm when needed.

On July 11 the San Francisco Chronicle said: "It is proposed that we borrow $2,500,000 at 5 per cent. interest to build street railroads. We cannot borrow money at present at 5 per cent. There is no probability that we shall be able to do so at any time during the current year.

"Moreover, on many buildings construction has stopped, or must speedily stop, or perhaps not begin, because we cannot sell bonds."

Los Angeles is in that fix today in regard to the $4,000,000 necessary bonds which it voted on April 15 last. Why add to the "fix" by voting more unsalable bonds?

CHOOSING A CAREER.

Fifty million children are born every year on this planet. For all of these, unless they choose one for themselves, their parents must find a suitable career. And on the choice of this career depends to a great extent the future happiness of these 50,000,000 children. There is no greater responsibility attached to married life than that of starting sons and daughters along the road most suitable for their temperaments, talents and attainments.

The whole success in life depends on a proper combination of the two prime forces, impulse and judgment. Nothing is quite so good or quite so bad as we expect it will be. To start our children right we need cool heads and warm hearts.

For girls the logical career is—or used to be—wifehood and motherhood; but the army of school teachers, stenographers, business women, etc., is constantly calling for fresh recruits. So our girls are filling many useful positions without losing sight of the noblest office to themselves, their country and the whole race, that of being queen of the home.

To find the right occupation for every male child on this planet is a more difficult and complicated problem. Some boys have such strong natural bents, such positive talents, that their career may be said to choose itself. But the majority, having just average brains and average industry, the choice of a life occupation must be settled by local environment, opportunity, family influence or the ties of friendship. For every child there is a logical place in the world, if he will honestly fill it. What that place may be depends on so many different issues that no hard and fast law can be laid down to suit each individual case.

The responsibility is equally divided between the child and the parent; indifference on the part of the child as to his future life work is a heavy handicap in the race for success; too much insistence on the part of the parent, disregarding the wishes of the boy, is also a stumbling block in starting a career. One of the saddest sights we meet is that of a youth trying to settle down to tasks for which he is hopelessly unfitted. The suffering of "mute, inglorious Miltons" is not recorded in tables of statistics. For such, however, there is consolation in the thought that it is never too late to change.

Efficiency.

GOOD ROADS AND LAND VALUES.

The direct effect that changing bad roads into good ones has had upon land value and the general economic welfare of a community is shown in several concrete illustrations gathered by the United States Department of Agriculture. We of Los Angeles county know of the enhanced land values which have followed our investment of $3,500,000 in good roads, but it is interesting to hear reports from elsewhere along the same line.

In Lee county, Virginia, a farmer owned 100 acres which he offered to sell for $1800. In 1908 a road passing through his property was improved. Now, though the farmer fought the improvement, he has refused $3000 for his farm. Along this same road a tract of land was agreed to be sold for $6000. The purchaser threw up the contract, however, and the owner threatened to sue him. After the road improvement, and without any improvement upon the land, the same farm was sold to the original purchaser for $9000, a gain of $3000, directly and solely attributable to the good road.

In Jackson county, Alabama, the people voted a bond issue of $250,000 for road improvement and improved 24 per cent. of the roads. The selling value of farm lands there at that time was from $6 to $15 per acre. It is now from $15 to $25.

As the roads in no way affect soil fertility or quality of the farm, advances in acreage values are due essentially to the decrease in the cost of hauling produce to market or shipping point. Farms are now regarded as plants for the business of farming (a business becoming more scientific every day) and any reduction in their profits through unnecessarily heavy costs for hauling on bad roads naturally reduces their value. With reduced costs for hauling, observes the Journal of Albany, N. Y., profits are increased, with the result that the farm plant shows satisfactory earnings on a higher capital value.

The automobile also has become an important factor in increasing rural values where good roads are introduced.

Increasing population is particularly marked where road conditions are favorable; in fact, the figures of the department seem to indicate that good roads indirectly increase the demand for rural property; and the price of farm land, like that of any other commodity, is ruled by the relations between demand and supply. Every dollar properly spent on good roads brings in many more dollars.

A GENEROUS GOVERNMENT.

Except in Alaska, where the interests of Gifford Pinchot and his Pocahontas Coal Company demanded an illiberal and restrictive policy, the action of our government in dealing with the actual settler on the public lands has been exceedingly generous.

There is very little public agricultural land left except arid lands, and in order to make these available for the production of food it is necessary that they be irrigated. The construction of irrigation dams, reservoirs and canals is a work utterly beyond the ability of the homestead settler. The government of the United States with extraordinary liberality has undertaken and carried out such work in several of the Rocky Mountain States with beneficent results.

The policy of the government has been to encourage the settler and keep out the speculator and to do this without burdening the public treasury.

This has been accomplished in many localities by the operation of the reclamation service. The cost of the work is apportioned among the lands benefited by it. This cost the settler must pay, but the payment is extended over a period of years. Arid lands are rich in plant food and are exceedingly prolific when irrigated. Any industrious man can make a good living and meet his water payments from his crops.

Secretary Lane has extended and enlarged the liberal policy pursued by his predecessors in office. "He has decided," says a Boston paper, "that there shall be a temporary reduction to one-third the amount due from present settlers on final installments on building charges, provided that no payment shall be less than 50 cents an acre. The unpaid balance is to be added to the last installments for water right applications, those making such payments being entitled to credits either on their next annual installments, or on operation and maintenance charges now due. Only those who have paid all amounts for operation and who have actually cultivated not less than half the irrigable area of their land, or not less than five acres in each case for each irrigation season since water was first available, may benefit by this policy."

From all indications there is to be no cessation of the work of reclamation. The government from a financial point of view is proceeding along perfectly safe lines. It is well secured at every point.

Who would have ventured to predict thirty years ago that Nevada, Arizona and Idaho would become agricultural States? In 1900 Nevada had but 42,335 people, mostly engaged in mining and stock raising. The census of 1910 gave her 81,875 people. Arizona had but 88,243 people in 1890. In 1910 she had a population of 204,354. Idaho had 88,548 people in 1890. The last census gave her 325,594. The increased population of all these intermountain States consists mostly of farmers.

The reclamation of arid lands by government works is only in its infancy. If the Newlands plan, which is perfectly feasible, shall be adopted, the mind can scarcely conceive of the immense agricultural development that will ensue. If our population shall increase for the next sixty years in the same ratio as during the last sixty years, there are 10-year-old boys now attending school who, before they shall reach three score and ten, will behold in these United States a population of four hundred millions of people, and four millions of them will be here in Los Angeles.

EFFECT OF TARIFF REDUCTION.

The law of supply and demand is rigid, unrepealable and incapable of change. It overrides acts of Congress and bids defiance to the theories of tariff changers. With free wool from the Argentine, South Africa and Australia, the production of wool in this country will be reduced. The production of mutton and lamb will necessarily be correspondingly decreased. The prices of these meats will be advanced, and for every dime the wearer of a woolen shirt saves by free wool, he will lose a dollar in the higher price he will pay for meat.

Free sugar will decrease production of sugar cane in Louisiana, Hawaii and Porto Rico. It will put an end to production of beet sugar in California, Colorado and the Northwest. The American Sugar Refineries Company will control the sugar market in the United States and if it does not advance the price of sugar to consumers it will not reduce it. The public will gain nothing, the refineries company will add fifty to seventy millions of dollars per annum to its profits, and the United States treasury will be minus that amount.

The effects of the citrus fruit freeze in California last winter resulted in an advance to $8.50 per box in New York in the price of Sicilian lemons. That was an object lesson which ought to be heeded. A freeze is not likely to happen again in many years. But a reduction in the tariff on lemons would discourage and cripple the lemon industry here, prevent the planting of new orchards, and the money now paid for California lemons would go to Sicilian growers.

A reduction in the tariff on textile fabrics will close many mills and factories in the East and compel their operatives to accept European wages. The Wilson-Underwood tariff, taken as a whole, will not save two dollars per annum per capita to the people of the United States, and it will check our industrial progress and cause retrogression and decay.

NO LEGISLATORS.

President Wilson has announced that State Senators and Assemblymen need expect no Federal appointments from him. However careless he may be in other particulars he will not stain the fair fame of his administration by subjecting the customs and postal service to the ravages of such cattle as were last winter driven around and around Holy Hiram's legislative corral.

EUROPE'S MILITARY BURDEN.

BY WALTER J. BALLARD.

Germany is increasing its army and armament, for which purpose $250,000,000 is to be spent. The bill changing the term of compulsory military service from two to three years has passed the Chamber of Deputies of France and will become a law. Through the enactment of this measure and as a result of other steps recently taken the French army on a peace footing will have a strength of 700,000. This is less than the numerical showing of the German army, but there are conditions which are regarded as counterbalancing the apparent German superiority in the number of fighting men. France has allies in Great Britain and Russia, and a war between France and Germany would be likely to bring powerful moral, if not actual, support to the French nation, says the Times of Troy, N. Y. Germany might be obliged to confront strong enemies on her eastern and western frontier and on the ocean. The situation would be essentially different from that in 1870, when Prussia made such short work of the military forces of Napoleon III.

These and other aspects of the case are discussed with frankness by the statesmen and journalists of Europe, weighing the probabilities of a collision between France and Germany, the result of the intense racial antagonism on both sides. But there is much in the situation to create belief that the great conflict will be staved off. The attitude of Great Britain and Russia is such as to give Germany pause. Moreover, notwithstanding recent military preparations, the world-policy of Germany, fostered and strengthened by Emperor William, has been that of peace, with corresponding extension of commerce.

Besides, there is ample evidence that the recent additions to the military burdens are making restive even so patient and acquiescent a people as the Germans. The same thing is true of the French. The increase in the length of the army service and the consequent withdrawal of workers from productive occupations are of great economic importance, as a nation so alert, frugal and industrious as the French is quick to perceive.

On their face the facts seem disheartening to those who seek to bring about international peace. But looking under the surface and taking into account many influences which, while hidden, are very powerful, there is reason to believe that the rattling of sabers and the banging of shields in the camps of Europe are by no means infallible portents of actual conflict.

STREAKS OF WIT.

The Painful Moment.

[Ladies' Home Journal:] "Bobby," said the lady in the street car, severely, "why don't you get up and give your seat to your father? Doesn't it pain you to see him reaching for the strap?"

"Not in a car," said Bobby. "It does at home."

Sounded Like Trouble.

[London Opinion:] Friendly Constable: Come, come, sir; pull yourself together. There's your wife calling you.

Festive Gent: Wha' she call—hic—calling me, Billy or William?

Constable: William, sir.

Festive Gent: Then I'm not goin'—hic—'ome.

Where He Could Vote.

[Washington Star:] "How did you come to be sent to Congress?" said the inquisitive person.

"Well," replied Senator Sorghum, "some of my most influential constituents concluded I could do better work for them on the floor than I could as a regular lobbyist."

Recognized the Difference.

[Judge:] Husband: My love, we must get rid of that cook. Did you ever see a worse-looking chop than the one I've just put on my plate?

Wife: Yes, dear; the one you've just put on mine.

Both Were Learning.

[London Opinion:] Husband: I say, dear, dinner's horribly late again.

Wife: Look here, when you married me you didn't marry a cook.

Husband: Well, you needn't rub it in.

Talking Baseball.

[Chicago Record Herald:] "Henry, it says here that Mr. Jackson pelted the pill for three sacks. What does it mean?"

"Good heavens! Mary, can't you understand plain English? It means that he slugged the sphere safe and landed on the third pillow."

Made a Difference.

[Cassell's Journal:] Rev. Gent: I really cannot understand why you get so intoxicated, Martin. If I go into the town and come away perfectly sober, surely you could do the same.

Martin: Aye, sir; but you see, I be that 'ere popular.

New Bible Interpretation.

[Judge:] "Now, children," said the Sunday-school teacher to the juvenile class, "can any of you tell me what an epistle is?"

"I can," answered a little fellow at the foot of the class. "An epistle is the wife of an apostle."

Satisfactory Arrangement.

[Boston Transcript:] Her Suitor: I wish to marry your daughter, sir.

Her Dad (sternly:) My daughter, sir, will continue under the parental roof.

Her Suitor: Well, sir, the parental roof looks good to me.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

Oh, I could stand the sizzling heat and wear a sweet seraphic smile, and I could waltz on joyous feet, as though my soul contained no bile, and I could bless the summer day, the brazen sun, the sky of blue, if no one held me up to say: "Well, is this hot enough for you?" I am a gentle, patient guy, I suffer long before I fight; all day, without a groan, I fry, without complaint I stew all night; but Berserk blood gets in my eyes, and I see red instead of blue, when some cheap skate comes up and cries: "Well, is this hot enough for you?" The worm will turn at last, they say, and I, though far from being bold, sometimes go forth and slay and slay, and strew my dead across the wold. On gory fields I thus have basked, on fields that wore a crimson dew; 'twas when ten million chumps had asked: "Well, is it hot enough for you?" Ah yes, it's hot enough for me, but I could smile to beat the band, and broil and sweat and melt with glee, if that old question could be canned. The sun might bake me to a crisp, and I'd be glad the long day through, if no one ever stopped to lisp: "Well, is it hot enough for you?"

We lay the stone, the girder weld,
But still our cities are less grand

Gov. Dunne of Illinois knows what he was elected for, and a few days ago he announced that he intends to dispose of most of the patronage in the hands of the Executive within the next thirty or forty days, and that the State administration is to be Democratic so far as the places go that are within the Governor's control. This is the same spirit being shown by President Wilson and Secretary Burleson, and other Cabinet officials.

The proposal of the Postoffice Department to substitute on the postal cards the likeness of Thomas Jefferson for that of the martyr President McKinley, has brought out a strong protest from Ohio. The protest is non-partisan, Democrats signing themselves as such, joining with Republicans in complaining against the proposed change.

The recent announcement by Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois that all Federal appointments in his State must receive his O.K. or be opposed in the Senate has had its effect. So many hungry office seekers have besieged him at the Shoreham Hotel, where he has been making his Washington home, that he has abandoned the hotel and taken up his residence at the exclusive Army and Navy Club, to which he was eligible to membership by reason of his service in the Spanish-American War. He can now consume his eggs and coffee before they get cold.

Gov. Cole L. Blease, of South Carolina, who recently told the War Department that he was glad to have the Federal appropriation for the militia of his State withdrawn, has seen a new light, and now promises to carry out the provisions of the militia law if the Federal aid, amounting to $75,000 a year, be restored. He has learned that, while it may have a pleasing sound to be called a fire-eater, it is sometimes a costly honor.

For appointing a locomotive engineer and a summer resort hotel keeper to the Public Service Commission of New York State, the Railway Age Gazette, says: "Gov. Sulzer has degraded that commission to the low estate of a political body, like its predecessor, the old railroad commission." The one, it says, "was appointed to please the labor unions, and the other to please the Democratic politicians."

Senator William Borah of Idaho has considered it necessary to state in a letter to a friend in Topeka, Kan., that he is not a candidate for the Presidential nomination. As regards his position, he says: "I should like to be helpful in making the Republican party a positive and affirmative influence in political affairs again, and to help direct it along progressive and aggressive lines, to rehabilitate it in principles and restore it in power, to make it the faithful medium through which its millions of devoted supporters can enjoy the realization of their hopes and aspirations, and I do not want to be considered, while doing this, as a candidate at all, for any office. I positively am not."

Valley Junction, Iowa, is in the limelight by a movement to oust the Mayor, because he has failed to make any statement of moneys collected by him during the year ending March 31, 1913, and second, that he does not attend meetings of the Council regularly. The members of the Council are behind the movement against the Mayor, as he has ignored a resolution of the Council ordering him to report the amount of money he had collected in licenses and fines by July 1.

The next campaign in Kansas will be a warm one, because of the election of a Senator to succeed Senator Bristow. It is believed that Bristow will receive the primary nomination of the Progressives, while Charles Curtis will run again as a regular Republican. With this division of the normal Republican strength, the Democrats have great expectation of electing their candidate. At the present time, five Democratic devotees are said to be willing to accept the Senatorial nomination, and the campaign is not yet started.

With President Wilson publishing political pamphlets, Secretary of State Bryan and Speaker Champ Clark on the Chautauqua lecture platform, and each working for the money there is in it, we certainly have a national administration characterized by a Democratic frugality if not of simplicity.

CHINESE HAVE TURTLE CURE.

They Cook and Eat the Animal for Relief of Certain Diseases Instead of Using it to Create Serum.

[New York Times:] The old saw about there being nothing new under the sun applies even to Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann's alleged turtle cure for tuberculosis, since a turtle preparation has figured as a specific in the pharmacopoeia of the Chinese for more than 2000 years, according to William Smith, the turtle dealer, who supplies the Hotel Martinque. Of course, the vaccine wrinkle is new, neither the ancient nor the modern Chinese physicians preparing their turtle remedy that way, the approved form of administering it being as a broth.

According to Mr. Smith, the Chinese name for the medicinal animal is Gum Ten Guoy, and it was the fact that so many Chinese came to his place of business to buy turtles, and were willing to pay almost any price to get them, that led him to investigate why there was such a demand from the yellow race.

He found that it was common practice to administer turtle broth, not only for all forms of tuberculosis, but also for stomach disorders and kidney trouble. Mr. Smith asked his Celestial customers for letters of recommendation and testimonials for the alleged "cure," and collected an interesting assortment of documents telling about the wonderful results achieved by administering the turtle preparation in the diseases indicated.

Another point discovered was that the Chinese considered the American turtle far superior medicinally to its oriental brother, hence the large demand for those grown in the United States. In an interview with one of the high priests the dealer learned that the exact method of preparation was kept a close secret by the Chinese medical fraternity, but that herbs possessing medicinal value were used in brewing the concoction.

To See Through Paper.

[New York Press:] A very remarkable experiment which any one can repeat with very little trouble has been unearthed by a German. Take a piece of paper of such thickness that, when it is laid upon a piece of printed matter, the characters just show through, but cannot be read. Placing it over a printed sheet, impart to it a circular motion to and fro, and to your surprise you will find that now you can read the print below the paper.

It is rather difficult to explain this peculiar effect. The explanation offered is that the paper has thin places in it, and by rapidly moving it over the print, every part of the printed matter is exposed in turn underneath one or the other of the thin places in the paper, and thus the entire print can be read. However, that may be, the experiment is interesting and very simple, requiring for its performance only the simplest means imaginable.

Pocket Telephones in Use.

[New York Press:] A serviceable pocket telephone is the latest innovation of the Hungarian posts and telegraphs administration. The appliance weighs only 120 grammes, is no bigger than a card case, and can be had by any one on payment of the price of forty ordinary telephone conversations, which cost a penny each.

The pocket telephone is adapted for insertion in a wall plug either in a private house, on street walls, or in a lamp post, etc. When the user has finished his conversation he simply removes the telephone from the plug and puts it back in his pocket.

Treasury Statement.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The condition of the United States treasury at the beginning of business today was: Net balance in general fund, $128,540,883. Total receipts, Saturday, $4,096,385. Total payments Saturday, $2,820,216. The deficit this fiscal year, is $17,374,845 against a deficit of $8,192,155 last year, exclusive of Panama Canal and public debt transactions.

NAVEL ORANGES IN JAPAN.

Exportations to Australia Are Already Considerable and Will Soon Affect the American Trade.

[California Fruit Grower:] A Japanese press note states that 1000 boxes of navel oranges grown in Japan were exported the past winter to the United States, says a consular report. Japanese navel oranges have recently been exported in considerable quantities to Australia, where, on account of their cheapness, they have successfully competed with the California navel oranges for that market.

Three years ago these oranges were seldom seen in the markets of Northern Japan and their price prevented an extensive sale. Navel oranges grown in Kyushu and the southern parts of Hondo are now to be had in every part of Japan at 18 and 30 cents per dozen, according to quality. Japanese navel oranges are good in quality, thin skinned, juicy and sweet, and the trees do not seem to have scale diseases.

The number of navel trees in all Japan in 1909 was 627,662, which yielded 5,375,948 pounds, the increase two years later to 1,067,659 trees and 10,549,622 pounds of fruit is noteworthy. The planting of navel oranges is rapidly extending, and if the quality of the fruit improves with the growing importance of the business, the Japanese navel oranges may be looked upon as a formidable competitor of the California product in Australian and New Zealand markets.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Sugar has advanced 10 points, owing principally to the higher prices and firmness of raws in New York. The upward movement of the market in the eastern city will probably not be followed as closely hereabouts, if it should, as the local sugar "campaigner" are due soon to be in full swing. The heavy demands of the canning season, and the anticipated delay in affecting the tariff revision on the sweet product have been largely responsible for the general strength of the market. The local crop of beets is good this season.

Hay has fallen off a little, owing principally to heavy receipts of the new crop and rather dull demand for certain grades. Some of the finer kinds of hay still remains high, they having been less affected by the weakness of the market than others.

A car or so of Gravenstein apples were in from Sonoma county and were offered at $2 a box. Three and one-half and four-tier sizes were in receipt. This is about the first considerable shipment of the variety that has arrived here this season. Peaches are easier, owing to larger receipts. Apricots are gradually becoming scarce, but the demand is rather light. There is a fair supply of Satsuma plums. Other varieties are coming in steadily, and meet with a good demand. A few cherries from Oregon and English gooseberries from Idaho are occasionally received. Black figs are a little weak, owing to the large supply. White figs are pretty steady. Watermelons and cantaloupes are easy, owing to the improving receipts of local stock. Many more watermelons are in the market. A few fancy freak cantaloupes and casabas were received and were offered at 3 cents a pound. Casabas were stronger.

Tomatoes were stronger, as the over-abundance has been pretty well cleaned up. Other vegetables remained about the same.

There were no changes in the price of butter, eggs and cheese. The market was about steady.

Reported receipts were: Eggs, 342 cases; butter, 45,425 pounds; cheese, 4,000 pounds; potatoes, 1951 sacks; onions, 270 sacks; apples, 3223 boxes.

After a week's vacation, Paul K. Phillips presided at this call at the Produce Exchange.

Copper Industry.

London—copper opened firm with spot at £60 15s 0d, up 5s, and futures at £64 1s 3d, up 5s. Tin opened strong with spot at £184 5s, up £2 5s, and futures at £184, 15s, up £2 5s. Lead was at £20 5s, up 5s.

London copper closed steady with spot at £62 15s 0d, unchanged, and futures at £64 1s 3d, unchanged. Tin closed easy with spot at £183 15s, off 10s, and futures at £184, 5s, off 10s. Spelter opened at £201 2s 6d, unchanged.

The New York copper was easy with spot at 13¼ bid, July at 13¾@14¼, August at 13¾@14¼ and September at 13.95@14.05. Tin was 44¾ with spot at 40¼@40¾, July 40.15@40.50, August and September at 40¼@40¾. Lead was at 4.90@4.40, and Spelter at 5.90@5.40.

Engle Jones & Company received the following cable from London: "All copper producers are quoting at £60 (14¾ cents) for electrolytic. There is a fair inquiry by consumers, while dealers are disposed to hold for higher prices."

The United Verde Copper Company produced approximately 18,000,000 pounds of copper in the six months ended June 30, or practically the same as for the first half of 1912. When its new smelter is finished United Verde will have extended about 18,000,000 for a plant to replace the old smelter at Jerome, which has been the cause of much trouble during the past few years. United Verde paid no dividend July 1. In fact, payments during the past two years have been rather irregular as the management has deemed it wiser to conserve earnings to aid in extraordinary property expenditures.

There is no truth in the report that negotiations for the sale of the Butte-Alex Scott mine to the Anaconda Copper Mining Company are being considered, according to Chas. J. Rose, superintendent of the Butte-Alex Scott mina. It is probable that the report arose through the sale of a small block of ground by the Alex Scott Company to the Anaconda Company, that was recently agreed upon by both sides and which was purchased to protect the West Colusa property. Stone says: "June 1 the Anaconda Company paid us $20,000 as the first payment toward the purchase of a block of ground extending from the 1600 to the 2200 level and with a length of seventy-five feet on the strike of the vein. The engineers of the two companies have in their hands the determination of the purchase price, which we believe will be between $200,000 and $300,000."

It is rumored in Houghton that Dr. Zachus L. Hubbard has or will resign as president of the Ojibway Copper Company, and as general manager of the Houghton and Winona companies, and that he will be succeeded by Mining Engineer A. L. Dickerman. The local office of the Houghton and Winona companies has received no formal resignation from Dr. Hubbard, nor any intimation from him that he intends to resign. Dr. Hubbard is also consulting geologist of the St. Mary's Mineral Land Company and the South Lake Mining Company.

There is almost a tinge of the pathetic in the showing of Calumet and Hecla for the first six months of 1913, with an output of only 30,000,000 pounds of copper, against 36,500,000 for the corresponding period of last year. Calumet and Hecla producing at the rate of 60,000,000 pounds per annum is quite a different proposition from a few years ago—no longer than 1906—when output was 80,000,000 pounds; in the fiscal year ended April 30, 1906, this famous property produced 101,600,000 pounds. The causes for this steadily declining production are plain—increasing richness of the conglomerate and Osceola lodes and the well-known scarcity of labor in the Lake Superior district, which is affecting practically every mine. Calumet and Hecla probably has not suffered so much proportionately, however, as have the other properties, because its wage scale is the highest in the district and it naturally receives first consideration from unemployed labor. On this reduced production and a 15¼-cent copper market, the average price for the six months, Calumet and Hecla probably earned from its own operations, after charging note interest and crediting dividends received from sub-companies, not far from $2,100,000, or $21 per share on its 100,000 shares outstanding. This estimates cost of production at 10 cents per pound, against 9.85 in the 1912 year, it being inconceivable that a rising cost could be forestalled even with the advent of one-man drills and other economies in face of the two adverse factors above mentioned. In tabular form Calumet and Hecla's income account for the past six months may be approximated as follows:

15¼ cts. per lb. profit on 30,000,000 lbs.	$1,650,000
Dividends from sub-companies	543,900
Gross earnings	2,213,850
Deduct note interest	90,000
Net earnings	2,119,350
Per share	21

Against these earnings dividends of $20 per share were paid, so that cash position was probably slightly improved during the period. Equity in sub-company earnings above dividends received during the six months was inconsequential because Almeek, Osceola and Isle Royale paid out substantially all that was earned on 15¼-cent copper, while the profits and losses made by non-dividend payers undoubtedly came near striking a balance.

SEMI-MONTHLY MAGAZINE

—SECTION OF—

The Los Angeles Times

For August Third

MONEY! LOVE! HUMOR!

—are the three keynotes to the next issue of the Semi-Monthly Magazine. They are sounded in text and picture by such master hands as Lloyd Osbourne, John Fleming Wilson, Harris Merton Lyon, Dr. David Starr Jordan, B. Cory Kilvert, R. F. Schabelitz, Horace Taylor, Tudor Jenks and Harry Spafford Potter.

THE LEADING FEATURE OF THIS TIP-TOP NUMBER IS

"Cornering Mr. Cobb"

By Lloyd Osbourne
Illustrations by R. F. Schabelitz

Love stories, like eggs, may be strictly fresh, just fresh, or they may be otherwise—but to get a strictly fresh A No. 1 love story is a good deal harder than to get freshly the lay of the hen. All of which means that Lloyd Osbourne has never written a bigger, better, brighter love story than his "turkey trot" with Cupid in next Sunday's magazine. Mr. Cobb, the hero, is the young captain of a queer, but big-paying industry, and Viola Trudell, the heroine, is—well, just as dear and desirable as a heroine should be. Between and about them is a procession of thrills and surprises.

"A Base (Ball) Canard"

By Harris Merton Lyon
Illustrations by Horace Taylor

Everybody knows why baseball is the most popular game in the United States, but nobody likes to go on record as telling, says Harris Merton Lyon, and then proceeds to throw some startling X-ray on the national pastime. His novel reason for its popularity is, in two chunks, because this is the Land of Let George Do It and also the Land of Public Opinion. The author good-naturedly throws a searchlight and a tickling harpoon into American character as disclosed by the national game.

"The Girl and the Dollar Bills"

By John Fleming Wilson
Illustrations by H. S. Potter

Ordinary detectives make it their business to detect doers of evil, but Marie-Jean O'Patrick, being anything but ordinary, makes it his business to detect persons who commit magnificently good deeds. What happens to Marie-Jean and to the Girl and the Dollar Bills is no less funny than strange. In this story John Fleming Wilson has done one of the best topsy-turvy yarns that has appeared since O. Henry laid down his pen.

"A Crusade for Twenty Million School Children"

Editorial
By Dr. David Starr Jordan

Half the school children of America are tubercular, and other millions are more or less needlessly crippled in health—a situation with which leading educators will grapple at Buffalo next month in the Fourth International Congress on School Hygiene. Dr. Jordan goes to the roots of this grave and growing problem in a trenchant editorial.

"A Discredited Oracle"

By Tudor Jenks
Illustrations by T. Victor Hall

When in doubt, pop the question without consulting the cards, is the moral of a delightful little story by Tudor Jenks in the next number. He, the man in the story, was head-over-heels in love, but was afraid to speak out and up to the girl. She, at the same time, was afraid he wouldn't speak. Both had played solitaire over it and the cards had lied scandalously to them. But it all ends well.

"The Home Run"

Cover Design
By B. Cory Kilvert

Kilvert boys will be boys, and in this cover design in colors, one of the youngsters has knocked a ball into the outfield, where a stray bulldog is shown growling over it. The fielders dassn't pick up the ball, so the batter negotiates bases for a home run. It's a scream!

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Board of Public Works declared itself yesterday in favor of accepting the bid of C. D. Crouch for garbage disposal, but referred the bids to the City Council for its consideration. Crouch proposes to pay the city 51 cents per ton for the garbage and to destroy it by reduction.

The City Council voted yesterday to pay $2000 towards the expenses of the International Christian Endeavor Convention.

Property owners in the First-street and Second-street tunnel districts yesterday filed a petition asking that E. A. Tuttle be put in charge of making the plans and superintending the construction of these tunnels.

The Mayor announced yesterday that today he will withdraw from the City Council the name of F. C. Finkle as an appointee to the Police Commission.

FIND BONANZA IN GARBAGE?

CROUCH OFFERS TO PAY CITY FOUR-BITS A TON.

Board of Public Works Recommends Acceptance of His Bid and Refers It to City Council, Whose Garbage Committee Is Also Favorably Disposed.

Three bids for garbage disposal were received by the Board of Public Works yesterday. They were from C. D. Crouch, Charles Turner and the V. D. Reduction Company.

The bid of Crouch, offering to pay the city 51 cents per ton for garbage, struck the board as being highly advantageous to the city, and yesterday afternoon it was thoroughly discussed with the special Garbage Committee of the Council, composed of Whitten, Reed and Conwell. They also were impressed with the offer, and the result was that the board sent the bid to the Council for consideration, with its recommendation for favorable consideration.

Crouch's offer is to dispose of all garbage by the process of reduction, and to pay the city 51 cents per ton therefor; to dispose of by the reduction process all dead animals and pay the city $3 for each ox, cow, steer, horse, mule or other draft animal, and 80 cents for each calf, sheep, hog, goat or animal of similar size, not including cats and dogs.

The bidder states that, it being understood that the city collects certain fees for the removal and disposing of dead animals, the bidder will collect all such animals and receive from the city such compensation as now allowed by the city for such services. The bidder offers to dispose of dogs and cats by reduction without cost to the city, and also to dispose of market refuse by reduction and combustible rubbish by incineration without cost to the city, it being understood that this carries with it the right to charge collectors of rubbish the price now charged by the city for such disposal.

If the bid is accepted, the bidder stipulates that he is to have the disposal of both garbage and dead animals, but it is optional with the city to take care of dogs and cats, market refuse and combustible rubbish, or any one or more of them, if the city desires to do so.

The bidder offers to erect a plant at his own cost, at a point within the city to be mutually agreed upon. If the plant is located outside the city limits and transportation is required, then the waste is to be delivered f.o.b. cars, Los Angeles.

The city is to have the option to purchase the plant after five years of operation. The proposal is for a ten-years' contract.

Crouch told the board and Council committee yesterday afternoon that the plant he proposes to erect will cost $253,000 and that it would require six or seven months to build it.

Should the city decide to purchase the plant, after five years, it would be on an appraised valuation. Crouch estimated that his offer would bring into the city treasury approximately $33,000 a year. The city at present is disposing of 175 tons of garbage a day, but this is an increase of fifty tons per day because of the watermelon and green corn season, which produces a vast amount of waste material.

The bid of Charles Turner was to dispose of all garbage, dead animals and market refuse upon the city's payment of 60 cents per ton.

The V. D. Reduction Company submitted a bidding bond and requested that it be given proper and sufficient time to submit a bid, agreeing to build a sample incinerator.

Help Pay for Convention.

The City Council yesterday voted, with only Councilman Reed dissenting, to adopt the Finance Committee's report recommending that $2000 be carried in the budget, under the celebration fund, for payment to the Convention League to help pay the expenses of bringing to Los Angeles the International Christian Endeavor Convention.

Reed objected, declaring that the city should be able to care for the people it now has before it makes outlays to bring more people hither.

Many Grass Fires.

Grass fires continue to be the main cause for calls of the fire department. The report of Fire Chief Eley to the Fire Commission yesterday showed that for the week just ended there were fifty-one fire alarms turned in, of which twenty-seven were grass fires. Six were false alarms, and in five there was merely nominal loss. The fire loss is estimated at $7185.

In Executive Session.

The Civil Service Commission will meet in executive session this forenoon, and has requested the Board of Public Works to meet with it. This is supposed to be for the purpose of discussing the case of E. A. Tuttle, who appealed to the commission for reinstatement as tunnel engineer in the City Engineer's department, after having been discharged by the Board of Public Works. It is generally believed that the commission will insist upon Tuttle being replaced in his position. In such case he would draw pay from the time of his discharge by the Board of Public Works.

Finkle's Name Withdrawn.

Mayor Rose announced yesterday that he had decided to withdraw the name of F. C. Finkle as an appointee to the Police Commission, on the request of Finkle himself, who visited the Mayor yesterday upon his return from San Diego. The Mayor will send a brief statement to the City Council this morning, withdrawing this appointment.

"I am looking for some straightforward, upstanding fellow who is not in any manner connected with the liquor interests for appointment to liquor interests for appointment to this commission," said the Mayor yesterday when announcing the withdrawal of Finkle's name. "I feel that this city has numerous men who could serve on this commission to the advantage of the city. I want to say, however, that I consider the city is losing the services of a good man when Finkle's name is withdrawn."

The name of Dr. John P. Gilmer will be before the Council this morning for confirmation as a member of the Harbor Commission, and there is no doubt it will be confirmed.

Snyder Repudiates It.

The confirmation of M. P. Snyder as a member of the Public Service Commission will go before the City Council this morning. Some of the Councilmen have questioned Snyder's fitness for a position on this board, because of the use of his name in connection with literature issued by an anti-bond committee. Snyder, who is now in Catalina, was requested to express himself, and has sent the following message, which will be read before the Council this morning:

"Must refer to the circular letter sent out by a committee of which Jess was chairman. My name in this letter was unauthorized by me. I so notified the committee. You may show him this dispatch."

The indications are that Snyder will be confirmed by a unanimous vote of the Council.

Will Ask for Report.

The City Council has decided to ask Spyer & Co. of New York, fiscal agents for the city; Kounts Brothers and A. B. Leach & Co., bond concerns, to make reports on the prospects of selling bond issues. This is taken as a preliminary step before decision is made as to action soon in calling an election for power bonds.

City Hall Brevities.

City Hall rumor has it that the name of Ralph L. Criswell is being considered for appointment on the Public Service Commission.

The City Council referred to the Public Works Committee yesterday the subject of the proposed Lord-street bridge across the Pacific Electric tracks in the Arroyo de las Posas, and to determine where a change in the contract can be secured that would allow the construction of steel or concrete bridges instead of frame structures.

The new Council rules, as outlined in The Times on Sunday, were adopted by the Council yesterday.

Councilman Betkouski leaves today on a month's vacation.

They Want Tuttle.

Thirty-four property owners in the assessment district for the First-street and Second-street tunnels filed a petition with the City Council yesterday asking that E. A. Tuttle be secured to design the tunnels and superintend their construction.

Ask That Street Be Opened.

A largely-signed petition was filed yesterday, asking the City Council to take steps for the opening of Fifty-second street across Long Beach avenue. The statement is made that recently several houses have been burned that could have been saved had there been convenient means of access to the territory by the fire department. The only opening across Long Beach avenue in that district is at Fifty-fifth street.

At the Courthouse.

SUIT INVOLVES TWO MILLIONS.

STIMSON ESTATE HEIRS CARRY DIFFERENCES TO COURT.

Want Judicial Determination as to Disposition to Be Made of Property One Faction Would Sell. Final Count of Trustees Approved. Ask Equal Distribution.

Real estate approximately worth $2,500,000 will be distributed to the children and grandchildren of the late Thomas D. Stimson, according to the final account of the trustees approved by Judge Rives yesterday.

The trustees, William H. Stimson, Charles D. Stimson and Ezra T. Stimson, were represented in the proceedings by former Judge Pope, who stated that as Harold C. Stimson, the youngest of the grandchildren, has reached the age of 21, the property held in trust is by the terms of Stimson's will ready for distribution.

A division of opinion, however, has arisen among the heirs. Some want to sell the valuable holdings and others want to hold them. In order to get a judicial determination suit was filed yesterday by Willard H. Stimson and nine other heirs against Louis D. and Clarence S. Fay, asking for partition of the property.

The complaint states that it cannot be settled among the heirs without prejudicing the rights of the owners, and the court is asked to sell the $2,500,000 holdings and divide the proceeds equally. The complaint is represented by Walter K. Leeds.

The heirs are Willard H. and Ezra T. Stimson of this city; Charles D. and Fred Stimson of Seattle, children of deceased; Charles W., Thomas D., Dorothy F., Achsah and Harold C. Stimson of Seattle; Anna Fay Leeds and Clarence S. Fay of this city, grandchildren.

The gross receipts from the estate reported are $1,780,389.33; disbursements, $1,749,220.46; cash on hand, $31,168.87. The real property includes the Douglas building, Brode building, Oneida building, Muskegon and Spencer building, Allen Flats, Adams street property, James Spencer lease and property in Seattle.

Stimson died January 31, 1898. The will was probated March 18, 1898. Under its terms the heirs receive one-twelfth share each.

MEDIATION.

MAY REACH AGREEMENT.

The sensational will contest involving the $500,000 estate of Mrs. May Newton Levitt of South Pasadena, which will be called in Judge Houser's court this morning, may be dismissed, as it was stated yesterday the litigants expect to reach a settlement. If they fail to agree the trial of the suit will continue more than a month.

The suit was brought by Frank A. Cattern and his wife, Clara Newton Cattern, a sister of Mrs. May Newton Levitt, who was cut out of Mrs. Levitt's will. Mrs. Cattern alleges that her sister was influenced by Levitt to leave him all of the property.

There had been more or less feeling, it is alleged, between the sisters for years. One of the first rows started over distribution of their mother's estate. Captain Jacob C. Newton, the father, became incompetent by reason of old age to manage his estate and when a guardian became necessary the sisters could not agree.

Suits were started but finally dismissed when a compromise between the sisters was reached. Another controversy, started over a partition of property, was smoothed over when a reconciliation was effected between the sisters while Mrs. Levitt was dying.

A large part of the estate comprises 410 acres valued at $410,000. The original estate of Captain Newton included the Sunnyside and the big Newton ranches.

THE EXHIBIT.

MOTHER LOSES SUIT.

Attorney Dehm exhibited in Department Six yesterday afternoon a suit case full of soiled dresses, exhibits of the opposition in Mrs. Anna L. Johnson's suit asking that she be permitted to see her daughter, Grace Genevieve, more than two days a week.

Florence Roberts, Johnson's housekeeper, kept a record of the dates Grace returned home after visiting her mother and read the memoranda to the court showing the condition of the dresses on those occasions. She also had dates of the tardiness of Grace's return, the order of the court being that she must be in her father's care at 5 o'clock.

All of the evidence looked bad for Mrs. Johnson's motion, and Judge Monroe declined to change the order.

Johnson, a wealthy resident of Pasadena, obtained a decree of divorce from his wife some months ago.

TWO SIDES.

COURT WANTS BOTH.

A decree of divorce was denied yesterday to Bruce Gordon Kingsley, organist, because of lack of corroboration. Kingsley testified that his wife, also a musician, refused to leave England, where he married her at Brighton, December 15, 1889, and come to America.

Judge Monroe gave Kingsley's attorneys leave to take depositions in England. He said he wanted testimony other than that produced. Although the parties had corresponded, this correspondence was not introduced.

SENTENCED.

DENIED NEW TRIAL.

James L. Murphy, who shot and killed Irene Mattis Smith April 1, and who was convicted of murder in the second degree, was denied a new trial by Judge Cabaniss yesterday and sentenced to serve twelve years at San Quentin.

Murphy protested to the court's remark that Murphy had been accustomed to carry a gun as a deputy sheriff.

"Depositions showing his previous good reputation should also have been introduced," said the court, "but were not, and it is just such things as these, apparently as light as a feather, which make all the difference in the world when a man is on trial for murder."

TWO "WIDOWS."

WHICH IS WHICH.

Mrs. Mattie L. Wells Hoover asked the Probate Court yesterday for a family allowance on the $1000 estate of her husband, William H. Hoover. She resides at No. 68 West 107th street, New York, and, according to her petition, is his widow.

Inasmuch as Mrs. Ida Hoover also claimed to be Hoover's widow, Judge Rives said he would not adjudicate the family allowance until the status of the two widows is determined. Mrs. Mattie Hoover has two daughters, Alice and Beatrice. Both "widows" had previously asked for the appointment of an administrator, Mrs. Mattie selecting William L. Elder and Mrs. Ida, William H. Browne. The latter was named.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

CONSIDERS DEMURRER. Supervisor Norton's $25,000 slander suit against E. P. Johnson, Jr., came before Judge Conley yesterday on a motion to strike out certain portions of the complaint, and on a demurrer. The motion to strike out was denied. The court took the demurrer, raised on technical grounds by Johnson, under submission. Norton alleges that Johnson, while a trustee of Christ's Church, stated that the church had paid for gasoline used in a machine Norton used in his campaign for Supervisor.

WINS JUDGMENT. Paul Dynes won a judgment of $3000 in Judge Church's court against the Bekins Van and Storage Company yesterday. He brought suit for goods destroyed by fire and set up that Bekins had represented that the goods would be stored in a fireproof warehouse.

MUST STAY AWAY. When the divorce suit of Mrs. Bessie E. Orrill came before Judge Monroe yesterday on alimony proceedings, Ade Orrill, the husband, was ordered to pay his wife $40 a month and to keep away from her. Orrill, a real estate man, says he has property interests in Arizona and is now working on a contract to buy 6200 acres in that State.

PETITION WITNESSES.

Appear Before the Grand Jury in Connection with Bogus Referendum Signatures.

Twenty witnesses appeared before the grand jury yesterday to give testimony relative to the alleged placing of bogus signatures on some of the referendum petition papers. It is believed that many of the witnesses testified that they never signed the paper and that if their names appeared the signatures were forgeries.

Other witnesses supposedly testified that they signed a paper under the impression they were signing a petition for a referendum vote on the so-called blue sky law.

Owing to the number of witnesses the grand jury was unable to formulate a report yesterday. The same matter will be under consideration tomorrow.

FINKLE WITHDRAWS.

LOS ANGELES, July 21, 1913.

Hon. H. H. Rose, Mayor city of Los Angeles, Los Angeles:

My Dear Sir—I earnestly request that you withdraw my nomination for Police Commissioner. This request, perhaps, needs a word of explanation:

Immediately after your election, when you first requested me to take this office, I positively declined to consider it, believing that it would seriously interfere with my professional and private business.

Later, at your earnest solicitation, I partially yielded and promised to serve for a few months, if appointed. I then considered only my duty to help make your administration a success, and the circumstances surrounding my former opposition to "political bosses," who still control a majority of the City Council, was overlooked. I did not stop to consider the "invisible government" by a hypocritical exrebater, a vile and contemptible defamer and slanderer of the pure womanhood of our fair city, a cowardly cur, who is widely despised by all classes of people, which still reigns in the City Council. To further your candidacy for Mayor, I had unceasingly and unsparingly denounced this hypocritical boss, who now lives in luxury from the dollars, filched by him through rebates, from the then unsuspecting fruit growers of California. What is more natural than that his "minions" in the City Council should, at the behest of this "invisible government," oppose me? What has the Police Commission to do with the Monolith cement plant or the cement plant with the commission. What has the police commission to do with power bonds or with municipal ownership? Is it not remarkable that these puppets of the "invisible government," proclaiming so vociferously their belief in municipal ownership, should be so desirous of selling a "first-class" municipal cement plant? If this cement plant is so good and profitable, why should not the city continue to own and operate it? Why sell it at little more than half its cost? Can it be possible that I told the truth in my letter to State Engineer McClure? If so, is it honorable to "unload" this plant, from which the City Engineer's office rejected the cement shipped for the Twentieth-avenue bridge at Arroyo Seco, on the State of California? Or is it more honorable to warn the State of such an impending fraud?

If these gentlemen in the City Council would investigate and learn a few facts about the cement plant and other things about the aqueduct; if they would throw off the yoke of "invisible government," and if they would cease giving their ear only to the "lame ducks" left over from the Harper regime, who are still conducting the city's enterprises and wasting its money in experiments like the Sand Canyon Siphon, they would not so readily condemn those who know what they are talking about, particularly not until the aqueduct has been tested throughout its length with a flow of 20,000 inches of water for a sufficient time to see what will then happen. I apprehend that these "lame ducks" may wish to postpone such a test as long as possible.

In conclusion, the honor you have conferred in offering me an appointment in your official family is exceeded only by the honor of having the disapproval of those persons in the City Council who are there to represent that cunning and hypocritical boss, whom I shall continue to expose in future as I have done in the past. Now that they have shown their true colors, I could not bemean myself by accepting any position with their approval, even when it originates from one I esteem as highly as yourself.

Had I not been out of the city, this communication would have been delivered sooner.

Respectfully yours,
F. C. FINKLE.

LUCKY DEFENDANT.

George Doyle, accused of having stolen an automobile, is a lucky fellow. He was on hand for his examination yesterday before Justice Young, but the complaining witness did not appear. The court lectured the defendant, who said he merely took a "joy ride." The machine was recovered by the owner.

RELEASED ON BONDS.

James McQuade, a former employee of Attorney W. J. Hittson, charged with having threatened to kill Hittson, was released yesterday on $500 bonds. He is to be given his preliminary examination in the Justice Court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He is alleged to have stabbed McQuade with a small pen-knife.

DEFENDANT ASKS TIME.

R. W. Grame, a chauffeur who, it is alleged, accompanied the party that smuggled an aeroplane into Mexico for the use of the rebels, was arraigned in the United States District Court yesterday on a charge of having violated the neutrality laws. The defendant asked for time in which to secure a lawyer. He was given a week.

CONSPIRACY ARGUMENTS.

Arguments were made in the United States District Court yesterday on a motion to quash indictments against George S. Scherman and B. C. Chatt, who were arrested some time ago charged with conspiracy against the government. It is alleged that they purposely located settlers on government land in an illegal manner in order to get other persons to institute contests in the Land Office later on. The matter was taken under advisement.

LOSE SAME SUMS.

Two men lost $26.50 each yesterday in two different burglaries. Willard Johnson, No. 425 Molino street, discovered when he began dressing preparatory to going to work that he had been relieved not only of his money but also of his clothing. Thieves took $26.50 from the Moore grocery at Eleventh and Sentous streets. They forced an entrance through a rear door.

GOING TO TRIAL.

Mrs. Jane Ames, wanted for alleged complicity with G. H. Eddinger in passing bogus checks in various towns in this part of the State, passed through Los Angeles yesterday, in custody of a San Diego officer, en route from Santa Barbara to San Diego. The woman is to be tried in San Diego. Eddinger is awaiting a hearing in Santa Barbara.

EXONERATES HUSBAND.

Ill health was the reason assigned by Mrs. Esther Davieman, No. 1137 South Mott street, for her attempt yesterday to take her own life by inhaling gas. In a note the woman said her husband had nothing to do with her act. She was taken to the Receiving Hospital and will recover.

Only About One-Half of the Farm Area of the United States Is Cultivated.

[Mexican Herald:] According to the experts of the Treasury Department at Washington, the present population of the northern republic is 96,400,000. This statement may appear to imply that the United States is getting to be over populated and will require to extend its territory; but that is not the case, for there is still room for many millions more of people. The late Prof. Shaler of Harvard University, the well-known geologist, estimated that the Atlantic Slope of the United States had room for 30,000,000 more inhabitants. Texas, which is larger than the German empire in Europe, could easily support the same population, some 66,000,000. Recently, Mr. Edward T. Perkins, formerly connected with the United States government service, informed the Western Society of Engineers that less than one-half the land area of the United States is included in the farm area, and that little more than one-half the farm area is cultivated. Illinois, he said, which has a population of 6,000,000, could support 20,000,00 persons. He estimated that there are more than 2,000,000 acres lying idle in that State. Much of the land which might be cultivated with profit is submerged all or part of the time. Swamp and overflowed lands were estimated by the Federal Department of Agriculture in 1907 to amount to 77,000,000 acres, which could be drained and otherwise made fit for cultivation at an average cost of $15 an acre. Figuring the present value of these lands at an average of $8 an acre and their value after drainage at $60 an acre, the net increase in value after paying drainage costs was found to be $2,849,000,000. It is clear that there is plenty of room at home for the activities of the American people during many years to come.

FATHER ENDS LIFE.

A. H. Jensen, No. 1824 Pepper street, Alhambra, ended his life yesterday at No. 525 7½ South Main street by swallowing poison. His widow and five children live in Alhambra. No reason for the suicide is known.

MYSTERIOUS EXPLOSION.

The police are investigating a mysterious Sunday night explosion and fire that destroyed the residence of Pete Mapramgal, No. 1910 Mozart street, during the absence of the tenant. The loss is placed at $500.

CONTRABAND CHINESE.

Twelve Chinese, found near Fresno, were brought to this city yesterday by an immigration inspector. It is alleged all are illegally in this country. They will be given a hearing before United States Commissioner Van Dyke.

FRUITLESS SEARCH.

Deputy Sheriff Reynolds returned to the city yesterday after a fruitless search for the negro who attacked Mrs. W. E. Shepley at her little cabin in the Malibu Hills. It is supposed that the negro reached Santa Monica before the officers got into the hills.

Fatality of Unaimed Bullets.

[Case and Comment:] The curious and mysterious accuracy of deadly missiles when a human being gets within their range has often been noted. The Detroit Free Press comments on this fact as follows: Unless you have considerable experience with firearms you may discharge a small caliber rifle a hundred times at a target and never put a mark on it. You may fire one of the trifling little 22's directly into a fleeting rabbit's carcass and he'll run away with the bullet and waggle his ears at you derisively. But let a living man come anywhere near you when you're playing with the otherwise harmless gun and you'll not only hit him every time, but you'll inevitably find a vital spot and lay him low the very first shot.
